A Teddy Bear Suit—Memories

A little red teddy bear suit I... saw hanging on a neighbor's line... today set me to reminiscing. There... was a time when I, too, hung just... such a suit on the line to dry. Its... small owner always spied it, and... would stand beneath it, sending... forth prodigious howls for such a... two-by-two. He would reach out... raged arms aloft to claim it, and... demand to go "bye-bye." He knew... what that suit was for, and even... at the age of one year and a few... months already displayed a desire... to go forth and mix with his kind... —a desire which has consistently... been his predominant characteris... tic... At the age of one year, when... his progress down the walk was... an uncertain wobble, we had to... put a fence around the onion bed... Otherwise his infant breath was... such as to make even the fondest... relatives flee before him... Next to onions, he loved straw... berries. If left within his reach, he... would clutch handfuls of them and... then, his aim uncertain but his... purpose sure, he would start them... in progress toward his mouth by... pressing the dripping mess against... the bridge of his nose and then... work on down until he contacted... the proper orifice... At about this time, he went to young mother with a lot of work... to do. To keep him busy was the... only thing I considered... Even yet, I do not think it such... a bad idea, and have stored it... away for future reference. Should... I ever have a grandson who gives... indications of his father's inability... to stay put, I'm going to risk... blighting his intellect, at such... times as his mother leaves him... with me, by using a bit of syrup... and a feather. Reading this col... umn, she can't say I didn't warn... her.

abc's
of wartime travel
to California
If you are planning a rail trip soon, we urge you to read the following wartime travel suggestions. Observation of them will make your trip more pleasant and comfortable and will aid us in performing our most important job—the swift transport of men and materials to training camps and fighting fronts.

avoid week-end travel
Travel is always heaviest on week-ends. By starting your trip on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, you have a wider choice of accommodations and you make way for those who must travel on week-ends—war workers and men in the armed services.

be an early bird
Get full information well in advance of the day you plan to leave. Purchase your rail and Pullman tickets as early as possible. You thus are assured of accommodations and you avoid last-minute rush. If you can't get a lower berth or if you have to wait your turn in the dining car please be tolerant, realizing that the extra cars, locomotives and crews which would relieve such a situation in normal times, are now hauling troops and war materials. We can't buy any new cars because of the shortage of critical materials. Full-length lounge cars have been replaced by sleeping or chair cars on all U. S. railroads so that more people can ride on one train—a matter of vital importance to the war effort.

Cancel promptly (if your plans change)
The space you reserve on a train is valuable—too valuable to go unused. If you are forced to change your plans, please cancel your reservation and turn in your Pullman ticket for refund immediately so the space can be used by other travelers.

don't waste space
If you need a compartment, a drawing room, or a bedroom by all means buy it. But please don't take more space than absolutely necessary. A berth may be all that you really need. Or share a room with a friend or business associate when traveling together.

expect occasional delay
Allow ample leeway between the scheduled arrival of your train and the time of your business appointment. Remember that trains carrying war materials and supplies are using the same tracks as your train, and these Victory Trains have to come first. If your train should be delayed by war traffic, we hope you will accept the inconvenience in good spirit, realizing that we are doing everything in our power to maintain on-time schedules.

forget some things you see En route you may see things that concern the war effort. Forget them. Do not discuss troop or material movements, army installations or camps, or other vital subjects. The Axis has big ears.

and thanks to you...

We are working hard to do a bang-up job for Uncle Sam and trying our best to give good service to our civilian patrons, too. But nothing is normal in wartime including train travel. Thousands of our trained men are now in the armed forces. Everybody is hard pressed and some are new at their duties. We appreciate the consideration shown by travelers and the helpful cooperation of shippers. Thanks a lot.
