

Boat Beached By High Waves

BANDON, Ore., Oct. 21.—Weekend storms not only tore a $9,000 air compressor from the north jetty at Bandon, tossing it into the sea below, but also broke a 38-foot boat, The Imp, from its moorings at Port Orford and left it high and almost dry on the beach in Humbug state park, six miles down the coast.

The compressor, owned by Strong and McDonald of Tacoma, jetty improvement contractors, was being pulled out today, chief damage being from salt water.

The boat, belonging to George Korken and Harry Shipman, Jr., was damaged about $1000 on its trip through stormy seas. The two planned to build a road up from the beach to the Oregon Coast highway, put the craft on rollers, and take it back to its home port by trailer. Coastguardsmen from both the local and the Port Orford station spent most of the weekend searching for it, ceasing only when a motorist spied it from a lookout point in the state park.

DOGS MAY BE TETHERED
VANCOUVER, B. C.—The old-fashioned hitching post may be resurrected here shortly—for tethering dogs. The city council announced that it would ask the British Columbia legislature to ban dogs from stores displaying foodstuffs. Dog owners would be forced to tie up their pets outside before they enter.

Church Must 'Clean House' Says Parker

Dr. B. Earle Parker, of the First Methodist church, struck a note of challenge in his talk on "The Church in a Secularized Life" before the church leadership training school assembly Monday evening.

Defining "secularized" as "indifference to things religious," the pastor declared that the church must begin the reform from within, must "clean house" before the indifference of the general public can be overcome.

The church has more to fear from this secularization than from the doctrines of either communism or fascism, he believes and went on to say that one of the contributing factors in the building of American democracy was a strong faith in God and only this faith can save the world.

Total enrollment in the school is now 165, a 33 per cent increase over last year according to A. F. Holmer, secretary. Rev. Edwin Johnson presided over the assembly period.

Speaker at the assembly next Monday evening will be Dr. Williston Wirt on the subject "The Church and The Peace It Must Help Bring to the World."

Beet Talk Slated At Chamber Luncheon

When Ronald Hayes speaks at the Friday noon Chamber of Commerce luncheon on sugar beet possibilities in the Willamette valley, he will deal with practical information useful to farmers, according to an announcement from the committee in charge. Costs, profits, and needed machinery will be discussed. Letters of invitation have been sent to Lane county grange members, as well as farmers whose lands seem suitable for this type of crop. Phil Gent, agriculture chairman, is in charge.

Department Staff Due At Venison Feed

Headed by Louis E. Starr, state department commander, Portland, the department staff will be in Eugene next Saturday evening to attend the 17th annual venison feed of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This year's dinner is to be held in the Moose hall at 6:30 o'clock, Saturday evening.

W. K. Striker, committee chairman, assisted by Henry Quam and William Strong and an ample kitchen force will start preparation of the feed Saturday morning.

Music will be furnished by Jack Woods and his "old timers" throughout the evening. Other entertainment will be provided. George Tannehill, commander of the local post, will act as toastmaster.

"I believe this will be the largest gathering of Overseas Veterans ever to attend a venison feed," stated Commander Tannehill, who is urging all members to attend. Especially is he anxious that men who have been members of other V.F.W. posts and who are now living in this territory attend. Any man who has had overseas service in either the army, navy or marines is eligible for membership in the V.F.W. and is invited to be present.

BET TOPPERS NEEDED
A call marked "urgent" came to the Oregon state employment office Tuesday in the form of a request for 300 beet topplers, who are needed immediately in Ontario, Oregon, to save the sugar beet crop. The district asked the Eugene office to send as many qualified workers as they can as soon as possible. Wages are 85 cents to $1.37 1/2 a ton for topping.
