Mrs. Leda Freeland has been appointed to the position of executive secretary of the Lane County Public Health association, it was announced Thursday by Clarence Simon, president of the group. Mrs. Freeland succeeds Mrs. Dorothy Brown, who recently resigned because she is moving to Klamath Falls to reside. She expects to leave for her new home Saturday.

Mrs. Freeland has long been a resident of Eugene and has been prominent in war veteran auxili-

Injured Commandos Return To Field Dressing Station

IN A FIELD DRESSING STATION ON THE ENGLISH SOUTH COAST, Aug. 21.—The ambulances changed through the dead-black streets of this town in the air raid danger zone last night with the wounded of the men who raided Dieppe.

Stretcher bearers carried them through 20 feet of a dark corridor into the brightly lighted dressing room. It was a man's show. There were no women nurses.

Preliminary treatment was administered to the Rangers, the Canadians, the Commandos and the Fighting French and they were taken back to ambulances and on to base hospitals.

Soon the walking cases began arriving, their uniforms bloody, in tatters, ugly ashes reddening their dirty faces, arms and legs. Some still gripped rifles and tommy guns.

Some, wild looking, were suffering from shock. Some hobbled, supported on each side by a first aid man. Many had lost their uniforms in which they had started out in the morning and had picked together other clothing.

They waited in the adjoining ward. Most eagerly reached for the cigarettes handed out to them, lary circles and other local groups. She was in the office of the association in the courthouse Thursday to become familiar with her duties before taking active charge.

but some dropped asleep the moment they sat down.

As the emergency ward was cleared, the surgeons came among the walking cases, looking for the men in most need of immediate care, and took them out. Some they had to tap on the shoulder—if the shoulder was not wounded—or shake to awaken them.

This dressing room has makeshift operating tables and makeshift beds. Beds and tables were all full now. Some men were on stretchers, crowded on the floor.

The surgeons moved quietly and expertly among them, administering a hypodermic injection of morphine here, giving sulfanilamide there, bandaging a wounded face, arm or leg.

The men took it in brave silence. Occasionally there was a muttered curse. Only rarely was there a groan. Many sweated and gritted their teeth.

A major knelt on the ground and started a sort of prayer.

"I don't see how in the name of hell I came through it," he said.

His whole shoulder was mangled.

A soldier was brought in with a thigh shot off.

A handsome boy came in the door. He did not look as if anything was wrong with him until he turned his head, revealing that the cheek which had been turned away, was shot entirely away.

Another youth had been shot through both legs. He held his pistol as if it were his fortune. He was a Commando. He refused to get on the operating table. A surgeon came up and tried to dress his wounds as he stood. He shoved the surgeon away. The surgeon and attendants managed to take off his shirt. They reached out for his pistol.

"Get away from that," he growled, ready to fight for it.

They finally induced him to get on the table, but he clung to his pistol.

Oregon Industrial Payroll Sets Record

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 21.—Oregon's industrial payroll for the fiscal year ended July 1 hit an all-time high of $265,967,180, an increase of approximately $80,000,000 over the figure for the corresponding period last year, the state industrial accident commission announced today.

Multnomah county payrolls led the state with 49.72 per cent of the total; Marion county, 6.89 per cent; Lane county, 6.07 per cent; and Klamath county contributed 3.55 per cent of the state total.

Night Schedule Planned For Sugar Rationing

In order to serve canning-sugar users who cannot visit the rationing headquarters in the daytime, a night schedule will be maintained at the rationing office, 846 Olive street, every night during the coming week. Hours will be from 7 until 9 p. m.

The nightly schedule will continue for one week only, but in ensuing weeks, as long as there is a need for it, the office will be open one or two nights each week, Mr. Johnson said.

Road Signs Point Out Dim-Out Zone

Members of the Lane county road crew were busy Thursday posting warning signs along county roads in western Lane county—west of the Eighth meridian—calling attention to the restricted-lighting, or dimout, order of the western defense command.

State highway crews were engaged in the same task along the state routes.

The signs' public proclamation No.

10, issued Aug. 5, as a precaution against lighting which might be seen by enemy submarines menacing coastal shipping.
