"RAUCOUS RUFUS" OUT OF TURN

One of the most interesting characteristics of Rufus Holman, the senator-elect from Oregon has been a certain lack of tact, and this is illustrated in his recent statement rebuking the political writer of The Oregonian for publishing before the election the betting odds which favored Mahoney over Holman.

It is true The Oregonian was not overly cordial to Mr. Holman and may not have given him the support he deserved, but Mr. Holman is not helping himself by dragging up old grievances and in this case he is talking out of turn.

NO PROBLEM FOR AMERICA

A speculative gentleman inclined to venture his money on international politics might very well lay a little something on the line right now to say that Germany will presently be in possession again of her old pre-war colonies.

The heat is on; Germany has notified England and France that she would like to discuss the colonial problem at their convenience, and Hitler has come to bat with one of those "or else" speeches calling for return of the missing property.

But before he does, the unconcerned American might take the trouble to get himself straight on the background. The whole business of overseas colonies has always been pretty ugly.

Consequently, Hitler's recent speech at Munich—in which he spoke of "the colonies to which we have a right"—can be taken as something for home consumption only.

Look at the simple history of it. Germany got her pre-war colonies by force, just as England got South Africa, France got the Sahara and America got the Philippines.

The fact that the allied nations professed the noblest of ideals while they were scrambling to take Germany's overseas possessions away from her may inspire one with cynicism about the statesman's profession, but it still does not affect the fundamental fact: that property which is acquired at the point of a gun and lost in the same way does not trail any particular odor of sanctity.

It is rather important that all of this be kept in mind. It may at least save us from regarding this colonial problem as a moral issue. There are enough moral issues in-involved in the international situation. Heaven knows, without adding any new ones. And when we do look at the problem realistically, we shall probably find added reason to feel that our isolationist policy is a wise one.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Register-Guard Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Sure it's the Farleys and the Corcorans that now are debating what the election results mean and who should be the boys consequently in favor at the big White House.

The Farleys are the group around the postmaster-general himself, with lines into the political organization of the Democratic party.

The Corcorans are members and associates of the 100 per cent New Deal group that includes Harry Hopkins, Secretary Ickes, Solicitor General Jackson, SEC Chairman Douglas, Ben Cohen, Leon Henderson and others.

In this the Farleys are supported by the Garbers and other Democratic tribes whose dislike for the Corcorans is no less and whose liking for Roosevelt is not intense.

Pro and Con, Take Your Choice
Say the Farleys: The Republican sweep was a repudiation of the New Deal radicals and of their attempted "purge."

But the Corcorans, long before this, have cried "Nuts!" They say: Farley's Democratic machinery just doesn't function up north and the party suffered the heaviest part of its defeat on "good government" issues.

What voters think of the New Deal was indicated, the Corcorans say, by the victory of Senator Wagner, running on a New Deal platform. Farley's insistence on a Democratic ticket in Wisconsin caused both Democrats and Progressives to lose.

Both these arguments have their thin spots. Roosevelt is certain to head some of the election's "Go Slow" signs. Whether he will "go slow" with the Corcorans or slower with the Farleys is a question which bothers both the Farleys and the Corcorans.

AN EDITORIAL ON HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
Repeatedly it has been stated that chilling of the human body is bad for health.

Some Florida investigators, including Dr. H. M. Taylor, have made some studies to determine exactly the effects of long continued swimming in cold water on the occurrence of infections in the ears and in the sinuses.

Experimental studies were made to determine the effects of such chilling on the blood and the ability of the person under such circumstances to resist infection.

The white blood cells are important in relationship to the prevention of infection. Eight life guards at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., swam for 45 minutes in ocean water at a temperature of 68.5 degrees F.

The red blood cell count increased in all of these swimmers and the white blood cell count was also increased. There was no loss of weight.

In general it is believed that chilling of the body is much more serious for those with chronic infections of the nose and throat than for a person who is in an excellent state of health.

Here are Bruvere's "court breeches" under an unusual afternoon frock. In black silk jersey to match the fabric of the frock and bolero, they are finished with red velvet garters.

Amazing Results Reported In Medically-Supervised Clinical Tests
Sickness from Colds Actually Cut More Than Half!

A SIMPLE GUIDE ANY MOTHER CAN EASILY FOLLOW

Wouldn't it be wonderful to know about a way that helped thousands of people to escape many colds with all their discomforts and dangers? A way that sharply reduced the number and length of colds, that cut sickness from colds 50.88%, that reduced children's school absences due to colds even more—57.86%!

These are actual figures—not taken from a few experiences—but from a great series of clinical tests in which more than 17,000 men, women and children took part. 37 doctors were on the supervisory staff. More than 500 supervisors and nurses assisted them. This great clinic, by sharply reducing the number and length of colds and the distress that comes with them, proved the value of Vicks Plan.

Vicks Plan is a simple guide which emphasizes the importance of proper personal care and the use of two specialized medications for relief of symptoms in different types and stages of colds—Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub. When colds are ended—at the first sniffle or sneeze—Va-tro-nol was used to help prevent many a cold from developing. When a cold got by all precautions, VapoRub was used to relieve its discomforts.

The results speak for themselves. Vicks Plan may do less for you—or it may do even more—with such a record it certainly is worth a trial. It is easy to follow in your own home. You get directions in every package of Va-tro-nol and VapoRub.

To Help PREVENT Many Colds

Va-tro-nol is specialized medication—expressly designed for use in the nose and upper throat, where a cold starts. You can feel its tingling, stimulating medication go right to work to aid Nature's own defenses against colds. Used at the very first warning nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds from developing.

To EASE Discomfort of Colds

VapoRub is the standard remedy for the mother's remedy of relief of colds, coughs, and throat irritation. It works two ways: it soothes the throat through the steam, like a vaporizer, and it is inhaled through the nose. (2) Its medicated vapors are against colds, coughs, and throat irritation. It clears air-passages—relieves tendency to cough—relieves local congestion—and you soon feel comfortable again.
