Roseburg Gets Meeting—
The 1941 convention of the Oregon Republican clubs will be held in Roseburg, it is announced following a meeting of the state executive group in Portland Saturday. Eugene asked for the meeting, but upon the statement by Roseburg that it had never had the convention and wished to entertain it this year, the local bid was withdrawn. The event was held in Eugene several years ago. Attending the meeting from Eugene was Robert M. Fischer, Jr., treasurer for the state organization.

Four Fire Alarms—
Three blue fires and one short-circuited washing machine were the only fire-alarm causes over the week-end. The blue fires were at the Carl Hunter place, 1409 Eleventh avenue west, at 10:10 a. m. Sunday; at the Hooping residence, 246 Adams street, at 8:10 a. m. Sunday, and at the F. Simpson residence, 553 Sixth avenue west, I. a. m. Saturday. The washing machine fire was at the Dr. P. J. Bartle residence, 341 Twelfth avenue east, 11:15 a. m. Saturday. There was no damage, except to the washing machine.

Hilchhiker Loser—
Leonard Lankhaar, Everson, Wash., reported to city police Sunday that two men in a car who gave him a lift at the California line had brought him as far as Ashland, went on with his billfold containing $10.75. He said he believes his pocket was picked, and felt certain he had not dropped the billfold in the car.

Class Starts Monday—
The first aid instructors' class sponsored by the Lane county chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Four-H club building. Ben Carpenter, Red Cross field director, is the teacher. The class will be held the rest of this week from 7 to 10 p. m. Anyone having a standard or advanced first aid card may attend.

Watson Wanted in South—
Ray Watson, Eugene man, sentenced to the state penitentiary Saturday to serve four years on a bad check charge, is wanted in San Francisco on a grand theft charge, according to word received by Sheriff C. A. Swarts Monday. Watson had a stolen car from California in his possession when arrested at Yakima, Wash., officers there told Sheriff Swarts. The sheriff took him to Salem Monday to begin his sentence.

Road Fill to Be Made—
The county will make a fill on the county road that extends across an old channel of the Willamette river on Patterson island north of the city, according to P. M. Morse, county engineer. Cars now drive through the water in the channel but when there is high water it is too deep for safe driving. Engineer Morse and County Commissioner Allen P. Wheeler made an inspection of the site Monday morning and decided upon the improvements.

Link Leaving—
Gordon Link of Eugene has resigned from his position as graduate assistant in the University psychology department to accept a position as statistician with the farm security administration in Portland. Mr. Link started work on his new job Monday morning. Much of his duties will be connected with assembling and analyzing statistics on migratory laborers in Oregon.

New Headquarters—
Miss Mira Calef, chairman of the production division of the American Red Cross, announced Monday that headquarters are being set up in the dining room of the Odd Fellows hall. By Thursday knitting and sewing work will be ready to be distributed.

Award Quoted—
An arbitration award, in which it was ruled that ship clerks be given vacations with pay, made by Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon law school and coast arbitrator for maritime labor, is quoted extensively in the recent issue of Labor Review, a publication by the United States Department of Labor and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

To March Field—
First Lieut. H. L. Halsey, an instructor in the Reserve Officer Training Corps at the University of Oregon for the past three years, has been ordered to March Field, California, for duty with the army air corps. Lieut. Halsey's work here will be taken over by Sergeant Malburn D. Mudd, who will be transferred here from the Seventh Infantry, Vancouver, Wash.

Photos Given—
Twenty large specially selected photographs of Oregon scenery have been donated to the University of Oregon museum of natural history by the Oregon forest service, according to Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology and geography departments. The scenes consist mainly of forest shots. The 20 new photographs bring the museum's collection up to 50, since the highway service presented 30 others recently.

