'Backbone' Complete For Pageant Stage At Fairgrounds

Completion of the construction work on the Oregon Trail pageant stage at the fairgrounds was announced by Horace Robinson, co-director.

The construction work includes the building of the ramps, platforms and "backbone" of the stage. Much work must still be done in covering, painting and "planting" greenery.

All rehearsals will be held at the fairgrounds this next week, including the sheriff's posse, colonials, Eagles drill team, Ft. Vancouver and early Christians on Monday; full dance rehearsals on Tuesday and Thursday evenings; a full chorus rehearsal plus the Ft. Vancouver, Colonials, Lewis and Clark, Good Ship Columbia and Indians on Wednesday; and the covered wagon scene on Friday.

Complete dress rehearsals of the entire cast will begin Saturday evening, July 19, and will continue every night until pageant time. All the rehearsals begin at 7 o'clock.

42,000 Acres Closed By Forest Service

Closure of 32,000 acres of the Westfir lumber company's timber sale area on the North Fork of the Willamette river and 10,000 acres on the South Fork of McKenzie river in the area covered by the heavy blowdown of several years ago was announced Saturday by J. R. Bruckart, supervisor of the Willamette national forest.

Orders to close the areas came from Lyle F. Watts, regional forester at Portland.

Extreme fire hazards were reported in both areas. The Westfir section, because of the excessive amount of debris on the ground from past logging operations, is closed to all persons except employees of the company.

Individuals with specific business in the area may obtain a permit to enter from the local forest officer. Smoking in the area is definitely prohibited.

Since the Box canyon road on Oakridge to McKenzie bridge extends through some of this closed area, through traffic may get a travel permit at the gates set up by the forest service at the entrance. Travel into Camp 5 from the Box canyon road, however, is restricted to employees and those having special business.

Settlers in the McKenzie river blowdown area will not be required to get permits to go to and from their homes.

Notices and maps of the sections will be posted at all entrances.

San Francisco Firm To Buy Aluminum

SALEM, July 12.—(Special)—Jerrold Owen, state civilian defense coordinator, announced today that the American Smelting and Refining company, San Francisco, had arranged to buy all aluminum scrap collected in Oregon.

Proceeds from the sale will be sent to the national scrap aluminum fund, a federal agency.

Owen said the San Francisco firm was the only one on the Pacific coast with a definite priority rating.

He advised local councils to use city and county trucks wherever possible in transporting scrap to the nearest rail shipping point. Each county's contribution will be weighed in order that it may be given proper credit.

Owen also announced designation of Russell Pratt, assistant to the superintendent of transportation, state utilities department, as state chairman of transportation for the metals drive.

Business Women To Aid Aluminum Drive

Active participation in Eugene's drive to gather up old aluminum for the national defense program is contemplated by six of the city's women's service clubs, it was announced Saturday by B. D. Dixon, chairman of the junior chamber of commerce committee in charge of the campaign.

Captains to superintend the collection of aluminum scrap from members have been named by five clubs. Included are Wanda Wagner, captain for Credit Women's Breakfast club; Mrs. Greta Buckingham, Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Clarence Crocker, Quota club; Mrs. Martha Fisher, Rotana club; and Doris Edwards, Young Businesswoman's club.

A captain is expected to be named by the Zonta club in the near future.

The campaign to collect old pots and pans, discarded household appliances and other aluminum scrap will begin Wednesday evening with a special "aluminum benefit" softball game at the civic stadium.

The price of admission to the contest will be a scrap of aluminum.

Depots have been established at four points in the city, with a central depository located near the county jail downtown.

Other stations have been set up in Lane county communities. Among these are Billy Maddaugh's store at Veneta; B. C. Allison's store at Lorane; 335 W. Front street, Junction City; Farmer's Exchange, Creswell.

Both Boy and Girl Scouts will aid in the program to collect the valuable metal.

The scrap collected in the county will be turned over to the government for use in the defense program.

Summer Students Offer Vocal Program

The first program of vocal music, to be offered by summer students in the University of Oregon school of music, will be presented in a complimentary concert Wednesday evening at 8:15 in the music auditorium on the campus, Dean Theodore Kratt announces.

