FSA Borrowers Hear Hog, Dairy Tax Talks

Government restrictions on the slaughter of hogs for sale was lifted for 90 days, effective November 17, O. S. Fletcher, Lane county agricultural agent, told farmers assembled for the annual FSA borrowers meeting, held at the fair grounds Saturday.

Storage places are so full of pork that the government had to relieve the pressure and spread the pork market. No permits will now be necessary for the slaughter of hogs, Fletcher said, but farmers must still accept ration points for the sale of meat. Points have been lowered but ceiling prices are unchanged.

The county agent also advised assembled farmers to take advantage of the dairy feed payments program of the AAA. Anyone selling milk or cream is eligible for this government subsidy, he said, but evidences of milk and cream sales must be in his office by November 30. A statement signed by the consumer of such commodities will serve as evidence of sale, Fletcher stated.

Fletcher predicted that by spring the farm machinery situation of the farmer will have eased up some. Machinery is now reaching dealers he said, and the whole picture looks better.

Fred Huber, deputy collector in charge of the Eugene internal revenue office, advised the farmers on their 1943 income tax returns.

Estimated returns must be filed by December 15 by all farmers who receive 80 per cent of their income from farming. The entire tax must be paid at that time, Huber said. This does not eliminate the return which must be filed between January 1 and March 15, the deputy collector warned. A farmer cannot make his December 15 estimate lower than 33 1/3 per cent without being penalized. Huber also warned the FSA clients.
