...Hiroyasu Ino was succeeded as ...iculture and forestry minister ...Tatsunosuki Yamazaki, direc... ...of the standing committee of the imperial rule assistance association, which under the new totalitarian Japanese regime aids the government in forming poliices.

Tadao Osa, former executive adviser to the Ninseito political party, now dissolved in favor of one-party rule, was named a minister without portfolio.

The outgoing education minister, from whom Tojo took over, was Kunihiko Hashida.

The Japanese cabinet shift was announced by the Japanese official news agency Domei, as recorded by United States government listeners, and by the German official news agency DNB as heard by the United Press in London.

Whereas Domei called the shift merely "a partial reshuffle," DNB called it "far-reaching changes."

Domei quoted "political commentators" as saying that the changes "further bolstered the Japanese war-time political structure" in its broadcasts in telegraphic code, beamed to the United States.

By coincidence, Japan announced that "in order to encourage further increase of production in the steel industry, the government will grant subsidies to all undertakings in this domain." Transocean said that the Japanese government "desires to assure steel manufacturers a sufficient margin of profit while at the same time maintaining the present price level."

Lenten Thought

Mornings and Nights

And in the day time he was teaching in the temple and at night he went out. Read Luke 21:37 and 22: 1-6.

So Jesus in the little time left Him went on with His work, teaching "as though He were to live forever" there in Jerusalem, faithful to His appointed task and conforming to the immemorial habit of life, labor and rest. This is the nobler pattern into which the incidents and arguments of His last days fit themselves. He was about His Father's work, he had begun it in the temple and there He would finish it, framed by the days, between mornings and nights. The controversies were fugitive. His high courage and devotions are our continuing example.

In our own times of uncertainty we do best in our appointed places, doing our own proper work continuing the habit of life, labor and rest. "Bring in the candles," said the leader of Connecticut's legislative assembly on the famous "dark day." "If this is the Day of Judgment let us be found at our posts."

"Death's but another tomorrow."
Prayer:
"O Son of Man, thou madest known,
Through quiet work in shop and home,
The sacredness of common things,
The chance of life that each day brings,
Thou Masterworkman, grant us grace,
The challenge of our tasks to face;
By loyal scorn of second best,
By effort true, to meet each test." Amen.

MORE ITALIAN PRISONERS TAKEN BY TUNISIA YANKS — With its palm trees, mountains and sunny atmosphere, this scene might be a Hollywood movie set—but it isn't. It's all too real for this line of Italian war prisoners, part of a bag of 1400 captured by American soldiers at El Guettar, who are being marched into a Tunisia stockade before internment in a permanent prison camp. KITTY CAPERS

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—A cat's curiosity was credited by Mrs. Frank Riegger with saving her home from fire.

The cat yelled each time sparks from a short circuit in an electric light cord under the davenport made a popping sound. Finally Mrs. Riegger investigated, discovered fire. The blaze was extinguished and the cat went to sleep—under the davenport.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

ALBANY, Ore., April 21.—(AP)—Mountain States Power company declared a dividend today of 62½ cents a share on 5 per cent preferred stock and 37½ cents on common shares for the quarter ended March 31. President Z. E. Merrill reported net income of $673,691 for the 12 months ended Feb. 28, a .07 per cent decrease from the previous year.

Chennault Calls for Attacks on Japan

FOURTEENTH U. S. AIR-FORCE HEADQUARTERS, China, April 21—(U.P.)—Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, U. S. air force chief in China, warned today that the allies must continue to pour the heat on Japan to prevent exploitation of conquered areas for war purposes.

In his first analysis of the Pacific situation since becoming commander of the 14th U. S. air force, Chennault said the Japanese may try a limited offensive to forestall an allied drive "which they know is coming" but he doubted they plan a major move at this time.

He hinted the Japanese may be running short of trained manpower and materials to cover the broad Pacific and far eastern land and sea fronts.

"The pilots here are inferior to those used a year ago," he said, "and destroyed equipment is all new."

He revealed Chinese pilots now are flying in combat formation on full operational duty with Americans and said they would participate in flying missions when the weather permits.

"I defy anybody to tell the difference between American and Chinese pilots in combat," Chennault said.

Chennault suspected that the Japanese were sending their best airmen to other theaters, avoiding combat in China, but he reported that some of the new equipment brought down and examined here showed they were making an effort to match superior U. S. firepower, and were further streamlining their planes.

Along with Chennault's report of lessening Japanese strength here, Burma refugees said the Japanese there were walking now instead of riding in trucks, indicating that allied air attacks on gasoline supplies were having their effect.

Much-Married Manville to Try Over Again

"Here's your answer to many a meal planning problem!"

I'm mighty thankful for an unrestricted food item like Albers Flapjack & Waffle Flour. It's opened up a whole new field of wartime cookery to me! And, too, the eight original flapjack ingredients in ready-mixed Albers Flapjack Flour—the specially milled flours, and the special sugar and salt—are all expertly blended to make every Albers flapjack and waffle a tender-textured, golden-brown work of art with that real old-fashioned buttermilk flavor!

ALBERS FLAPJACKS FOR LUNCH OR SUPPER ON "MEATLESS" DAYS

Creamed eggs or peas on melt-in-your-mouth Albers Flapjacks make good meat substitutes—and mighty good eating. Welsh rarebit on Flapjacks is another meatless recipe that hits the spot. Chili con carne on corn meal Flapjacks is also very satisfying on meatless days.

SOME "MEAT EXTENDERS" SERVED ON ALBERS FLAPJACKS

A little meat will go a long way when creamed, or creamed and combined with chopped hard boiled eggs or peas. Served on golden-brown Albers Flapjacks, the following are delicious: Creamed left-over pork, ham, veal or beef • Creamed chipped beef with peas • Cut pork sausages with cream gravy.

SOME ALBERS WAFFLE RECIPES YOU'LL LIKE

Nut waffles: add ½ cup of chopped pecans or peanuts to the regular Albers Crispy Waffles recipe • Fruit waffles: add ½ cup of berries or chopped fruit to the regular waffle recipe • Corn flake waffles: add 1½ cups of Albers Corn Flakes to the regular waffle recipe • For lunch or supper: serve Albers Crispy Waffles covered with creamed shrimp or crab.
