Some say the first ever, others say the first in 16 years.

Anyway, Junction City's 1943 baseball team won the school's first District 6 diamond championship in many a moon at Howe Field Thursday afternoon, when it out-battered Ford Mullen's Eugene Axemen, 7 to 5 in a playoff game for the league crown.

It was a reversal from last Tuesday's 1-to-0 Eugene victory when Lefty Mortenson and Ray Brauner engaged in a pitching duel. The hitters went on the warpath Friday, and it was a question of which pitching staff could hold out.

Coach Frank Thomas tossed Mortenson at the Axemen Thursday after only two days rest, and the muscular lad was pitching mostly on a prayer late in the game when the Eugene team put some powder in their bats at the plate. He had the contest well under control early in the game, however.

Bill Elder, transfer from Grant high in Portland, started for the Axemen, and was effective till the third inning. He had a hard time finding the plate throughout, walking 5 men in the four innings plus that he worked. He retired midway in the fifth after R. Mohler had scored three runs with a long home run over the centerfielder's head—momentarily misjudged. Brauner finished the game and allowed one earned run in the seventh inning when he also began to show effects of Tuesday's game.

Ralph Mohler, catcher transfer from California, the best in the league although only a sophomore, was poison with a capital "P." He got two singles and a home-run in four trips to the platter, scored one run and batted in five of the seven.

His brother, Harold, thirdbaseman, kept the family pride burning by getting two hits in three attempts, scoring three runs and batting in one more.

Rightfielder Charles McCloskey, who has got at least two hits in the last four games, was the Axemen's most potent hitter. McCloskey got two hits, including a home-run off Mortenson, batted in three runs and scored two others. Catcher Clyde Green also got two hits for Eugene.

The first two innings were scoreless, neither pitcher being in real trouble. But in the third, Junction's "big four" power-boys found the range, and three runs scored before the side was retired. Elder helped things along by walking the first two men. Bill Seigman, H. Mohler, Mortenson, and R. Mohler connected for four successive singles before Eugene could get the third out.

Junction rested one inning, but in the fifth, the "power-boys" again found the range, which spelled curtains for Eugene. H. Mohler singled, Mortenson walked, and brother Ralph came through with his four-ply swat, sending Elder to the showers. Brauner retired the side without further damage.

Eugene found Mortenson for two hits and two runs in the fifth. With one out, McCloskey singled and Charley Mickleson walked. Herb Gilbert rifled a one-bagger to left field, McCloskey scoring and Mickleson going to third. Jack Fassett hit a long fly to centerfield, the runner scoring from third after the catch.

In the sixth, Al Caldwell walked with one away. Green singled to center, but Harv Humphrey forced the Eugene catcher at second on a fielder's choice, Caldwell going to third. At that point, McCloskey hit his home-run inside the left-field foul line.

Junction added one for good measure in the seventh. H. Mohler and Mortenson were issued free passes, and R. Mohler scored his brother with a single to center. Mortenson was out attempting to take third on the play. Carl Neilson was safe on an error, and after a pop-up to the shortstop, Palmer Soranson singled to center, but H. Mohler was trapped between third and home and finally tagged out by the catcher.

Phillies Shut Out Cubs Twice To Shock Majors

By PAUL SCHEFFELS

NEW YORK, May 21. — (U.P.) — The front-running clubs in the National league today had an unexpectedly difficult problem to contend with in the unlooked-for potency of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies have never been taken seriously by anybody in the senior loop, but Bill Cox's army now is staging a march toward the top of the National league that has been gathering speed at an almost fantastic pace. Right now the Brooklyn Dodgers' lead over the Phils stands at only 3½ games.

Whatever formula Cox has used to mold the Phillies into a contending club should be recorded with the bureau of vital statistics, because he apparently has succeeded where dozens of others failed.

