

Health Improved, T. B. Threat seen

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — After months of war Americans are healthier than they have ever been but these men and women are not immune to tuberculosis. Dr. James H. Paullin, president-elect of the American Medical Association, has reported.

He warned in an interview that tuberculosis is the one disease most likely to increase under war conditions "because of longer hours of work, harder work, more fatigue, less food and high nervous strain."

"This is the disease we should watch out for," he said. "But now slight colds and chronic bronchitis are shrugged off because of the desire to work as hard as possible toward winning the war."

While venereal disease has been on the increase since the war started, Dr. Paullin said the problem was "simply an old question of morale undoubtedly affected by the war—but tuberculosis increases can be directly attributed to war working and living conditions."

QUESTIONED — Frank Ontiveras, above, tannery employee, is shown in San Mateo, Calif., where he was questioned during investigation into the death of his estranged wife, Mrs. Martha Nazare Ontiveras. The body of Mrs. Ontiveras was discovered in a ditch near there but cause of death was undetermined.

day program. The princesses were Shirley Woodard, Edith Gamet, Chloris Roberts, and Anne Armstrong. Joyce Baldwin, also a princess, was absent from the ceremony because of illness.

The victory day program was as follows: A concert by the high school band, under the direction of Mr. Myron Blackwell, two songs by a seventh and eighth grade girls' chorus, directed by Miss Jackson, welcome by Robert Daugherty, president of the student body, the coronation of the queen by Larry Levens, president of the chamber of commerce and the coronation of the crown princess, Joanne Sloan, by Queen Carolyn Englund; a pageant, "What Cottage Grove Is Contributing toward Victory," under the supervision of Mrs. Loveless, narrated by Kenneth Franklin.

Following the program, a championship volleyball game between juniors and freshmen was played with the juniors winning.

The new members of the National Honor Society were formally initiated at a brief candlelight ceremony Tuesday evening, at the high school. The honored guests were parents of the initiates and faculty members. Refreshments were served. Bob Daugherty sang a solo accompanied on the piano by Helen Smith.

At the last meeting of the Home Economic club elected their next year's officers. The honors were bestowed upon the following: President, Bernadine Loomis; vice-president, Hazel Hutchinson; secretary, Evelyn Hutchinson; treasurer, Madeline Occumpaugh; historian, Betty Caviness; club reporter, Hazel Hutchinson.

Ranking Seniors Named By Class

COTTAGE GROVE. — Seven outstanding girls and five outstanding boys were elected by the senior class during a meeting last week to be the final group from which one boy and one girl will be chosen by the faculty to represent the American Legion awards commencement night. The girls elected were: Alberta Adkins, Joyce Baldwin, Donna Chestnut, Mary Decker, Leona Hamill, Betty Thompson, and Lorraine Voss. The boys elected were: Ralph Allen, Bob Daugherty, Fay Davis, Neil Hammond, and Kenneth Loveless. It will not become known until commencement night, May 25, who the outstanding boy and girl to receive the awards will be. In order to be eligible for these awards, the student must have attended Cottage Grove union high school for at least three years.

A large group attended "Lost Horizon," the senior play, last Friday night. The play was directed by Mrs. Julia Shick, the stage crew by Miss Dorothy Parks. Especially effective were the roles of Conway, the Consul played by Charles Cooley; Mallinson, the vice-consul by Kenneth Franklin; the English girl, Helen, by Carolyn Englund.

Preceding the play the royal victory court, made up of Queen Carolyn Englund, Crown Princess Joanne Sloan and their princesses and escorts, was ushered to the section reserved for them in the auditorium.

Carolyn Englund was crowned victory queen and Joanne Sloan crown princess Friday, when the high school presented its Victory
