TO MCGURK

EUGENE, Ore.—(To Ajax McGurk)—Look here McGurk—You might get by with your editorials on this, that and what not—but when it comes to baking pumpkin pies you are a complete wash out. The editorials might be digested by taking bi-carbonate after wards, but not that pie made by you. Who ever heard of a real pumpkin pie without a dash of ginger in it? And nutmeg in a pumpkin pie is a laugh. Did you make up that recipe up like you do your other guff?

Try putting a little ginger in your next pie instead of nutmeg—who knows it might change what is wrong with you? I don't have to cover my pumpkin pies with cream or piles of merange, etc.—that too would spoil a real tasty pumpkin pie.

I suggest you leave the pumpkin pie racket to the ladies—though I confess some of them could learn a little too. In fact when I get hungry for pumpkin pie—I get busy and make one.

Get a good cook book and scan its pages and then talk about your spices and where to put them—and don't get them mixed. MRS. JOE SIMOVICH.

Autumn Building Accepted Now

Advances in construction methods and introduction of new materials in recent years have largely eliminated the once accepted idea that it was unwise to build in the late autumn or winter.

One of the actual reasons why autumn building had been unpopular in the past was that dwellings built for sale or rent came on the market at a time when a large body of renters were under lease and when prospective buyers had to be shown properties under adverse weather conditions.

Among the possible advantages in autumn or winter building are: Contractors are usually seeking work to keep their organizations intact during the dull period; the trades desire to keep busy; materials dealers search for orders to pay overhead on their establishments and keep their staffs busy.

Concessions are possible, and such concessions are frequently more than enough to offset any extra precautions which may be necessary in winter building.

Freezing weather does not mean concrete and masonry work must be suspended. Reasonable care must be taken, however, to keep sand and crushed stone warm before mixing and to protect finished work by proper covering. Plastering must be watched and lumber protected from snow and rain.

Floor Resiliency

Excessively springy floors do not have to be tolerated by the home owner, for this condition can frequently be corrected without great cost. The floor should be examined by a competent carpenter.

One cause of floors springing when walked upon may be floor joists that are too small or too widely spaced. Floors that are not properly braced with bridging usually have too much resiliency; however, all wood floors have a certain amount of spring.

P-T. A. Benefit To Feature Olive Barber

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 13—(Special)—Members of the Springfield P-T. A. will sponsor a benefit show Wednesday night at the Playmore theater, it was announced by members Monday.

A feature of the performance will be the personal appearance of Olive Barber, well-known newspaper columnist, who will speak on subjects of interest to both parents and children. Six vaudeville acts including Jim Lawson and his lumberjacks are also to be presented.

The picture feature is to be "Rogues of the Rancho" with Gladys Swarthout and John Boles. The first program will be from 6:30 o'clock until 9, a second presentation of the performance to follow.

Tickets may be purchased from P-T. A. members or at the box office Wednesday night. All funds are to be used for the organization's hot lunch fund.

On the committee for the affair are Mrs. William Culver, Mrs. Walter Rust and Mrs. C. R. Pifer.

Missionary Group Has Speakers Scheduled

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 13—(Special)—Members of the Christian church adult group will have a number of special guests and speakers at their regular meeting to be held Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the church.

Among the speakers to be present are Miss Newton of Eugene's children's home, and Mrs. Grace Hendricks, president of the state missionary board. Special guests at the affair will be members of this state board.

Following the meeting, a reception is to be held in the church. The I-Tri (junior-intermediate) group is also to meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the social hall. Special speakers are to be present at this meeting.

Lions Toy Matinee Set for November 25

The annual Lions club toy drive matinee is announced for November 25 at the Heilig theater.

Admission for this show, an annual event for several years, is a toy per child. The collection of toys is used by the club in its annual work for the needy children of this section at Christmas time.

Attention is called to Eugeneans that the Lions club boxes and barrels are still on the streets to receive donations of discarded toys, but ones that can be repaired and painted to use by the club in its Christmas work.

"We need these toys now, in order to give city firemen time to repair and paint them and get them in good order in time for distribution at Christmas time," reports W. L. Hoadley, general chairman for the Lions drive.

Christian Science

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 12.

The Golden Text was, "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh" (II Cor. 5:16).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands. . . . For in him we live, and move, and have our being" (Acts 17:24, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with the Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is co-existent and co-eternal with that Mind. . . . Immortal man is not and never was material, but a ways spiritual and eternal" (p. 336).
