

What Eugene and Lane County Churches Are Doing

Eugene Churches To Join University Students In Thanksgiving Services

Eugene churches will join with the University campus in the observance of Thanksgiving day with union services at McArthur Court next Thursday morning, the Eugene ministerial association decided this week. The services on the campus will begin at 11 o'clock.

Dean Victor P. Morris, of the school of Business Administration at the University will be the principal speaker at the services, sponsored by the activities committee of the Associated Student Body. Student Y.M.C.A. will be in charge of the program.

A committee of University students are making arrangements for the program. On the committee are Jim Thayer, Dan Potter, and Pete Howard, student YMCA head.

Rev. Williston Wirt of the First Congregational church and Rev. Herbert F. Kuehn, director of Wesley foundation at the First Methodist church will participate in the program. Gene Chicini will direct a combined choir of the singing groups of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the Pi Beta Phi sorority, winners in last year's all-campus sing. Other musical numbers are being arranged by the school of music under the direction of Dean Theodore Kraft.

A collection will be taken up for the World Student Service Fund, whose local campaign is being directed by Miss Martha Jane Switzer and Oglesby Young.

A number of Eugene churches will have their own services in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday besides participating in the Union service with the university.

St. Mary's Episcopal church will have Holy Communion at 10 o'clock. First Baptist church has arranged a service of Thanksgiving with a special Thanksgiving tree for 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening. Theme of the service at the Central Lutheran church at 10:30 Thanksgiving morning will be "Lest Gratitude Die."

Among Lane county churches announcing special services the Bethesda Lutheran church at Danabo will hold a 10:30 service; Mabel Church of the Brethren's service will be at 10 o'clock; and the Zion Church of Christ has planned a special musical program for Thanksgiving on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

DEAN VICTOR P. MORRIS, speaker at union Thanksgiving services with university and students at Eugene churches at MacArthur court Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Webster To Discuss "Coaching"

"Coaching on the Job in the Christian Ministry" is the topic to be discussed by Vance H. Webster, minister of the Baptist church, at next Monday's assembly session of the Eugene church leadership training school. The assembly, which convenes promptly at 8:20, is open to the public according to A. F. Holmer, secretary of the arrangements committee.

Monday's session of the school will be the fifth of the six Monday evenings being devoted by Eugene church people to leadership training this fall. The school, which has its headquarters at the Baptist church, Broadway at High, extends an invitation to all interested persons to attend classes on the two closing sessions whether previously registered or not. Classes begin promptly at 7:30 p.m.

EDITORIAL

WAR AND PEACE

By Norman K. Tully, pastor Central Presbyterian church
"Blessed be the Lord my strength, who teacheth my hands to war and my fingers to fight."—Ps. 144:1.
"Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."—Isa. 2:4.

An Irishman remarked recently, that this war will not end with the duration. I think he meant that, after the war of bullets has ceased, the struggle of ideas will still go on. That explains why, with the growth of our fighting fist, our interest in the quality of the peace increases. For what avail to smash the enemy in battle if we run away from our responsibility to help organize the world for peace?

Our fine talk about "freedom's unfettered chance," "a better world," and "this must not happen again," will come to nought unless we face reality.

First, we fight not merely Hitler and his gang, but the whole German people; who are militaristic by choice; who love war and pursue it; and who want no place in the sun that they do not win with their shining sword. Also, we fight not the Japanese government but the Japanese people; pagan and prolific; clever and relentless; whose minds are full of mediaeval ghosts of samurai totalitarianism. There can be no peace until the mood of these people change. Only force, force to the utmost without stint or limit, will effect the change.

Second, unless we take to heart the lessons of our history, we are not likely to make a good peace at the end of this war. We have never been able to keep out of any war that has involved the North Atlantic Ocean. This is the ninth time we have been sucked in; each time more deeply. We have never been prepared to enter any of those wars. Our sense of false security due to geography; our ingrained individualistic habits due to pioneering background; and our essential humaneness, making it obnoxious for us to build up engines of death permanently, preclude our ever being adequately prepared. We have never been able to get out of any war with a good peace; because of our wishful thinking; our flight from responsibility; and our superstition that "it can't happen to us." Some form of collective security is necessary to safeguard American freedom.

Last time the Fourteen Points were lost because our Associates in Arms were not committed to them before the peace conference, and the League of Nations was betrayed in the house of its friends. This time we and our Associates, more than twenty-six United Nations, are committed to work out at the peace table a common program of purposes and principles embodied in the Atlantic Charter.

These purposes include the disarming and curbing of aggressors until peace sentiment may get a chance again; the right and duty of nations to remain within their own borders and live there peaceably; and collaboration among nations to promote trade and raise standards of living.

These are minimum requirements of a peaceful world, but they are practicable. We may hope that by the recurrent scourge of war we are being taught the fallacy of isolated virtue, the delusion of geographic remoteness, and the necessity of some permanent system of general security.

The choice goes on forever between the warring hand and fighting fingers of the Palmist and the peaceful vision of Isaiah. Let us stand with Isaiah.
"For the dreamer lives forever,
While the fighter dies in a day."

Rev. Oscar Payne of Fairmount Church Will Call Meeting

A congregational meeting of the Fairmount Presbyterian church is to be called by the pastor, Rev. W. Payne, whose resignation becomes effective December 6 when he will assume his pastorate of the Marshfield church. The meeting will be held Nov. 29, after the morning service.

At the meeting of the Sunday school staff last Wednesday evening the resignation of Mrs. John Simons as beginners' superintendent was accepted and Miss Hattie May Renshaw was elected to finish her term as superintendent. Mrs. Frank Falk was elected treasurer of the Sunday school to succeed Miss Dorothy Miller now in Portland. Alberta Warnock was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of Miss Renshaw as secretary of the Sunday school.

Gas Ration Critics Scored by Jeffers

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—National Rubber Director William H. Jeffers said today that opposition to nationwide gasoline rationing "is an organized opposition using funds furnished by people who should know better."

"The gasoline rationing in the east saved rubber," he told the annual meeting of the Grocery Manufacturers of America. "Nationwide gasoline rationing which goes into effect Dec. 1 is only a means to an end."

"It will go into effect regardless of the organized opposition in the west. That opposition is based on the theory that there is no shortage of gasoline in the west."

After his address, which was a complete departure from his prepared speech, Jeffers told newspapermen that he had in mind as "the opposition group" organizations similar to chambers of commerce and other "well-meaning civic agencies."

Jeffers said that there were more than 6,000,000 farms in the nation and asserted that "if we can keep the men on the farms and keep our rubber, we can produce food and get it to market."

After the needs of the armed services, Jeffers continued, rubber can be used for essential driving. He defined the latter as "getting men to and from your factories, doctors, and farmers to produce and market their crops."