The soloists who will take part are Margaret Zimmerman, Martha K. Moore, Oberlin Evenson, Emma B. Meier, and Virginia W. Elliott. Emery Hobson and Laurie Pratt will accompany them. The program is as follows:

I. Two duets, "Minuetto" by Pietro-Bononcini, and "Tutti Fior" from Puccini's opera "Madame Butterfly." Margaret Zimmerman, soprano, and Martha K. Moore, mezzo-soprano.

II. "Pilgrim Song" by Tschalkowsky, "Glad That I Live Am I" by Malotte, "The Sergeant Major on Parade" by Longstaffe, Oberlin Evenson, baritone.

III. Two Wagnerian arias, "Ein Traum" from "Lohengrin," and "Dich Teure Halle" from "Tannhauser," Miss Zimmerman.

IV. "Du bist die Ruh" and "Die Forelle" by Schubert; "Feldinsamkeit" and "Der Schmeid" by Brahms; "Das Verlassene Madgelein" and "Fussreise" by Hugo Wolf. Emma B. Meier, lyric soprano.

V. "Bell Song" from the opera "Lakme" by Delibes, "When I Was Seventeen," Swedish folk song arranged by Cramer. Virginia W. Elliott, coloratura soprano.

Advance Ticket Sale For Pageant to Start

Exposing a ruthless, merciless tourist racket that preys on young girls, Columbia's sensational new melodrama "Under Age" makes its local bow on Thursday at the Heilig theater. With Nan Grey, Alan Baxter, Mary Anderson and Tom Neal featured, the new film rips the mask off the vicious mobsters who use hundreds of lovely girls to lure men to their doom in roadside hideouts! Directed by Edward Dmytryk, the screen play was written by Robert D. Andrews from a story by Stanley Roberts.

W. C. T. U. Institute Program Is Announced

West Side Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold its annual institute, with both morning and afternoon sessions, on Wednesday, July 16, at the Church of God, at Third and Monroe. Guest speaker of the day will be Mrs. Etta M. White, state corresponding secretary, of Portland, who will speak at both sessions. Mrs. J. J. True Pioneer Stories Being Presented for Pageant, KORE

Radio programs, dramatized from true stories taken from the diary owned by Mrs. Gwendolen Lamphire Hayden, descendant of Thomas Belshaw—an early pioneer who kept the diary—are being dramatized to publicize the Oregon Trail pageant over station KOAC, with the next program scheduled for KOAC from 8:30 to 9 p. m. Thursday, July 17.

Pioneer Belshaw's wife also kept a diary, both of them being written in ink, and the latter diary is owned by May D. Kinsey, a descendant.

The stories are being adapted for radio by Mrs. L. Hayden, with programs already produced including "The Square Piano"—the history of the first piano in Eugene—and "Maria's Melodeon"—a story of Mrs. Belshaw's determination to bring a melodeon here despite the difficulties involved.

The next program will be of Texas 'Cowboy' Beds Down In Window Of Eugene Firm

A Texas panhandle cowboy, at home amid Eugene's pioneer environment, has bedded down in the window of the J. K. Pratt & Co. insurance agency on 62 W. Broadway.

At least that is the way it looks. The "cowboy" is really a collection of authentic cowboy accessories, belonging to C. D. Farmer, Eugenean who once rode the range in Texas.

The cowboy's "head" rests on a saddle made in Pueblo, Colo., in 1892. He "wears" boots and spurs from the XIX ranch in Texas.

The display was arranged by Loren Bryant of the insurance company.

Costume Shop Opens

Miss Evelyn Conrad and Miss Annette Deane, graduates of the Eugene vocational school have opened a shop on the balcony in Miller's store, where they will make pageant costumes to order.

They have studied costume dressmaking and millinery, and have had experience working on the pageant princess dresses on the N. Y. A. project. The girls will make dresses, bonnets, shawls and mitts to order. Their business is entirely independent of Miller's store.

If this venture is a success they plan to open a dressmaking shop of their own in the fall.

Restaurants Sign Work Agreement

Two more Eugene restaurants have signed up with the city culinary alliance, it was announced Saturday by Gertrude Kay, secretary.

Firms which signed working agreements are Ernie's Barbecue, now operated by R. S. Gold and George Neale, and Ed's Wine depot.

END FATIGUE

Notice how muscular strength appear in the faces of those who wear glasses—as compared with those who do not. It is striking proof of the need of glasses can do one's looks! If you wear glasses by all means wear them before facial lines have a chance to develop.
