

Nine Killed in Crash Of Bus, Electric Train

GRANITE CITY, Ill., March 20.—(AP)—Nine persons were killed and 16 were injured today in a bus-train collision which could not have happened a second or two later.

An intercity bus almost had cleared the last rail of a grade crossing at the moment a fast Illinois terminal electric train sent it whirling top-like, smashed its front on the rebound and rammed its shattered chassis between two rows of telephone poles.

All the dead and 14 of the injured were on the bus. Two train passengers were injured slightly, although the three-car interurban remained on the tracks and continued its run after a slight delay.

Fragmentary descriptions brought forth the scene's horror, with bodies and wreckage strewn for 100 feet.

"I've been through three of these things," said Tollof Stromlund, who lives near the wreck site, "and this is the worst I ever saw."

Stromlund and his wife were first to reach the bus and they helped extricate nearly a score of trapped passengers while neighbors called ambulances.

Former City Firemen Now in North Africa

Noted Illinois Republican Dies

TUCSON, Ariz., March 20.—(AP)—Death came today to Frank O. Lowden, son of a blacksmith farmer, who rose to the governorship of Illinois during the first World War and twice was a candidate for the republican presidential nomination.

He was 82 years old. Already feeble and in ill health, he was stricken with pneumonia two weeks ago and grew progressively worse until his death.

Active in politics since the "full dinner pail" campaign of President McKinley in 1896, Lowden sought the republican presidential nomination in 1920, but withdrew on the eighth ballot when the convention became deadlocked, and Warren G. Harding was nominated on the tenth.

A serious contender in 1924 when he was strongly backed by the mid-west farm bloc, Lowden saw the nomination go to Calvin Coolidge. He refused to accept the nomination as vice president.

His farm plank figured again in the convention of 1928 when his name appeared on the Indiana ballots. This time the choice was Herbert Hoover.

In his political career of a quarter-century, Lowden held only two elective offices — congressman in 1906-11 and governor of Illinois in 1917-21.

Grant County Wild Horses Get Reprieve

CANYON CITY, March 20.—(AP)—Gov. Earl Snell granted a reprieve today to Grant county's band of 200 wild horses which had been scheduled for extermination, beginning tomorrow.

County Judge Jess Allen said today he was notified by the governor that the order authorizing cattlemen and forest service officials to shoot the animals on sight has been rescinded, perhaps permanently.
