'Poppy Days' Set by Mayor's Proclamation

Co-operating with the members of American Legion post No. 3 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, post No. 293 of Eugene, Mayor Elisha Large has issued a proclamation proclaiming two days of next week, Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29, as official Poppy Days, for selling of the Memorial Poppies made by disabled veterans of the first World War.

Both organizations of veterans, assisted by women's organizations, will sell the little red flowers of remembrance on the streets of Eugene on those days. The poppies are made by hospitalized veterans of Oregon, who are part of the large number in the 82 Veterans' Administration facilities located in 45 states and the District of Columbia.

Money from their sale is returned directly to the veterans, and to some is practically their only source of income.

The mayor's proclamation, follows: "Whereas, in the midst of these days of warfare it is the part of all citizens also to keep in mind the debt of honor owed to our veterans of past wars and the present world war conflict, and

Whereas, two organizations of veterans have a custom annually of selling poppies in commemoration of the soldier dead and for the benefit of the disabled veterans of those former wars and World War 2, now therefore: "I, Elisha Large, Mayor of the City of Eugene, do hereby officially declare that the two days, Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29, shall be designated Poppy Days, for observance by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the tradition of selling poppies."

Police to Check Up On Driving Speeds

Motorists who exceed the 35-mile wartime speed, the maximum allowed under OPA mileage rationing regulations, will be "clocked" by the Oregon state police in a program to prevent tire abuse worked out in cooperation with the district OPA, Richard G. Montgomery, director, announced today.

Under an agreement with Superintendent of Police Charles P. Pray, state enforcement officers will immediately begin "clocking" speeding motorists and report details of the violations to the state police headquarters at Salem. There names of registered owners will be verified and violators reported to the OPA district office in Portland for hearing and appropriate action by local war price and rationing boards.

"This enforcement program is extremely important to rubber conservation," Montgomery declared, "for speeding constitutes a serious abuse of tires. Drivers generally are observing the 35-mile rule, but with the advent of good weather speeding has increased. Despite recently published statements giving an optimistic view of the future rubber situation, our tire stocks in this area and on the entire West Coast are seriously low, with no early prospects of improvement. With good news coming in from the fighting fronts, our efforts should be redoubled, not slackened."

For some months past, ration boards have been revoking some or all of mileage coupons from motorists convicted in municipal court of exceeding the 35-mile speed rule, Montgomery said.

Glass Coffee Jars May Be Sealed

Most of the non-standard size screwtop jars, such as those used for most coffee brands, are now being made with a 2 1/4-inch top. The fruit jar manufacturing companies are now making sealer disks that will fit these and which can be sealed on by using the screwtop lids that come on the original package.

While these may not yet be stocked in some stores, the extension service, as well as most dealers, has been notified that they will
