

Public Power Advocates Start Drive for More PUD's

By GEORGE E. JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
SALEM, Ore., April 21—(UP)—Generators will soon start voltage moving from mighty Bonneville dam, and backers of public power today organized their forces for a drive to make western Oregon power-conscious.

Herman E. Lafky, attorney for the southwest Washington people's utility district, said public-power workers would strive to pull Oregon up to a par with the state of Washington, where 25 districts have been organized.

Test For PUD
At the same time, the move furnished interest as a practical test of the PUD statute passed by the recent legislature.

Will the new law hamper organizations of people's utility districts or facilitate the drive towards public power?

The outcome of the campaign may provide an answer within a few months after passage of the bill.

Chief sponsors of the drive were members of the Farmers' Union, for which Lafky is attorney. No one knew where the Oregon State Grange stood, and the Grange attitude may have a bearing on the public-power situation in Oregon.

Praise Power Law
Lafky today praised the law passed by the legislature as a more satisfactory arrangement for people's utility districts.

When the bill was up before the legislature, however, the Grange put up determined opposition to the restrictions, which were these:

Every issue of revenue bonds must be referred to voters of the district; districts must pay municipal, county and state taxes as private corporations now do; inoperative districts must submit, on petitions of the voters, to a dissolution election in 10 years.

If the Grange—and other elements in the public-power group—turn down participation in the campaign, the way may be open to a decided rift.

Bonneville Opposed to Restrictions
It was generally well-known at the legislative session, that the Bonneville office was opposed to the restrictions suggested by Gov. Charles A. Sprague and other conservatives in both houses.

Sen. Lyman Ross, Dem., Washington, carried the fight against the bill to a bitter conclusion. Subsequent threats of a referendum movement died down and a high grange official said the statute would be given a two-year tryout before the referendum was invoked.

The present attitude of the Bonneville office was not known. J. D. Ross, first administrator, died while the legislature was in session, and his successor must determine the attitude, if any.

Two Districts Organized
The drive today started with but two districts now organized—one in Tillamook, the other in Clatsop. Neither is in operation. Two other districts were organized through aid of the rural electrification administration, but are located in areas not now served by private companies.

Fatal Prison Fire Blamed On Matches
WORCESTER, Mass., April 21.—(AP)—Deputy Fire Chief Fred S. Taylor said today he believed "careless use of matches by prisoners" was to blame for a fire which killed three inmates last night in underground cells of Worcester's 66-year-old county jail.

Sheriff H. Oscar Rocheleau, head jailer, said the blaze was discovered in a padded cell occupied by John Raskett, who was serving time for drunkenness, and launched an immediate investigation. He absolved guards and trustees from blame. County and state probes also were under way.

Champoeg Day Exercises Set for Salem May 2

Eugene and Lane county people have been especially invited to attend annual Champoeg day exercises to be held at that community near Salem where it was first decided that Oregon should become American.

It was at Champoeg, on May 2, 1843, that a group of early day settlers were asked to take respective sides on a line scratched in the dirt, according to whether they wanted the area to go under the Union Jack or to place it under allegiance to the flag with the stars. A tie vote resulted until the leader of the group stepped to the side favoring the United States.

Mrs. Margaret Seiple, Portland, president of the Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers, was in Eugene yesterday with special invitations for citizens of this area to go to Champoeg for this historic event.

A basket picnic lunch will be served at noon and the morning and afternoon will find community singing, band music and contests of various nature on the day-long program.

Guests of honor will include Governor Charles Sprague, Joseph K. Carson, mayor of Portland, Mrs. Oliver A. Todd, Judge James W. Crawford and Quincy Scott.

Oregon Students Prepare Swim Pageant

Seed Corn For 4-H Clubbers Received

Seed corn has just been received for distribution for Lane county 4-H club members enrolled in the seed corn improvement project, sponsored by the First National bank of Eugene. The aim of the project is to distribute improved type seed corn throughout the county, to demonstrate the value of raising corn as a crop by yields per acre, cost of production and the improved selection of seed. It is also to run yield trials on hybrid and open pollinated varieties, and create a demand for 4-H club seed corn.

All livestock club members are encouraged to take the project to raise home grown feeds for livestock.

Any Lane county boy or girl between the age of 9 to 18 is eligible to enroll in the project by meeting the project requirements. A corn show will be held in the fall of those members participating.

Eight pounds of selected seed is being furnished each member enrolling in the project, upon his agreeing with his parent's consent to raise one acre of corn, make an exhibit, and turn in a completed record book.
