THE PINCH IS COMING

The crack salesman shrugged ruefully. "Yep! It's going to be a little tough. You see, I'm in the butter business!"

Knowing that he was in the electrical equipment business, his hearers all pricked up their ears. Then it dawned. "Guns or butter?"

And we all remembered that his branch of the business was household appliances. Butter! Now the guns come first.

We are rapidly approaching the point where the shoe is going to pinch a little. It worries a few people. Not others. So many of the others have been learning for 10 years to get along without things.

A friend bought an electric refrigerator the other day. With it came a most polite and apologetic explanation of the lack of aluminum trays. The substitute trays were really quite satisfactory, they assured. They seemed to be, too. So what? It's possible that if necessary one could even get along without any ice cubes at all.

Suppose it should be true that in certain parts of the east it should be necessary to cut down a little on gasoline consumption? Probably some sort of rationing system would cause less hardship than cutting off all traffic on Sunday. But suppose that came? Europe, all of it, has had gasoline rationing for years. How long since you've walked a mile, anyway?

Suppose the old car must be driven a year longer, or the washing machine made to do for another year? Suppose cigarettes cost a few cents more and the price of whisky rises steeply. Suppose shaving cream comes in a glass jar instead of a tin tube, and the anchovy paste can scarcely be had at all? Suppose taxes rise, and one is asked to give to the United Service Organizations and to buy Defense Bonds?

Technically, some of these things may be called a reduction in the standard of living. Compare it with what is going on in Europe according to a private letter from the U. S. diplomat there: "In Europe one cannot speak of reduction in the standard of living. There is no standard of living. One gets what one can, and makes it do."

It is to prevent such a situation that we are asked to make little sacrifices now. Except for the men called for army service, real sacrifice has as yet been asked of nobody.

We should be ashamed to speak of the little changes and small inconveniences proposed thus far as "sacrifices."

SCAPEGOATS

France has now gone all the way. The country in Europe which was a short time ago, the freest and the most tolerant, has put in effect the same set of anti-Jewish laws which are the chief contribution of Hitler's German Reich to modern civilization.

Twelve thousand Jews have been arrested, all, according to Petain, participants in a foul plot to wreck French-German "collaboration." In the first place is it conceivable that all 12,000 of these unfortunate people were in on any such plot, and that nobody else was? If there was any such plot, it is certainly possible that some Jews were concerned in it. But that 12,000 of them, and they alone were concerned, is an arrogant imposition on what is left of the world's intelligence.

What has happened, apparently, is that France, too, has found it necessary to produce a scapegoat. It is not to the credit of French originality that they could find no other than the one with which Hitler had already presented them.

AMBASSADOR EXTRAORDINARY

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is a great deal more than just a personable young man who happens to have made a great success of mugging in the movies. He appears to have made an equal success as a good will ambassador to South America. They like Fairbanks down there, it seems, and one of the best reasons is that he likes them.

In Santiago, Chile, he said: "I have found without exception that the vast majority of the peoples are robustly democratic and in sympathy with the determination of the democracies that liberty, independence, and the dignity of the individual are not to be trampled under the iron heel of the foreign despot."

In a brief visit, Fairbanks has already found the answer to the charge that "those are all dictatorships down there, anyway."

There are dictatorships in South America, but there is not one people which has been dragged into any semblance of the goose-step in which the Germans and Italians are marching to their downfall.

It's easier to feather love nests when prices are down.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK

BAD TIME FOR NEW MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP VENTURE

(Springfield News) With the federal government scheduled to take 30 to 40 per cent of all incomes next year to pay for national defense and with another student influx likely in our schools from families of cantonment workers it would seem like a bad time for Springfield to embark on municipal ownership of light and water even if a majority of our people favored such an undertaking.

Despite similar proposals being turned down at four previous elections petition packers are going about town trying to get another election called and $200,000 in bonds voted. At a time when we should all be united and doing our best toward helping national defense we are being called on to wage another bitter municipal ownership fight.

We do not object someday to Springfield owning her own water system but it should be done at a time when the city is able to build a large modern filtration plant and make extensive extensions throughout the city. The sewer system should be made to keep up with the new municipal system. This will require huge sums of money which we have not got and have a poor chance of borrowing and a worse chance of paying back at the present time.