His club now has won five in a row, a feat unique in the Quaker city's National league history, but yesterday the Phillies performed in a fashion almost without parallel in the dismal annals of these perennial doormats by whitewashing the Chicago Cubs, 3-0 and 2-0.

Charley Fuchs and Al Gear-Heauser fashioned twin four-hitters as the Cubs got only one man as far as third in 18 innings. Not a single Bruin reached third, and it was Pinky May's long double—one of nine hits off Bill Lee—that provided the deciding run in the opener.

Only Stan Hack hobbled as far as third in the nightcap as the Phillies combined two of their four hits off Rick Barrett with a walk and Ed Stanky's wild heave to garner their two runs in the third inning.

The Dodgers defeated the Cardinals, 5-2, for an even division of their four-game series and kept a game and a half in front of the idle Boston Braves. Rube Melton, who defeated the Red Birds in the opener of the set, came back again to hamstring St. Louis with seven scattered safeties for his second victory. Mort Cooper was nailed for eight blows, Billy Herman solving him for a pair of doubles that sent three runs home.

The Boston Red Sox sliced out a pair of victories over the Cleveland Indians, 2-1 (10-innings) and 7-4.

Oscar Judd unloosed an effective assortment of southpaw slants that held Cleveland to seven hits for his second victory in the first game. Johnny Peacock pushed home the winning run with a single after Johnny Lazor had walked and moved up on a sacrifice.

The Indians used 20 men in the nightcap, including a sextet of slingers, but the Red Sox broke a 4-4 tie with two runs in the eighth and another in the ninth. Pinch-hitter Dee Miles' two-run double off Mike Naynick sewed up the contest in the eighth as four Boston pitchers allowed a total of eight hits.

The weather man again hacked a wide swath in both leagues, wiping out Cincinnati at New York and Pittsburgh at Boston in the National league and double-headers between Washington and St. Louis, Philadelphia and Chicago and a single twilight game—New York at Detroit.

Springfield Netmen Slate Grants Pass

The Springfield high school tennis team, high-hatted by the Portland interscholastic athletic league, is expected to meet Grants Pass in a challenge match either here on the University of Oregon courts or at Roseburg Saturday. The Cavemen claim the southern Oregon championship.

The Miller netmen, victors in 15 straight scholastic matches during the past two years, claimed the mythical state championship a week ago and accepted the challenge of Grant high of Portland last Wednesday. But after making the long jaunt to the Rose City the Miller discovered that the Portland sports moguls had refused the Generals permission to compete—even in an unofficial match. So the 250-mile trip, and E. H. Silke's gasoline coupons were wasted.

Silke, superintendent of schools at Springfield and an ardent sports fan, became interested in the coach-less Millers and was convinced the youngsters should be given a chance to vie for the state championship which they claimed. "They'll all be in the army or navy soon and they should be given a chance to compete while they're in school," Silke said.

The superintendent offered to furnish transportation for a challenge match, but after the Portland jaunt he has just enough gas rationed for a necessary business trip. That's the reason the Millers couldn't go to Grants Pass.

Among the Millers' 15 victims this season have been Salem, Corvallis, Eugene, and Roseburg, a team that claims a victory over Grants Pass. The personnel of the team is Ray Stratton, Jim Oram, Larry Moore, Rex Stratton, and LeRoy Owings. Ray Stratton is the 1942 Oregon Junior Olympics singles champion.

Novikoff Holdout All But Over, Cub Star Reveals

By LISLE SHOEMAKER
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—(U.P.)—Hulking Lou Novikoff slouched in the luxurious business office of the Los Angeles Angels today, propped his feet on a shiny desk and confidently awaited word from the Chicago Cubs which would end his holdout.

"It's about all over but the playing," he grinned. "I met 'em half way, more or less, and now I'm just waiting to hear if they'll pay me from the start of the season."

The big righthander howitzer had his bags all packed and would hop on a train for the east tonight if the Cubs agree. Throughout his two months of idleness, he has said repeatedly that "the Cubs need me and I need the Cubs."

