Farm Outlook Good Throughout Nation

THE spring outlook is for some improvement in the agricultural situation in 1939.

Present conditions suggest that increasing business activity and rising consumer incomes will create a somewhat more favorable domestic market for farm products in the coming year. It is expected that this will more than offset the less favorable foreign prospects.

The general level of wholesale commodity prices in the United States is expected to average somewhat higher in 1939 than in 1938. Some increase in prices of farm products as a whole is likely, with the crops in somewhat better price position than livestock products.

The volume of short-term credit used by farmers is expected to increase somewhat in 1939, but the supply of loan funds will be ample. The demand for farm mortgage credit probably will not be large.

Farm wages probably will average a little lower than in 1939, and the same trend is probable in other important production cost items, including farm machinery and fertilizer.

The cotton market situation is dominated by an exceedingly large supply of cotton. The 1938-39 world supply of all commercial cotton is expected to exceed 51 million bales—a new record high for the third successive year.

Farm Outlook Good Throughout Nation

The wheat acreage seeded for harvest in 1939 probably will be reduced materially as a result of adjustment operations and the influence of prevailing low prices.

The outlook is for a large production of fruit during the next 5 years, with marked increases in oranges and grapefruit. Apple production, on the other hand is declining.

The acreage of truck crops for market has been expanding for several years. This year prices have fallen very low for lima beans, beets, cabbage, onions, and tomatoes and acreages of these crops probably will be cut somewhat next year. Increasing supplies of "frozen" vegetables will add some competition for the early spring crops.

Low prices for canning crops make it probable that a smaller tonnage of these vegetables will be produced in 1939, with a total pack about 10 percent under 1938. The very low price of potatoes this season is expected to lead to about an 8 percent reduction in acreage in 1939.

Sweet potato acreage for 1939 probably will be reduced somewhat as a result of low prices received for the 1938 crop in commercial areas.

Gotham Stirred By Nazi Meeting

Nazis to picket the Garden—and the followers and opponents of Nazism.

The first disturbance at the meeting involved Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, who had shouted "nonsense" during a speech by G. W. Kunze, the Bund's national publicity director.

Amid shouts of "sit down" and "throw her out," a grey-shirted storm trooper and two policemen started to hustle her from the 4th building. Heywood Brown, another columnist, ran to her rescue, telling the police her identity. She was allowed to remain upon her insistence "American free speech" gave her the right to express disagreement with any speaker.

The most extraordinary police precautions in years had been made for the meeting and as it went on, for more than three hours, with parading, Nazi-saluting and band playing, the epithets from the platform against Jews thundered ever harsher.

Mention of the names of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit; Rev. Martin Dies, (D., Tex.), chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities; Senators Borah and Nye, brought applause, while hisses arose in great roars when speakers called the names of Secretaries Perkins, Hopkins, Morgenthau, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, and Attorney General Murphy.

There was much criticism of Roosevelt administration activities, but the most direct reference to the president himself was made by Kunze, who called the executive "Rosenfeld." There were boos and derisive shouts from the crowd.

The poultry industry also is beginning to expand again. The decline in number of milk cows which started in 1934 has been checked and the number of heifers now on hand indicates an increase in milk herds next year and still more in 1940.

The number of horses and mules has been declining until there are only about half as many on farms as there were in 1915. This past year and cattle are likely to be sold 2 or 3 years earlier than in 1938. Prices, however, have dropped somewhat able price situation.
