"A NEWSPAPER IS A CITIZEN OF ITS COMMUNITY"

FOR 5 CENTS: 60 MINUTES?

Newest gadget of civilization to be pondered along the curbs of Willamette street is the parking meter.

The nickel-eating boxes are hoisted about three feet above the sidewalk—so it's handy to shovel nickels from pockets to slots—on little metal poles.

After the coin clangs into the interior—it's not known whether the nickel goes down the pipe and underneath the sidewalk into some dark vault or stays in the pipe itself, but the city gets it out—this little hand begins the race to the other side of the dash board.

If the Whippet is left by a meter which has turned red with time, it's eligible for a ticket. In short, parking meters are just like hour parking laws like Eugene now has, except they cost five cents.

A big advantage of parking meters is that often times, if a motorist is "sharp", free space can be found. This fortunate circumstance arises when some individual plunks his buffalo into the meter so as to be able to park just long enough to buy a morning paper or a cup of hot chocolate.

One of the most tragic facts about meters is that drivers usually have a tough time keeping five cent pieces in their pockets. Dimes won't work. Neither will pennies.

At the present time, while officials and citizens alike are sounding the points for and against parking meters, the question in everybody's mind should not be "Do you want parking meters?" but "Do you think the meters would help to solve the downtown parking problem?"

As the man across the alley said last night: "It's just like askin' a man if he likes to wear dresses! It's not fair, because he's never worn one!"

The Federal Communications Commission has been asked to stop censoring short-wave broadcasts. Those are the things that we buy a set for, and then never listen to.

Hitler may have a lease on Trieste, Italy. If so, it's the first time he ever paid rent on an acquisition.

Report of quintuplets, born to Mexican journalist's wife, turned out to be false. Imagine the chagrin of the newspaperman if he garbled his own blessed event story.

France prohibited photographing of a military parade. What a relief. That's one set of tanks, soldiers, and rifles we won't have to look at.

Men are beginning to wear hats as odd-looking as those of the ladies. Well, they can't fight a losing battle forever.

Planes "bombed" France in a mock air raid. Question: were the pilots getting themselves used to the act or getting France used to the future?

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.—Confidentially, Paul V. McNutt would not have been appointed administrator of Federal Security Agency but for the wire-pulling of a few women who stand mighty close to the headman.

filled from 1934 to 1937, when her mining interests demanded her personal attention and she resigned. Unlike most new dealers, Miss Roche was not bitten by the social bug; her name was not a commonplace in the society columns; the night clubs knew her not.

Mr. Roosevelt thought Miss Roche would fit into the picture as administrator of Federal Security Agency. The idea did not please certain new deal women who did not relish the thought of another woman filling a position which is more important than being a member of the cabinet.

Hints are made that Frances Perkins, labor secretary, and Mrs. Morgenthau, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and one or two other women, worked on Mrs. Roosevelt to prevent Miss Roche's appointment.

Possibly, as an argument, Mrs. Roosevelt reminded her husband that placing a woman in a man's job caused him enough trouble already—meaning Secretary of Labor Perkins.

With the Schwellenbach and Pittman proposals to place an embargo on supplies to Japan (other than agricultural commodities), a pro-China group has taken a poll of senate and house.

Report on house of representatives records J. M. Coffee, Knute Hall, W. G. Magnuson, M. C. Walgren, all of Washington, favorable. Representative C. L. Leavy, Washington, is "probably unfavorable."

The embargo would apply under Pittman's measure, to cotton, which is a war material, and the survey shows many legislators from the cotton belt ready to support the embargo, although from August, 1937 to July 6, 1939—period of the trouble in China—Japan has bought from the United States 1,356,000 bales of cotton, Japan is the best market now offered for American cotton.

Harry Hopkins, secretary of commerce, who has more or less dropped from sight since he was transferred from WPA to commerce, will visit Oregon and Washington during the summer, possibly journeying to San Francisco with the president.

Further self reformation to stave off a congressional investigation is made by NLRB in reversing its policy in selecting the bargaining agent. Heretofore the board declared the majority was bargaining agent. This policy resulted in tempestuous organization methods, intimidation and coercion—anyway to force a worker to take a card.

Heretofore the board will call for secret elections, which gives every employe an opportunity to vote his honest conviction without fear of reprisal afterward. This method of determining what union has a majority and should be the bargaining agent is one of the changes employers and critics of the board have been demanding.

AN EDITORIAL ON HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Most significant of all the vitamins for the growing child is vitamin D. This is concerned with the proper using of calcium and phosphorus by the human body.

Since vitamin D was first introduced, it has been produced in pure form as crystals. It also is a mixture of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is known that vitamin D can be developed by causing ultraviolet rays to act on a substance called ergosterol which is found in animal and plant tissues.

Just as soon as any new substance is discovered in medicine it is customary to test it on all sorts of conditions previously difficult to cure. Thus vitamin D has been tried in massive doses in cases of arthritis, and it has also been tried in cases of psoriasis.

But vitamin D will do other things which are of vital importance to the human body. It has been recognized as a specific remedy in the treatment of rickets in children, in a convulsive condition in babies called spasmodic or infantile tetany; as useful in a condition of weakness of the bones known as osteomalacia and as useful in other diseases in which the calcium and phosphorus in the body are not suitably controlled.

There seems to be no doubt that vitamin D is closely concerned with the proper development of the teeth, as are perhaps also vitamins A and C and sufficient amounts of calcium and phosphorus.

The vitamin D requirement of the human body is much greater during infancy than it is during adult life. Apparently the prospective mother who is nursing a baby, but for adults in general there does not seem to be any special deficiency of vitamin D.

Recipes of the Week

MRS. E. F. MACHI Peach Puddin'

- 2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup milk
6 peaches
6 tablespoons strawberry jam or 1/2 cup fresh raspberries

Work in the shortening coarsely with fork, add milk, using just enough to make a stiff dough. Roll out on floured board 1/4 inch thick. Cut into 6 large squares.

Scald peaches in boiling water. Peel and stone them, fill each center with 1 tablespoon of strawberry jam or with fresh raspberries. (If necessary to cut peaches in half to remove stones, simply put two halves together again.) Mix sugar, nutmeg and lemon rind. Sprinkle over peaches. Place each peach in center of square of pastry. Bring sides up to enclose fruit. Moisten edges and press together. Place upside down in baking pan rubbed with shortening. Brush top with melted shortening. Bake in moderately hot oven 25 minutes or until brown. Serve with thin cream or pudding sauce.
