

Ski Heil!

By WALLACE CLARK

The boost that Ski Heil gave last week for the wonderful ski terrain of the Three Sisters area has had some interesting reverberations. I am still hale and hearty and at least three Seattle skiers agree with me. These particular skiers considered the long drive from Seattle to Eugene worth what they described as "a week of perfect shussing." Passing up famed Mt. Rainier, Mt. Hood and the Santiam Ski Bowl like the proverbial dirty shirt, Skiers Walt Price, Walter Dyke and R. L. Donley arrived in Eugene Thursday and stopped in for some dope on the ski conditions.

We brought out the smelling salts, pushed them near chairs and with a deep sigh, told them the awful truth about what rain does to snow. The brave souls (long may they rest), however, were undaunted and blithely went their merry way up the McKenzie, but not before they told us how they had come to know about this place called Sunshine Shelter and why they had traveled so far to ski here.

It seems they were visiting here last March and a friend persuaded them to try a little spring skiing on Oregon snow. They were so enthused with the conditions, terrain, et al that they decided to come back the next year at Christmas for some more. They figured if it was terrific in the spring what would it be in the winter with powder snow. While the reports on the amount of snow have been rather discouraging, I admit, you must take into consideration that the elevation at Sunshine Shelter is nearly 7,000 feet or 1,000 feet higher than Mt. Hood's Timberline lodge which Thursday reported 30 inches of packed powder. So the chances are, the boys from Seattle, will have some excellent skiing while the rest of us stay home and mope about no snow.

Speaking of skiers—Captain Paul R. Lafferty, one of the pioneer skiers in this area and an expert on the slats, has been called to active duty at Fort Lewis for one year. Paul can be given credit for influencing the university to recognize skiing as a minor sport and as one of the first persons to do anything about keeping the highway open to skiing grounds during the winter. His numerous trips to Salem to confer with the highway commission, to present petitions, and to plead our cause has become a "guiding light" to present day agitators. He has probably had more to do with influencing the highway department to keep the McKenzie pass open than any other one man. The job is still unfinished but we hope some day to have a guarantee from the highway commission that the road to our skiing grounds will be maintained. Once we do much needed developments can be added to make this area more attractive. Such items as a new lodge for the Observans and forest service development are being neglected because of the uncertainty of road conditions.

Brad "Silas" Adams, ski professional from Vermont who is attending the University of Oregon has rather taken the ski team under his wing. Left out in the cold by the athletic board, to rustle for themselves, the ski team is welcoming the interest. Brad, a real master of the hickories and a top-notch instructor, has seen fit to donate his spare time to the development of the ski team, which is sadly in need of a guardian. Under his guidance the team is looking forward to some real development, boasting three of the top racers in the Pacific Coast Inter-collegiate Ski Union and now with an excellent instructor there is no reason why Oregon should not annex the coast championships at Yosemite next March.

OSC Dumps Colorado In Overtime, 42-36

Overtime Period Nets Six Points

Cougars Come Through With Win Over Zags

(Associated Press) Oregon State college gave the Pacific Northwest a little new lustre in the pre-season intercollegiate basketball game last night by downing Colorado College, 42 to 36, at Denver. Meanwhile, Washington State was defeating its perennial small-sized rival, Gonzaga, 42 to 30, at Spokane; and Idaho was losing a 36-28 decision to the University of Utah at Salt Lake City.

Montana State university also scored its first basketball victory of the season, defeating 57 to 34 a Willamette university team weakened by the loss of three players through illness. Oregon State, defending northern division champion, had its troubles with Colorado college. The two teams battled evenly until the final bell, and OSC's victory was won in overtime. Clayton Shaw and John Mandic led the OSC scoring with five goals each. OSC led at half-time, 21-13; but Colorado came even at 36-31 just before the final gun. The Coloradans were unable to score in the overtime.

Washington State came from behind to defeat Gonzaga. The Zags led, 21-20, at half-time, dropped eight points behind and then pulled up to within a single point in the final minute of play. Kirk Gebert's goal put the game away for W. S. C. Frank Watson, Gonzaga, was high scorer with 17 points.

Idaho and Utah fought it out at Salt Lake City in a welter of fouls—39 in all. Utah started fast, led, 18-10, at the half and was never headed. The touring Bearcats from Salem played without three members of their squad—Satter, Ragsdale and Lilly—who were left in Caldwell and Pocatello, Ida., hospitals, suffering from influenza.

Rubenstein Hoopers Upset SOCE, 37-31

ASHLAND, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The powerful Rubenstein Oregonians, flashing a well-knit defense and shooting ability when the occasion demanded, posted a surprising 37-31 win over the strong Southern Oregon College of Education five here Friday night.

Panzer Tops LIU Win Mark

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Little Panzer college of East Orange, N. J., one of Long Island university's "minor" victims when the Blackbirds were just starting their record string of 43 consecutive basketball triumphs a few years ago, has surpassed the Long Island record for a winning streak.

