

Investigation of FCC Led by Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A bill passed today by the House to investigate the Federal Communications Commission, sponsored by E. Cox, D. Ga., is the "nastiest mess" in the country.

Two faint "No's" were placed on the motion as it followed an impassioned attack on the FCC by Cox.

Accused Chairman James L. H. Doolittle and his staff are known communistic affiliates and charged the commission "repeatedly tried to get me" since the introduction of the investigation resolution last year.

Get his Gestapo, like a pack of wolves on my trail," Cox told the house.

He said they sought to investigate his mail through the post office, urged the justice department to prosecute him, and had his income tax returns over a period of ten years probed by the bureau of internal revenue.

"They even went into the income tax reports of clerks in my office," he said.

Chamber Schedules Legislation Discussion

An informal luncheon meeting of the legislative committee of the Eugene chamber of commerce, to which Lane county's five legislators to Salem have been invited, has been called for Saturday noon at the Eugene hotel by Ford Hand, chairman.

The public is invited to attend and discuss prospective legislation with the representatives and senators.

OPA Checks up on Portland C Cards

PORTLAND, Jan. 21.—O.P.A.—Richard Montgomery, state director of the office of price administration, disclosed today that a spot check by OPA investigators revealed 37 cars bearing "C" stickers parked in front of Portland night clubs, theaters and other places of amusement.

License numbers were taken and investigators are now checking with local rationing boards to determine the purpose for which the higher gasoline allotments were granted, Montgomery said.

"We recognize, of course," Montgomery said, "that all of the 37 cars may be within their rights and operating within the 90 miles a month allowed for non-essential driving. However, the ration will certainly be revoked if they are not being used in accordance with the representations made to the rationing boards."

SOCIETY

ert Goldsmith assisting. Mrs. James Stewart reviewed Thomas Kelly's "A Testament on Religion." Mrs. John Ricks and Mrs. Goldsmith were appointed to the February nursery committee. One guest, Mrs. Pillar, was present.

DINNER FRIDAY

Friendship committee dinner for Women of the Moose will be held at six-thirty o'clock Friday evening at the Moose hall. The work of all standing committees will be explained at this meeting and those initiated during the past year are urged especially to attend.

Eastside Club Planning Program

Eastside Neighborhood club was entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Jensen. Mrs. Perry Walbridge gave an interesting paper on the origin of splices. Mrs. Anna Larcom presented a program on Stephen Foster, telling of his life and work. She also reported on the national Foster celebration she attended in the east.

A special program is planned for February 1, the program to be in the Genevieve Turnipsed Sunday school room at Central Presbyterian church, Mrs. W. C. Landru in charge. A series of pictures on "New Trails of Washington and Oregon" will be presented. They are put out by the government and will be shown by a government representative. Mrs. William Kitz is to have charge of the music. All friends and all interested are invited to attend the program.

Initiation Held By Auxiliary Group

Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen held initiation of officers Wednesday evening at the Moose hall and voted to hold their next meeting on Feb. 10 at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Losers in the membership drive will entertain the winners on that night. Mrs. Max Powers and Mrs. Gordon Mead are the captains of the drive. The next social meeting will be held Feb. 24 at River Road community house. Hostesses are Mrs. Ira Lynd, Mrs. F. J. Porter, Mrs. Robert Little and Mrs. W. B. Faust.

Civilian Economy Cut To Bone, Says Nelson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—O.P.A.—War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson said today very little more can be trimmed from the civilian economy under the war effort, and that some experts believe it already has been trimmed too heavily.

Nelson said at a press conference that the four most important problems now facing his agency are:

1. Increased production of valves, heat exchangers, (cooling devices), and other parts of war weapons.
  2. Proper distribution of available materials to assure expanded production of these parts.
  3. Simplification of consumer goods.
  4. Concentration of industry.
- Nelson said little additional material could be saved for the war effort through curtailment of civilian economy.

officials of WPB that you already have trimmed civilian needs too much?" He was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"What are your feelings in the matter?"

"I have no evidence yet to show that we have trimmed too far," he replied. "On the other hand, I feel that not much more trimming can be done which would save a substantial amount of materials for the war effort."

Skating Party Planned

University, high school, junior high school students, and young people in business are invited to attend the ice skating party to be held Friday evening by the Baptist BYFUs. Cars will leave the church at Tenth and High streets at 9:45 p. m. Friday and skating will be from 10 till 12, with special party rates being accorded the group.
