Stove Designed As Smokeless

BELLEVILLE, Ill.—(U.P.)—When Neal Van Hoose's soft-coal mine near Belleville was shut down by restrictions imposed by the stringent St. Louis anti-smoke ordinance, he resolved to do something about it.

Now he's announced the invention of a downdraft stove which not only will burn any type coal, including the very poorest, according to the Ringelman chart for smoke density, without smoke, but also will heat the average home on about half as much coal.

Van Hoose's stove is U-shaped. The draft passes down through the coal in the hopper while the fire burns upward. For the past year he's experimented with the stove in his own home and says that it uses about half the coal he used previously.

Van Hoose says that he once put 100 pounds of the cheapest coal in the hopper and banked the fire. The fire lasted for one week. He estimates that the stove can be manufactured to retail for about $30 because there is no mechanism. Units can be set into furnaces already installed, he says. Until passage of the strict anti-smoke ordinance in 1940 the southern Illinois mines supplied virtually all coal used in St. Louis.

In 1940, world production of crude oil amounted to about 2,150,000,000 barrels and production of related fuels (natural gasoline, benzol, synthetic mineral oils from coal and oil shale, and other fuels) was estimated at 110,000,000 barrels, making total production 2,260,000,000 barrels.

A total of 2,468,058 pounds of copra was exported to the United States from the island of Guam in 1940, according to the Census Bureau. In the same year, 409,128 pounds were shipped to the Philippine Islands and 444,204 to Japan.

STUDENTS-STYLISH TO BOOT! Campus boots of rubber in red, white, blue, russet, black and various combinations of all of these are news. Some students wear them high. Others will turn them down so that gay plaid linings show, as at left. The co-ed at the right wears the new cowboy boot—the Buckaroo. (NEA Service)

The 48 states received almost 4.7 billion dollars in revenues in 1938, according to the Census, and spent 4.0 billion dollars in cost-payments for the general government. The excess of revenues over expenditures was due to collections for unemployment compensation which were deposited in reserve funds for future use.
