SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The University of Oregon, defending its basketball championship in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference, regained some of its championship form tonight to defeat the University of Washington, 47 to 32, evening a two-game series.

Oregon's victory was a first-class example of the value of long arms in basketball. By shifting his starting line-up to include six foot, seven inch Hank Anderson and Archie Marshall, with a matching reach, in place of medium-sized Matt Pavalunas and Ted Sarpola, Coach Howard Hobson gave his team just enough floor advantage to reverse the Friday night result, in which the favored Oregonians dropped the series opener.

Dick Scores First

To night Oregon scored first on a basket in the opening minute by Captain John Dick, shifted from center to forward. A minute later Washington evened the count, but Oregon promptly pulled away and Washington never made another serious threat. After three minutes, the score was 8-3; with 12 minutes left in the half, it was 15-7, and five minutes before the midway bell, it was 22-9. Washington came back with a little strength to close the gap to 27-14 at the rest period.

The second half opened in a burst of scoring that put Oregon ahead, 35-22, after five minutes. Washington then made its last bid, bringing the count to 41-30, but could do no better before the end of the game. Washington was shooting wildly at the finish.

Townsend Gets 13

Washington took 41 tries at the basket in the first half but took only 21 shots in the second half. Oregon split its 79 shots almost evenly between the two periods.

Mc Townsend, Oregon guard, was high scorer for the evening with 13 points, followed by Dick with 12.

The teams resume play at Eugene next Friday in another two-game series.

Oakridge Hoopsters Play So Others Can Walk; Benefit Tilts Tuesday

OAKRIDGE, Jan. 20.—Oakridge grade school, high school and community teams will play here Tuesday night so that other children and young men and women will be able to walk.

Virg Kingsley's high school basketball team is sponsoring a six-team basketball jamboree here Tuesday, starting at 7 p. m., for the benefit of the Sports Council's fund to assist President Roosevelt's National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc. All profits will be turned over to the Lane county fund, 50 per cent of which will be retained to further the work of the foundation locally.

Opening the program will be grade school midget quintets from Oakridge and Westside schools. At 8 p. m. the Thurston high five, coached by Al American Laidie Gale, an ex-Oakridge player who later starred for the University of Oregon, meeting Kingsley's young Warriors. The final tilt, set for 9 p. m., will match the Oakridge Townies against the Oakridge CCC team.

Oregon Smoker Wednesday

Campus boxing and wrestling championships will be decided here Wednesday night when final elimination matches in both sports are staged at an all-campus smoker to be held in McArthur court, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Vaughn Corley and Eric Waldorf, new Webfoot boxing and wrestling coaches, have already staged preliminary matches in each weight division and will send the finalists against each other Wednesday night. They will select their varsity and freshman lineups from the winners.

Oregon wrestlers already are booked for two intercollegiate dual meets against Oregon State, at Corvallis on February 2 and at Eugene February 23. One or two additional matches may be added by Coach Waldorf.

The Webfoot boxing team has no schedule as yet with Coach Corley, former collegiate heavyweight champion while at Texas Tech, planning to bring his proteges along slowly this season.

Both sports were established on an intercollegiate basis only last year and Corley fears that over-matching the boxers would result in a setback for the activity.

Kansas State Grid Coaches Resign

MANHATTAN, Kas., Jan. 20.—(AP)—"Personal difference" between a head football coach and his first assistant brought their resignations today at Kansas State college—a school that never has fired a gridiron tutor.

Professing both personal and professional respect for his aide, Head Coach Wes Fry said he resigned "because this school has always maintained a position above discords of this nature."

Stan Williamson, line coach, explained his withdrawal had been demanded by Fry six weeks ago but added: "I am too dazed by the whole thing to know what really is happening."

M. F. (Mike) Ahearn, athletic director to whom the resignations were sent, commented: "I thought I had a swell combination—an outstanding offensive head coach and a great line coach. Now it is all shattered because of a personal difference. Not once in our conferences during the past two days has either man criticized the other's professional ability."

None of the three would define the "personal difference," but it will be aired tomorrow at a meeting of the faculty council on athletics.

Fry came to Manhattan with Lynn O. Waldorf in 1934. The two brought Kansas State its only Big Six championship that fall before Waldorf moved to Northwestern in 1935.

Oregon-Washington Hoop Series Here

Racehorse basketball, with its thrills and spills, will take the spotlight here next week-end when the Oregon and Washington hoop fives tangle at McArthur court on Friday and Saturday evenings.

The long-time athletic rivals always have been noted as outstanding advocates of free wheeling basketball and past games here have been fine examples of that popular style.

For the past two seasons Howard Hobson's Webfoots have kept their home record clear at Washington's expense and will be attempting to extend the victory string to six straight this week.

