Fan Fare

By Glenn Hasselroth
At the McDonald: THE GOOD FELLOWS THE OKLAHOMA KID Cecil Kellaway, that easy-going Australian actor, appears as a family man whose lodge is his life. In the screened version of an old play by George S. Kaufman and Herman Mankiewicz, "The Good Fellows," he is the grand Caesar of an organization called the Ancient Order of Nobler Romans, Wakefield encampment. He's so fascinated by lodge work that his business suffers, his bills pile up, his mother-in-law becomes franker than she used to be, and his family decide they had better desert the sinking ship before they, too, are drowned in Father's perpetual good fellowship. Kathleen Lockhart plays his wife, Mabel Paige her mother, self-conscious Diana Hale his baby daughter and Helen Walker his grown-up daughter. James Brown carries on a romance with pretty Miss Walker (the ingenue who made a USO tour with Buck Buchanan last summer). Most of this has the clumsy framework of a high school play. But it should hand lots of laughs to anybody who has a joiner in his family. The lodge goings-on and ritual are so broadly burlesqued that no one will take offense. For example, the official greeting is "Eternal shall be our love, O brother!" Maybe the moral to this one is "When in Rome (or Wakefield), do as the Romans do—but don't overdo it!" One of James Cagney's reissued efforts, "The Oklahoma Kid," tops the bill. The cast lists Humphrey Bogart (this was made in the days before he smoothed out his English to become a lover), Rosemary Lane, and Donald Crisp. It's one of the better westerns, sort of a Warner Brothers succotash. For some reason, watching it, we kept expecting Errol Flynn to dash gallantly from behind a cactus, pull his shootin' irons, fire once, and gallop away toward Oklahoma City with Olivia DeHavilland clinging on for dear life.

John Charles McConnell
John Charles McConnell, 77, a resident of Eugene for 11 years, died Thursday morning at a local hospital. Born Nov. 6, 1864, in Wisconsin, he had lived in the west, coming to Eugene from Seattle. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, and a life member of the Elks lodge, holding his membership in St. Mary's, Idaho. He had made his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Furrer, on Route 3. Surviving him are the one daughter, Mrs. Furrer; six grandchildren; two sisters and three brothers in the middle west. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9 a. m., at St. Mary's Catholic church. Rev. Francis Leipzig officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

SEA LION BLUES
EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A government order freezing herring has undone a sea lion at Mesker park 2-0, Superintendent Robert McEraw said, but the sea lion, deprived of his first choice, fell ill and died.