KruGon PRAISE CONTINUES HERE
Mrs. Fisher Glad To Laud The Action Of The Modern Capsule Remedy: Read Her Surprising Statement

"For the past twenty years I had been wanting a medicine like the KruGon," said Mrs. C. Fisher, 2307 Laurel Ave., Salem, (near Eugene, Oregon), a well known and highly esteemed lady who is seventy-three years of age, in a recent statement reaching Hiron's Everybody's Drug Store, 986 Wilamette, this city.

"I found KruGon to be a medicine I could rely upon," she continued. "Constipation had become my last twenty years miserable ones. I did not seem to have the strength and energy I needed, felt weak and tired and hardly had any appetite at all. What little I ate caused me severe suffering afterwards for I would bloat dreadfully. I slept but little for I was so nervous the least thing annoyed me. But a trial of KruGon soon proved to me that it was the very medicine I had been wanting all this time."

"KruGon is certainly a medicine worthy of the praise given it," continued Mrs. Fisher. "With the first few doses my appetite began to return. Now with proper elimination of those clogged intestinal impurities I am feeling fine. With proper nourishment too my strength and energy came back and now I eat and enjoy the foods I want with no discomfort or distress after my meals. My nerves are calm now and I sleep fine. KruGon has certainly been a blessing to me and I am glad to join the others as a 'user' who does not hesitate to recommend KruGon on every occasion."

Nazi Invasion Troops Strafed by Airplanes

ing a low-flying smash at refineries in Porto Marghera, near Venice, Italy, and Regensburg, in the reich, and Ostend, Belgium.

Hitler's high command, briefly noting the attacks on Nazi channel troops, asserted "weak forces" of British planes "attempted to penetrate German-occupied continental bases" at noon Sunday and that three RAF planes were shot down.

The German high command also reported an RAF raid early today on the Bavarian city of Bayreuth, 125 miles north of Munich, where the Wagner musical festivals are held. It is an important railway junction, as well. Little damage was reported.

On the Albania war front, a dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent with the Greek counter-invasion armies said Greek shock troops were imperiling the Italian defense line beyond Klisura, in central Albania, and that the Greek advance was so rapid that unburied Italian dead "still litter the battlefield."

Klisura, he said, is only a cluster of blackened ruins after an incessant rain of Greek artillery fire.

German warplanes lashed at London with another "fire raid" last night, but thousands of volunteers snuffed out the flames of incendiary bombs and the attack ended in less than four hours.

German raiders also spread their operations over other parts of Britain, attacking a southwest town for several hours and inflicting some casualties. Points along the Thames estuary also were raided.

Tepelet?
Dispatches from the Yugoslavian border, unconfirmed by official Greek sources, said the Greek army had captured Tepelet, a strategic village in central Albania. The Italians were reported still retreating northward since the fall of Klisura, about 10 miles east of Tepelet.

British Libyan forces still were hauling guns from the Bardia area to surround Tobruk, 70 miles away, and putting them into action against outlying Italian defense posts.

The important fascist outpost at Giarrub oasis, 150 miles south of Bardia, was said to have been captured by the British.

The Italian high command reported one British cruiser in the Mediterranean was struck in a joint German-Italian air attack, and that another cruiser was "seen sinking" after an Italian torpedo attack.

Loss of one Italian torpedo boat was acknowledged by the high command, which said two British destroyers also were set on fire.

NEWS VIEWS

By H. F. "Mac" Mac

Some years ago a well-known gentleman said he didn't care who made our country's laws, as long as they were good laws.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate foreign relations committee, who said he "unqualifiedly" approved the measure's objectives, predicted Mr. Roosevelt would favor an amendment specifying that foreign beneficiaries provide "reasonable security" in the form of goods needed by the United States, such as tin and rubber.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), who is organizing an opposition bloc in the senate, said during a radio forum last night that approval of the bill "means war—open and complete warfare."

Senator Lee (D-Okla.), taking the other side, asserted: "America has only one chance to escape total war and that chance is England. England is the only barrier between America and a baptism of blood."