Panzer won its 44th game in a row last night, trouncing Hofstra 57-27. Panzer, which plays mostly among the small colleges in New York and New Jersey, hasn't been beaten since it lost to Long Island by six points in December, 1937. Although no official records are kept on basketball winning streaks Panzer's 44 straight is the longest ever recorded in the East and is believed to be a national record.

Baptist Married Men Eke Out Narrow Win

A quartet of close games marked church league play Friday night, as eight teams went to the top in regular play. Tightest of the four was the Baptist Married Men-Evangelical clash, with the Married Men winning out narrowly by a 36-32 score. Other games saw the Baptist Single Men quintet bow to Central Lutheran 43-38, Westminster whip N. Y. A. 39-30, and Methodist walk off with a 41-35 triumph over Christian.

Despite the work of the Pen-gras in the Baptist Single Men Lineup, the bachelors bowed beneath the accurate shooting of Nelson and Carlson, who scored 26 points between them. The Pen-gras boys managed to account for 18, while Turner of the bachelors was making 11.

The Baptist Married Men split their points up rather evenly, with all five starters scoring at least 6 points. Carter led the Evangelical five with 10 counters. The sharpshooting of Wayne Jensen, who counted 10 points, and Bouk, who had 14, caused the downfall of N. Y. A.'s fighting aggregation. Wise was high for the losers with 8.

The Methodist-Christian struggle was close all the way, with Erickson and Craig with 11 and 10 points respectively, leading the winners. McCully of the losers was high man for the night however, tallying 12 points.

California Cricket Teams Take Anzacs

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—California won the first annual international cricket team field games with Melbourne, Australia, second, and New Zealand third, Archie Richardson, sports correspondent of the Melbourne Sporting Globe announced today. The Californians, drawn from Stanford University of California, the Olympic club and the San Francisco Barbarians scored eight points. The Victorian Cricket association of Melbourne six, and New Zealand four in the competition, conducted by cabled comparisons of results of performances in three events.

This Guy Is In Real Trouble!

McLemore Finds Man 'Twixt Devil And Sea

By HENRY MCLEMORE LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Which should a man hold dear, a sheepskin or a pigskin? Is cap and gown more sacred than a double-breasted business suit? Where does loyalty leave off and earning a living begin? If you know the answers to these questions please contact Bernie McLemore at the Riviera Country club, Santa Monica, Cal., because he is wrestling with this problem, night and day.

Here, in brief, is the story of Bernie: In the years 1931, 1932, and 1933 he was a star football player for the University of Nebraska, and from the moment he stuck on his freshman cap until the day he tore off his football helmet after the final game, he was a loyal, devoted son of Nebraska.

Upon graduation he joined with the Chicago Bears of the National football league as a quarterback. He is still with them, and in his head carries more information about the T formation of offense than any man.

Then Nebraska, Bernie's alma mater, was selected to oppose Stanford in the Rose Bowl. Now Bernie, here for the Bears' game with the All-Stars a week from tomorrow, sits sadly on the porch of the Riviera club and bemoans the fate of a man caught in the middle. On one side of him is the team of the school he loves, and the other is the team he is proud of, as a master is proud of a prize pupil.

In Tough Spot
 If Stanford licks Nebraska the T formation he helped teach the Indians will be largely responsible. If Nebraska defeats Stanford he will feel as if there were something wrong with his instruction. He is hoping for a scoreless tie, or a tie of some sort.

He told me so himself. "This is the devil of a predicament," he explained. "A fellow can't go to Nebraska and not love the place. And a fellow who takes three years of pounding on the football field for the school is apt to love it even more. And that's what I did. On the other hand, I get a tremendous kick out of Stanford winning. I know all the boys, I like 'em, and I get a bang out of Albert's brilliant quarterbacking."

Bernie will see the Rose Bowl game, but is certain he is going to suffer. "I don't know where my seat will be," he said, "but I hope it's back of a post so I can't see. I think I'll wear the darkest glasses I can buy, and just spend the afternoon yelling 'come on team, come on team!'"

Ski Tourney Attracts Many College Entrants

SUN VALLEY, Ida., Dec. 21.—(AP)—About 70 collegiate skiers, representing 11 colleges and universities, will be on hand for the third annual four-event combined intercollegiate ski meet to be held here Dec. 29 to Jan. 1 officials announced yesterday.

Winners of the combined cross-country, downhill slalom and jumping events will be awarded trophies. The University of Oregon will not be represented this year, according to information from Eugene officials.

Pro Team, All-Stars Ready For Tilt Sunday

PORTLAND, Dec. 21.—(AP)—An agreement to split the gate receipts with 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers ended last night an argument that nearly called off the football game scheduled for Sunday between the Columbus Bullies, American professional league champions, and the Pacific Coast All-Stars.

The Collegians wanted railroad fare paid in advance, and the winners take all. The professionals held out for a 50-50 split.

