

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Airport; Reedsport News Listed

REEDSPORT, Nov. 21.—(Special)—The Reedsport chamber of commerce met in the city council chambers Tuesday evening in regular session. Director Frank L. Taylor reported for the committee which had conferred with the Port of Umpqua commission relative to the location of an airport on port property on islands in the lower river opposite Gardner.

The city also entered into agreements with Mr. Hubbard and the Reedsport company for exchange of deeds to clear the title to certain lots and blocks within the city limits, now owned by the city, which had been purchased from the owners.

A committee consisting of Phil Adams, J. C. Diehl, E. G. Dunn, W. A. Lovelace and Fred Wright were appointed to distribute questionnaires sent out by the state of Oregon labor census, and to see that the questionnaires were completed prior to Jan. 1.

A nominating committee to select officers for the year 1941 was appointed as follows: Adams, Taylor, Lovelace and Norris, this committee to report at next meeting. The secretary was instructed to write to the Oregon state highway commission relative to the proposed relocation of a portion of the Umpqua highway, No. 38, so that it will follow a water grade in leaving Reedsport, instead of climbing to the low gap between the Umpqua and Schofield watersheds as now constructed.

Several contracts as approved by the city land board were approved; Buford A. Rowe for the purchase of lot 14 in block 34; Delmer Strickler for the purchase of lots 8 and 9, block 26, and Ernest Zinkler for the purchase of the east half of lot 6, block 16, all in the original plat of Reedsport, west of the Schofield river. An extension of his option was granted to Walter Kallunki for the purchase of lot 7 in block 46, and the application of Ward Powell for permit to construct a tavern on lot 10 in block 75 was referred to a committee of the council, consisting of Councilmen Smiley, Borrevik and Stevens.

From information received from the office of Lieutenant-Colonel C. R. Moore, United States district engineer, at Portland, it appears that Kern and Kibbe, Portland contractors, are low bidders on the government contract for reconstruction of the north jetty at the mouth of the Umpqua river. The Kern and Kibbe bid is $723,320. Other bids were those of the Gilpin Construction company, Portland, $727,800; United Concrete Pipe corporation and Ralph A. Bell, of Los Angeles, $773,530; and C. J. Eldon and Henry Kuekenberg, Portland, $782,350. The government engineer's estimate was $691,500.

The work to be done involves the construction of 6700 feet of jetty tramway or truck trestle along the top of the jetty, placing 100,000 tons of rock and construction of a concrete cap requiring 28,600 yards of concrete. Kern and Kibbe now own a quarry and have much equipment in the vicinity of Reedsport as they have recently completed work on a Coos Bay jetty for which rock was taken from the Umpqua quarry and shipped by rail to Coos Bay. They also constructed the south jetty at the mouth of the Umpqua which was completed three years ago. They have continued maintaining an office at Reedsport since completion of the Coos Bay jetty and many of their key men still live in this community.

The Men's Duplicate Bridge club met recently with three tables in play. Standings in match points for the various teams were first, Loren Gerhard and Fred Goodwin, of Gardner, 2 1/2 points; second, Harry Lyster and Ray Schaefer of Reedsport, 21 points; third, Giles Curtis of Reedsport.

Social Security Announced War Aim of One Briton

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(P)—Ernest Bevin, the new minister of labor, told a gathering of London Rotarians that his war aim was social security.

In the first public declaration by a cabinet minister of this aspect of the war's objectives, the labor party chief minister asserted that at the end of the war, "and indeed during it," social security should be "the main motive of our natural life."

Called by his laborite admirers "the next prime minister," Bevin said: "Begin now. That doesn't mean that all profit and supplies must be wiped out. But it means that the whole economic life should be devoted to give security, not to the small middle class, but to the community as a whole."

Bevin blamed as one of the main contributing factors to the war the failure, after the last conflict, to erect an economic structure based on humanity.

He told the story of one British public employment office where the largest room was devoted to paying out of the dole and the smallest to the finding of jobs.

That, he said, or public education must stop.

"It is better to leave the masses untaught than to give them a double appetite, both of stomach and head, and then to not satisfy either," he asserted.

Moreover, said Bevin, it is no use for Britain to speak to the millions in Europe and elsewhere in the terms of "Gladstone liberty." They must, he declared, be given a new feeling of hope.

"Things can never be as they were," he said. "The old age has passed. A new age has to be built."
