

Chest Adds to Funds For Juvenile Groups

The Eugene community and war chest directors at their May monthly meeting decided to make modest wartime increases and readjustments in the budgets allotted to the various youth agencies engaged in meeting the problem of juvenile delinquency.

This action was taken on recommendation of the executive committee of the chest.

"The purpose," Cluff A. Houghlum, president of the community and war chest explained today, "is to strengthen the local agencies to do a better job and meet more adequately the wartime needs of our rapidly growing community. The question of juvenile delinquency is being given serious consideration, and it is the hope of the directors of the chest that the budget changes will help materially in the constructive work needed to meet this particular need."

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 20.—(AP)—What is the picture foreign food conference delegates are getting of the United States?

Some of them represent enemy-occupied and starving countries. All are here to discuss ways and means of easing or preventing hunger in the post-war world.

In conferences they may get one view. But outside the meetings, here's what they see:

High among the laurel-clad hills of the Alleghenies, they are gathered in a well-fed, well-heeled atmosphere—in the $12-a-day-minimum elegance of the Homestead hotel, where steak, potatoes and coffee are on the regular menu.

Comfort and relaxation are the slogans here.

Luxury shops line the hotel corridors. There's a stock ticker in the office of a stock exchange house in the lavishly carpeted lobby.

The Virginia state liquor control board, at the request of the state department, has permitted importation of about 2,400 pints of liquor (there are 157 delegates and 281 aides attending the two-week sessions) to augment the one gallon which each delegate and attache could bring in personally under Virginia's liquor law.

If any delegate wants to remove a little fat (the hotel calls it "obesity"), he can do so in a specially-equipped gymnasium where flabby businessmen try to snap their muscles back into shape.

There are many other ways for delegates to enjoy themselves in the way wealthy guests will resume enjoying themselves here after the conference ends. (All guests had to leave before the conferences. Some of them simply adjourned to another hotel owned by the same corporation three miles away.)

The delegates have plenty of elbow room, because the Virginia Hot Springs corporation, which owns the hotel, also owns 17,000 acres of property hereabouts.

Hotel literature announces that "all this domain is more like a feudal barony, perhaps, than like a commercial property in the 20th century."

All life at Hot Springs revolves around the corporation, which owns most of the property on the town's one street. White persons' homes are scattered around the neighborhood of that street. Negro hotel employees live in a colony about a mile away.

Squiggled around the hotel's domain are private estates listed on a lobby map as belonging to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and the Baronesse Rosenkrantz, among others.

More than 200 persons are employed at the hotel, where bellmen

Pie Social Held By Group At Ada

ADA.—The pie social and party dance held at Ada hall Saturday night were successful. The music was furnished by George Pieap with his accordion, and Olga Pieap with the guitar. Wesley Way auctioned the pies about midnight, and the entertainment committee reported that $38.00 had been taken in. The proceeds are to be donated to the Red Cross to help toward fixing up a day room for the service men at the Washink camp.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Moss received two letters from their son, Arthur, who is in the U.S. army. He is fully recovered from a wounded shoulder and is back at duty. This was the first word they had received from him since the notification of his injury.

Wallace Henderson of the U. S. navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henderson, of Smith River, has been home on a 10-day furlough, and visited at the Glen Scott home.

Edwin Scott, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Scott, former residents on upper Fiddle Creek, but now of Tulalake, Cal., is in the navy, and at present is located at the training station at Farragut, Idaho.

H. E. Unit
The Home Extension unit meeting was held recently at the home of Ethel Martin. The topic for study was making smooth fitting plackets, bound button holes, and set in pockets. Allie Austin was the project leader. The group entertained the North Fork unit members as visitors for the day. A buffet luncheon was served at noon. During the afternoon session the nominating committee, consisting of Gertrude Christensen, and Lillian Scott, nominated Margaret Johnson to be re-elected as vice-chairman, and Ethel Martin as secretary-treasurer. Lettie Miles was nominated as librarian. These nominations were accepted and Myrtle Martin was nominated from the floor and elected as chairman for the coming year. Ruby Miles is the retiring chairman.

Russ Hogue has been laid up for several days with an injured leg which he hurt while getting out some timbers for farm use.

Walter Saffley, who has been working for W. E. Porterfield has left for Tacoma, Wash., where he plans to visit his daughter.

Physical Test Taken At UO

One final examination that students can pass without cramming has been devised by the university's school of physical education. Dean Ralph W. Leighton announced that the tests taken this week will be used to extend and balance the physical program for next term.

Under the program now set up, students are tested for strength, speed, endurance, and agility in a variety of exercises that tax all the muscles used by a fighting man or an athlete. After a term in the gymnasium or on the field, the same students are again tested for development. The results are used to determine which sports and developmental exercises may best be combined for maximum value.

After the physically fit Oregon men had gone to their showers, the instructors tabulated scores and found several significant facts. A sport like football, for example, must be supplemented by additional exercises to develop arm and shoulder muscles. Wrestling, a good all around body builder, develops a high degree of ability and balance but it, too, needs a supplementary exercise like rope climbing. Dean Leighton emphasized that the rope climb will be one of the important exercises next year because of its general benefit in developing little used muscles. The armed forces stress rope climbing in all their physical programs. The obstacle course is used for both training and conditioning.

Deadline Set On Clover Seed Buying
Clothing date for the men's 1942 seed program has been set at June 1. AAA office announced this. Purchase of cover crop seed on that date, and growers still holding seed they wish to the government are asked to execute the proper papers to their county AAA committee for them.

As announced last fall, the purchase program will be used for the 1943 crop on substantially the same basis as last year. To date the government has purchased from Oregon growers million pounds of last year's seed. More than half of the total was Austrian winter peas, varieties of winter peas, common ryegrass, hairy vetch, crimson clover, rough vine and purple vetch.