It is a well known fact that the water system here will not pay for itself unless every user is metered and every house compelled to take water. Falling in this then the city would have to fall back on the taxpayers for supplemental revenue. As long as we can not better the water works we had better leave it in private hands—at least until after the war is over. After all the city is getting taxes and five per cent out of the water revenue now and nobody thinks we will do better financially than that even if we owned it.

Springfield receives a much larger proportion of money from taxes and franchise fees from the Mountain States Power company than does any other city of like size in Oregon. Nearly 40 per cent of the light and water receipts from users inside the city limits are paid back in some form of taxes on power and water property located within the city. Whatever may be said about power companies in general locally we are not seriously hurt.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The 4,000 communists in Oregon and Washington will soon feel the heavy hand of Uncle Sam with a "come along" movement. Such aliens as are subject to deportation but cannot be deported because their native land refuses to take them back are headed for concentration camps. The orders of National Labor Relations board to employers are to be nullified as to discharging workers for being communists. All left-wing officials in labor ranks, whether communists or fellow-travelers, will soon be on the way out. Such is the program formulated for the Pacific northwest; for the red agitators in California.

It was Earl Browder, No. 1 communist (now in prison for violating the passport laws), who boldly told the Dies committee that there were 50,000 party members in the United States, of which 4,000 were located in Oregon and Washington, about 80 per cent in CIO and 40 per cent in AFL. In his book, "The Peoples Front," Browder relates how certain political organizations in the northwest are carrying on the "party line" of Moscow. These front organizations have recruited their membership from left-wingers and fellow-travelers who follow the party line but do not actually carry a party book membership. In passing, it may be said that the administration has not overlooked the organization in handling political patronage.

A LITTLE more than two years ago J. Warren Madden, then chairman of NLRB, asserted that an employer who objected to a union because its leader was a communist, or who discharged a worker because he was a communist, was violating the Wagner act. This has been the policy of NLRB and through it the reds have been protected in jobs where they could stir up strife. Employers in the mills of Oregon and Washington were put on notice as to this ruling of the board. Because of this policy communists have been employed in key industries which are working on war orders in the northwest, and all the employers could do was bite their nails. Most of the strikes on the west coast can be laid to this ruling, whether in aircraft plants, mills or logging camps. NLRB has been taken out behind the woodshed and told a few things since the army moved in on the Ingleswood plant.

THERE are hundreds of undesirable aliens subject to deportation, but the immigration bureau (now in the department of justice) has no place to send them, for their homeland refuses to accept them. Many of these are Russians, but there are other countries represented. As matters stand, these undesirables can and do enjoy the freedom of the United States to wander wherever they desire, and there appear to be a considerable number in the northwest. The administration heretofore has done nothing about them, for there is nothing that could be done. Now, however, it is proposed that concentration camps be established; that these undesirables be picked up and placed in a wire fence enclosure, supervised by guards.

Until the immigration service was taken away from Madam Perkins, secretary of labor, Harold Pritchett, a Canadian alien, was head of the International Woodworkers union in Oregon and Washington. Pritchett was permitted to enter the United States on a visitor's permit, good for 90 days. Because of his position in the CIO labor movement, Madam Perkins caused his permit to be renewed at the end of each three-month period. Efforts to keep Pritchett out of the country met with the adamant resistance of the secretary of labor.

For a long time Senator Holman, Oregon, had worked to rid IWU of this alien leadership without success, but when the immigration service was taken away from Madam Perkins within 24 hours Holman's office was asked if he had anything additional to what was found in the Pritchett file. He had. It was an affidavit he sent to Madam Perkins and which she sent back to him. This document resulted in Pritchett's permit being cancelled and there was a new man heading the International Woodworkers union, but a change did not prevent a strike and a defiance by "Mickey" Orton of the National Defense mediation board.

Rank and file members of west coast unions have been advised to conduct a purge, and lost no time about it. To assist in identifying communists, the Dies committee has released a list of alleged party workers who are active in Washington State but whose influence extends into Oregon unions, for most of these Washington left-wingers have participated in labor conventions in Oregon. In the list are leftist followers or associates of Harry Bridges, the alien CIO leader who has been on trial for deportation for weeks and whose trial terminated a few days ago. Not much publicity is expected, but a number of discharges will be made in war defense industries of the northwest, Breme ton, Boeing plant and lumber mills.