PORTLAND, Dec. 21.—(Special)—A professional football game, with its wide open play, aided by great kicking and passing is in store for Portland and Seattle football fans this week. The Columbus Bullies, champion of the American Professional Football league, and the Pacific Coast Col-league All-Stars will play in Portland Sunday afternoon and at Seattle Christmas day.

The Bullies have been working out in Portland this week-end and the many fans who have watched them drill, are convinced they are even better than advance notices. If big names mean anything in football, the All-Stars should have a whale of a team. Such well-known favorites as Leonard Isberg, Oregon's star ball carrier and kicker; Kenny Dow, powerful Oregon State fullback; Bill Marx, Washington's great end; Ted Huber, 210-pound tackle from Washington State; Captain Ed Dempsey, U. S. C. center; Al Kreuger, Trojan All-American end; Mickey Colmer, and Bill Overlin, stellar U. C. L. A. backs, are members of the Collegian squad.

Last year the Columbus team played the Los Angeles Bulldogs here, with Los Angeles winning, 19 to 17, after the lead had seen-sawed four times. Los Angeles kicked four field goals. All three touchdowns were made via the air.

Eugene No-Stars Whip Yoncalla Quint, 52-13

Eugene's independent No-Stars swept past the Yoncalla basketball team by a convincing score of 52-13 Friday night, as the charged-up independents tossed baskets from all angles to smother all opposition.

The No-Stars were in complete command all the way, with the score at half 29-5 in their favor. High men for the night were Trunnell and Schave of the No-Stars with 15 points apiece. Rice was high for Yoncalla with 5.

Zivic-Jenkins Battle To Draw

Large Crowd Of Fans Watch Close Melee

By GALE TALBOT NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs must have had an uneasy minute or two last night while the announcer was gathering up the slips and discovering that Fritz Zivic and Lew Jenkins had fought themselves a 10-round draw in the Garden.

Mike already had Zivic signed to defend his welterweight title against Henry Armstrong on Jan. 17, and that would have been a fine one to try to ballyhoo if Fritz had dropped a duke to Jenkins, the cadaverous lightweight champ.

And Zivic came very close to doing just that. All that saved him was a determined rally in the last four stanzas. Steve Hamas, one of the judges, called it even after the other two officials had given a split verdict. Referee George Walsh thought Jenkins won it. A bulging crowd of 17,000 didn't see a single knockdown, even though Jenkins planted his noted right on Zivic's features many a time. Fritz, the dented nose, came out of it unmarked, but Jenkins suffered cuts over both eyes and looked pretty well used up at the finish.

Zivic possibly would have scored a knockout if he had been fighting a 15-rounder. Jenkins, who is not a distance hero, put so much fury into his early efforts that he began to weaken midway, and couldn't get away from Zivic's straight lefts. They snapped his tired head around and piled up the points that enabled Fritz to scrape through.

Of the two, Zivic was the bigger disappointment. A 1-to-2 favorite at fight time, the Pittsburgh veteran had practically no right at all, only his superior fighting enabled him to hold Jenkins close for the first five rounds. The referee warned him repeatedly for doing funny things in the clinches, but took no rounds away from him.

Jenkins, conceding seven and a quarter pounds, proved himself as willing to wade in and swap with Zivic as with the lightweight he has been slugging around. It already was known from his knockout by Armstrong that he was prone to fade if he couldn't stop his man quickly. Last night merely verified that weakness.

Shaughnessy Admits Team Looking Better

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Stanford's football squad, drilling for its Rose Bowl game with Nebraska, took a stiff, three-hour practice yesterday and Coach Clark Shaughnessy said his team was showing more fire every day.

The line went through heavy scrumage and backs concentrated almost exclusively on passing. Tackle Jack Warnecke, just recovered from influenza, was back in suit but Collin McClintock, reserve center, who was injured in practice Thursday, was found to be suffering from a slight concussion. He was injured when he got in front of one of Fullback Norm Standee's line bucks.

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Dec. 20.—(AP)—Nebraska's Rose Bowl football players rested today as they rolled toward their training camp at Phoenix, Ariz., by train. The 43-man squad of Cornhuskers strolled on Tucumcari streets for a few minutes when their train paused here and announced the walk would be their only workout until they reach Phoenix.

Every player will be ready for action when the training camp is reached although Roy Petsch, first string quarterback, will be under orders to "take it easy" for several days. Petsch injured his back when he slipped while exercising on a new gymnastic gadget. Jones said the squad would go through nine days of concentrated workouts, with at least two practice sessions daily, in preparation for its New Year's day encounter.

The Eugene Gun Club will stage a mammoth turkey shoot at the club's super-modern trap grounds, five miles west of Eugene on the West 11th Avenue highway, Sunday. Shooting starts at 10 a. m. Turkeys, hams and bacon will be posted as prizes in many events, including handicap, backer-uppers and others. All gunners will shoot in their own class. Feature event will be a five-shot competition with ties shot off for a 25-pound turkey. Competitors will use the small .410-gun. Shells and lunch will be available on the grounds. The club boasts one of the finest appointed club houses of any trapshooting club in the state and visitors are welcome.