Novikoff said his demand for retroactive pay was the only obstacle to complete agreement. On all other issues, he said, he came to terms last night after dickering all day with Clarence (Pants) Rowland, president of the Los Angeles team who did the talking for the Cubs.

Rowland, a member of the Chicago organization, was thrown off stride slightly when, after reaching the salary agreement, Novikoff brought up the question of back pay.

"I thought we were all through," Rowland said.

"Not by a long shot," answered the self-styled screwball. "I'll hafta be paid for this time I've been keeping in shape."

Novikoff said he didn't think this was asking too much because he's kept himself ready to play at a moment's notice and that his time was worth as much to him as anyone else.

"Man, those Cubs are way down in the basement but I'll start connecting and shoot 'em right back up like a barrage balloon, I hope," he said.

Banquet Fetes Oregon Nine

The University of Oregon baseball team, champions of the northern division, Pacific coast conference for the fourth time in five years, will be feted at the Eugene hotel at 6 p. m. Sunday.

Anson B. Cornell, Oregon athletic manager, said that the event will be open to any Oregon sports follower or those interested in baseball who make reservations at the Eugene hotel before 6 p. m. Saturday. The cost will be $1.50 per plate.

Coach Howard Hobson and the official baseball party will number aproximately 40. The location of the banquet will depend on the number of reservations received.

Majors Adjust Player Rosters to 25 Limit

NEW YORK, May 21.—(U.P.)—A special dispensation from baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today permitted the Boston Braves to have one player more than the 25-man limit.

The annual limitation of big league squads became effective at midnight last night, but the draft status of pitcher Lou Tost led Landis to allow the Braves to hold the southpaw moundsman until next Wednesday when he reports to his board.

The Braves are the only club in the majors still above the limit.

Tost, who hails from Evansville, Ind., will not be permitted to play until his draft status is decided. At that time the Braves will have to cut their squad to the regular limit.

The Brooklyn Dodgers closed two last-minute deals that put them one man under the line. Veteran infielder Alex Kampouris was sold to the Washington Senators and pitcher Newt Kimball was peddled to the Philadelphia Phillies. Both deals were straight cash transactions.

Earlier, Brooklyn dropped two other players. Shortstop Pat Ankenman was optioned to Montreal of the International league and catcher Ray Hayworth was given his outright release.

Pitchers Fred Sanford and Sid Peterson were shuttled to Toledo of the American Association on a 24-hour recall basis and Manager Luke Sewell, a catcher, was taken off the active list to bring the St. Louis Browns in line.

Stars Snap Angel Streak

Dickshot Hits Again; Turpin Beats Bevos.

By United Press

The record victory series of the Los Angeles Angels was at an end today as the Los Angeles club continued its cross-town series against Hollywood, the team that stopped the Angels after 20 successive wins.

Hollywood, winning 4 to 2 yesterday, scored three runs in the fourth inning, enough to beat the Angels, then picked up another in the ninth. Los Angeles scored both its runs in the third.

Veteran Roy Joiner of the Stars yielded 11 hits, but kept them well scattered. Four Los Angeles pitchers gave up the same number of hits, but Hollywood managed to land at the right time.

San Francisco strengthened its hold on second place, eight games behind Los Angeles, by edging the Oakland Acorns 5 to 4 in an 18 inning game.

Sam Gibson of the Seals and Jack Lotz of the Oaks both pitched 17 innings, but Kleinke replaced Lotz for the Acorns and let in two runs. He walked Frenchy Uhalt, who scored on a triple by George Metkovich. He walked Steinbacher and Suhr to fill the bases, but Del Young connected for a single to center, scoring Metkovich.

Oakland picked up one run in the 18th, breaking the 3 to 3 tie, but the edge didn't stand.

