A F of L Hits Private Industry: 'Not Promoting Recovery'

By LOUIS J. SCHAEFLE (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor Friday criticized private industry's purported failure to show some initiative in promoting recovery and called upon the federal government to seek the cooperation of business, labor and farm groups in an effort to plan production increases throughout the country.

The AFL views were contained in its monthly survey of business in which it bitterly assailed the National Association of Manufacturers which, it contended, apparently seeks to postpone recovery until congress agrees to "weaken" the Wagner labor act. If the NAM's attitude is typical of industrial leadership "how can we count on them to build recovery on a sound foundation?" the AFL asked.

The survey warned unless business expands substantially before next spring "we shall have a further demand for government spending, with its danger of inflation and consequent losses to wage earners." Reviewing the work of congress during the first session, the survey said that private interests were given considerable encouragement and that the session closed "with a direct challenge to American business."

A major factor in the present low volume of national production is the lack of organization through which business men might be able to boost their output, the survey continued. It added that "no national business men's organization, no chamber of commerce, Manufacturers' association or any other business organization has within its power the means to get its members to expand production." Another serious drawback, it

Remodeled Richfield Station Again Ready for Customers

Richfield gasoline and Bill Ruark, of the Sixth and Olive street Richfield filling station, are now ready to give Eugene motorists the finest available type of automotive service. The station has been completely remodeled and is now ready for business. A modern, accurate computing pump offers the most recent method of gasoline dispensing, while the lubrication department is fully equipped with complete lube facilities. Shining sales rooms display a complete line of accessories, tires, tubes and Delco batteries.

New Gasoline Breaks All Records

Richfield experts developed not merely one, but 10 new gasoline formulas, all of which were proved by laboratory test, to be better than any popular brand you can buy. A. T. Fraedrick, local Richfield representative announced. But laboratory tests and highway tests are two different things. After exacting tests were made on the open highway, with accurate tabulations being made as to miles-per-gallon . . . maximum speed provided . . . and smoothness of operation in the heat of desert highways and in the below freezing temperatures of mountain roads, all tests were repeated in types of cars which represented 92 per cent of the automobiles on the road today. One gasoline stood out from all the rest, "like a light-house in a fog" . . . it was gasoline from barrel No. 8, one of our 10 new formulas. No other motor fuel had ever delivered such eye-opening performance under all driving conditions. Engineers could hardly believe their own findings . . . they tested it again and got the same result . . . then they were convinced their discovery was an amazing reality. Well, we couldn't just "give it a number" . . . so Formula No. 8 is now the new Richfield Hi-Octane. Make it a fair test, driving your car until the tank is nearly empty . . . then take on a tankful of the new Richfield Hi-Octane and you'll get the motoring thrill of a lifetime the instant this new miracle gasoline hits your carburetor!
