Of course, you'll have baked ham for Easter! Here we have a modern ham in a modern setting. Candied orange-peel flowers deck the honey-glazed ham while hot cloved pickled peaches form a bright garland to set off in regal style the fragrant, flavorful, fork-tender baked ham. Be sure to follow the cooking directions that come with the ham. Local dealers have printed instructions for making the orange-peel flowers.

HE DARES TO DUNK!

Men do like to dunk bread in gravy. They share the satisfaction of the Irishman who dipped bread in the good beef juice of his Sunday platter and exclaimed: "Ah, this is the blessed privilege of a man at his own table!" Yes—Gravy that is good should be eaten to the last drop.

HURRAY! GRAVY DUNKING!

But the gravy must be good... rich with REAL BEEF FLAVOR, hot, nourishing—and PLENTY OF IT. You don't have big juicy steaks and roasts every day. So, OXO for gravy. It's the real thing. OXO is a remarkable way to have real beef goodness. Read the whole story—the coupon will bring you a free copy of a folder whose pictures and recipes will give you a new adventure in cooking.
