Mid-Week News In Monroe Reported

MONROE — As Rev. and Mrs. Cookingham and a group of young people were returning Saturday evening from Eugene, they had a narrow escape from a serious accident. Just before they reached a small bridge between Junction City and Monroe, a man driving a car with a trailer met them. As he crossed the bridge, his trailer struck the side, wrecking the trailer completely and throwing the whole outfit into the ditch. Rev. Mr. Cookingham assisted the man from his car, and then pulled it from the ditch with his own machine, which would have been in the same case had he reached the bridge a moment sooner. The man was not hurt and went on his way with only a wreck for a trailer.

and visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carpenter, last week. His parents, T. H. Carpenter and Mrs. Blanche Carpenter, accompanied him from Portland. Earle Eastburne, called "Swede" by his friends, was graduated May 6 as an anti-aircraft gunner, with a first-class seaman's rating. He has been attending an armed guard school at a destroyer base. Earle, who is an alumnus of Monroe Union high school, enlisted in January, and was sent to Boot Camp at Farragut, Ida., then later transferred to San Diego.

The high school girls' glee club gave a concert Friday evening in honor of their mothers. The program consisted of songs by the club, a reading by Eileen Moore, and two solos by Peggy Marie Hill. Eleanor Bailey, Margaret Krieman, Harold Wright, and Miss Florence Kenzler represented the Christian Youth Group of Monroe Methodist church at the Eugene Youth conference Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wills of Eugene, were guests from Friday until Sunday of Mrs. Wills' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Linn. The two couples motored to Astoria on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McMillan, daughter of Mrs. S. W. Baskin and Mrs. Wirth. The women of the club visited their mother, Mrs. R. L. Jackson at Albany.