Sacramento dropped San Diego 5 to 4 in 11 innings. San Diego opened the scoring with two in the second, and Sacramento ran in four in the fourth. The Padres picked up their third run in the fifth and another in the ninth to tie the score. Sacramento came through with the winning run in the second overtime inning.

The Portland Beavers left 15 men on bases in their game with Seattle and the Rainiers won, 5 to 3. A three-run rally in the fifth put the Seattle club in front, 4 to 3, followed by another score in the eighth.

Ernie Lombardi's Father Passes Away

OAKLAND, Cal., May 20.—(U.P.)—Dominic Lombardi, 66, father of Ernie Lombardi, veteran big league baseball catcher, died last night at his home following a long illness.

His son, now catcher for the New York Giants, was enroute here by airplane. Funeral arrangements will await his arrival.

The elder Lombardi had been in poor health for four years and was critically ill for three months prior to his death. He suffered two strokes recently.

Ernie was a holdout from the Boston Braves this spring, partly because he didn't want to go east during his father's illness. The Braves sold him to the Giants after Ernie expressed a desire to be traded.

Jack Defends Title Tonight

NEW YORK, May 21.—(U.P.)—When the boxing lights come on again in Madison Square Garden tonight after an absence of seven weeks, two negroes will fight for the lightweight championship of the world for the first time in modern ring history.

In that smoke-modulated patch of ring light, Champion Beau Jack, ex-bootblack from Georgia, and Bob Montgomery, blacksmith's helper in a Pennsylvania shipyard, will battle for pugilism's richest wartime crown.

With Sgt. Joe Louis and other headline heavyweights in service, young Beau Jack—riding a string of 16 straight victories—is the big money fighter of our day. And he is favored at 11-5 to keep the ring's most coveted crown despite the prowess of the Philadelphia challenger.

Jack, only 22, is favored over his more experienced 24-year-old opponent because of his speed and lightning-fast "jungle" reactions. But Philadelphia Bob is so well supported and so highly regarded that a near-capacity crowd of 19,000 and a gate of $90,000 is expected.

Huskies Favored In Track Meet

SEATTLE, May 20—(P)—The entrance of only 10 men yesterday dimmed somewhat the chances of the University of Oregon in the coast conference northern division track meet here Saturday.

Among the missing from the Oregon roster was Ray Dickson, ace broad jumper and low hurdler. Another setback for the Webfoots is the recent illness of Don Wilson, distance runner.

Washington has entered 23 men, Oregon State 12, Washington State 12, Idaho 22 and Montana three.

Washington State's small squad includes five potential first place winners.

At Pullman yesterday Coach Babe Hollingbery said his squad "should take two or three firsts, but added: "we can't be expected to do much."

Hollingbery said he did not expect Jeff Person, pole vaulter who had been counted on for some points, to make the trip because of an ankle injury. Les Lieble, distance man, is suffering from an undetermined chest ailment but Hollingbery expressed the hope it was not too serious.

Colonel Bill Hayward, Oregon track coach, announced Friday morning that Don Wilson will make the trip to Seattle in capacity of team trainer, and Tom Boylen, who ran such a fine mile against Oregon State last week, has been added to the squad.

The Duck squad left early Friday morning for Seattle, but Hayward will make the trip by auto.

'Slip' Madigan Plans Race Track Opening

OAKLAND, Cal., May 21.—(U.P.)—Slip Madigan, who quit the gridiron after coaching the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's into national prominence, today planned to bring the Golden Gate race track out of insolvency if he can get permission to operate it.

Madigan has applied to Lt. Gen. John L. DeWitt, head of the western defense command, for a permit to hold a meet. But in addition he must also obtain an okey from the California racing board, holders of liens against the plant, and the Santa Fe railroad, which owns the property on which the $2,000,000 track is located.

Madigan's application calls for a 45-day meeting beginning August 24. The oval was opened in 1941 but rain turned the course into a veritable quagmire and contributed greatly to its failure.