Both schools boast exceptionally fast teams this season, with emphasis placed almost entirely on speed and a heavy barrage of field goal attempts.

Last year the Eugene games between the two teams were rated by the national champion Webfoot players as their outstanding encounters of the year. Oregon won by 57-to-49 and 58-to-42 scores.

Both games will begin at 8 o'clock. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale all week at the A. S. U. ticket office in McArthur court. A special section has been set aside for visiting "Dads," who will be on the campus for the annual "Dads' Day" week-end.

Also on tap for the coming week will be two home appearances of John Warren's tall freshman team. The Ducks will meet Dallas high on Friday afternoon and the Multnomah club intermediate five Saturday.

OSC-Oregon Varsity, Frosh Track Combined

University of Oregon and Oregon State varsity and freshman track meets will be held as doubleheaders this coming spring with the annual relay meet set for Hayward field on April 20, it was announced Saturday by Anson Cornell, Webfoot athletic manager.

The varsity and freshmen will alternate events in each of the two meets. The dual encounters will be staged at Corvallis on May 11. Bill Hayward already is working his thimble in the closed area of the men's gymnasium.

Cub Players Return Contracts Unsigned

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Philip Knight Wrigley, it would seem, has turned "tough guy" on certain of his Chicago Cubs who have desisted on larger hunks of his ballpark.

The dissatisfied Cubs are getting large doses of indifference, despite the fact at least four of the five who have returned contracts unsigned are vital parts of the outfit owned by Wrigley.

The dissatisfied players are outfielders Augie Galan and Hank Lieber, Third Baseman Stan Hack and Pitchers Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean. The club, as a matter of policy, does not say what any of them was offered or whether their 1939 salaries were increased or decreased.

Paul Rowe May Join New York Giants

CALGARY, Alta., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Paul Rowe, leading scorer last season in the Western Interprovincial Canadian football league, said today that reports he might sign up with the professional New York Giants next season were "news to me."

"Why, I haven't even returned the contract they sent me some time ago," said the former Victoria boy who was a fine grid prospect at the University of Oregon before coming here.

He said, however, he will write Tim Mara, owner of the Giants, during the next few days, but added "I'm well satisfied with my job in Calgary and don't expect to make any more."

The report Rowe might join the Giants was attributed to Fred Zimmerman of the Salem Capital Journal.

Babb's Certain To Retain Club Lead

The Babb Hardware golfers are certain to keep their lead in the Eugene Country club's winter golf league Sunday, despite the outcome of a match against the third-place Loggers Contractors Machinery Co.

The Irish's Cash Stores team, in second position 4½ points behind the leaders, is a heavy favorite over the tenth-place Johnson Furniture tandem, but even with three points couple by a Babb whitewashing the leaders will still have a lead of one and one-half points.

Other matches scheduled for Sunday are:

New Service Laundry vs. Twin Oaks Builders Supply, Williams Bakery vs. Sigwart Electric, Central Heating vs. Chase Plumbing Co., First National Bank vs. McDonald Theater.

Independent Managers Asked to Speak Up

Managers of teams in both divisions of the Lane county independent basketball league have been asked to send their suggestions to a playoff plans to H. J. Nagle, president of the circuit, as soon as possible. Nagle's address is Eugene, Route 1.

In the boys' game, Reedsport led 27-12 at the half. During the last quarter Gardiner rallied to total 11 points while holding Reedsport scoreless. Ken Morin, Reedsport center, was high man with 14 points.

Oregon State Defeats Idaho In Defensive Hoop Fray, 20-18

MOSCOW, Idaho, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Those tall, consistent men from Oregon State college, front runners in the Pacific Coast conference northern division basketball race, edged out the University of Idaho Vandals by a 20-to-18 score here tonight.

It was Idaho's seventh consecutive defeat and the sixth victory for Oregon State, which has lost but one game, that to Washington State college.

A strategy of stalling, which went against them in the first half and left Idaho leading at the midpoint, 14 to 10, paid dividends for the O. S. C. Beavers midway in the final period by tempting the anxious Vandals to foul.

Idaho was never behind in that opening stanza, although State tied the score at 3-all and 8-all. Both teams departed radically from the slam-bang northern division style to maneuver for certain shots and check closely on defense.

The Beavers won the war of waiting with brilliant defensive play through 15 minutes of the second half, holding Idaho point-less while they edged up to take a 15-14 lead on Valenti's field goal and free throw.

The Staters themselves had gone scoreless for seven minutes. Hunter, at last breaking from the foul line to tally as he raced under the basket.

Individual scoring honors went to Otis Hilton, Idaho, with seven tallies. The Mandie brothers, Frank and John, scored five each to top Oregon State. Only six men saw action for each team.
