Lenten Thought

Echoes

And the fame of Him went out into every place. Read Luke 4:33-37.

Luke's Greek word for "fame" is, as nearly as it can be, "echo" in English—"echo." The fame of Jesus was the echo of His ministry.

For what people say and think of us is always some echo of what we ourselves have said or been or done, coming back to us from near and far, clear, confused, magnified or muted. Children echo their parents, people their leaders, the present echoes the past. The little echoes are soon lost, the great ones roll from soul to soul. "Fame, itself," said Lowell, "is only the long reverberation of a great life."

Love and wisdom, healing and help always evoke blessed echoes. They are heard afar and sought and treasured. No wonder the fame of Jesus' words went out into every place, for peace and benediction attended them. How changed we and our world, now so deafened by the echoes of evil minds and wills, would be if all our deeds and tempers echoed His spirit.

Prayer: Grant unto us, Our Father, Who hast given us the power to choose and respond to the summons of love and goodness, so to make our own lives a response to the spirit of Thy son, that evil shall find in us no continuance and goodness a willing obedience. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.
