

Horticultural Program Mapped

A horticultural program for 1944 was outlined at a meeting Monday afternoon of officers and committeemen of the Lane County Horticultural society, acting as project committeemen of the Lane county horticultural council. This was one of a series of project committee meetings being held to outline programs for various branches of the farming industry in Lane county.

The committee made recommendations for a program covering the field of fruits, nuts and truck crops, placing emphasis on the control of diseases and pests to the end that good crops and a high quality of produce be raised. Specific recommendations were made under the head of cherries, peaches, nuts, small fruits, including strawberries and cane fruits, and truck crops.

Preliminary plans were made for an all-day meeting of the horticultural society the middle of February. There will be a session for truck growers in the forenoon and one for nut growers in the afternoon. The annual election of officers will take place.

Growers attending the meeting were Wendell Bartholomew, president of the horticultural society; A. C. Bertzen, vice-president; Carl Robertson, Wilmer Walton, Roy Woodruff and G. W. Detering. Also attending were Ray Bower, county fruit inspector; Henry Hartman, head of the horticultural department of the state college, and O. S. Fletcher, county agent, who assisted in formulating the program.

ment would mean a return to the pre-war $250,000,000 annual income.

"There are signs pointing to what the future holds. There has been a steady decline from the peak of war industry employment, that peak being achieved July, 1943. There has been cancellation of war contracts and the awarding of new contracts," Kelly said.

He commented that employment offices in New York, Chicago and other cities to recruit replacements for Oregon shipyards have been ordered closed by February 1. Government advertisements in Washington, D. C., papers promising $70 a week and free transportation to Vancouver have been discontinued.

Sunday Work Halted
The manpower commission has stopped the flow of replacements, which average 100 daily during December, 1943, at the three Kaiser yards. The maritime commission has stopped Sunday work, and the graveyard shift will be discontinued, Kelly said.

Other Oregon shipyards, working on navy orders, have varied little in their employment, and have confined their recruitment campaigns to up-state Oregon papers.

No real problem has arisen from the thousands who have been discharged from war plants, as most of them go to other states, or up-state in Oregon. It is expected 15,000 workers will be released when the graveyard shift is discontinued, and others will be discussed when the swing shift is reduced as contracts near fulfillment. Since last July approximately 6000 workers have been discharged in Oregon shipyards and more are being released.

Expect 150,000
The governor's commission anticipates an unemployment load of at least 150,000 persons, composed of returning veterans and war workers. It was estimated 105,000 men and women were in the armed forces. The exact number is withheld for security reasons, however. An estimated 10 percent will be casualties, another 10 percent will remain in service and approximately 10,000 are expected to locate in Alaska, Alaska or other places where they may find opportunity to establish themselves.

Two thirds of the military service group, approximately 65,000, will come back and need jobs. An estimated 100,000 civilian war workers will be eliminated from the unemployment lists, as 30,000 women return home, 10,000 overaged retire on social security, 2500 high school boys return to school, 20,000 return to up-state Oregon and 37,000 migrants leave the state.

Total Job Load
The total veteran and civilian unemployment load would approximate 125,000.

The federal government has not announced a program for demobilization of the armed forces. However, it has been assumed the troops will not be returned en masse, as such a move would demoralize the labor market.

In short, the army's program for policing occupied countries, casualties, and the relocation of former Oregon residents will reduce by about one third the number of servicemen and women who will return as unemployed cases.

Student Leader Speaks
Malcolm Karr, Eugene high student body president, who represented 3,000 students or more at attending junior high and high schools of both Eugene and Springfield, said that the council could rely on "student opinion" to maintain order under new provisions of the curfew. He maintained that the prospective canteen would get young people over the idea that there is "no place to go in Eugene," and approved the weekly Friday night dances for young people which are to be held at the Eugene hotel starting this week.

A. L. Hawm, chairman of the police committee, approved the canteen project and midnight permission on week-ends. "There is no reason why this can't work out," he said. "If the young people want it enough, they ought to get it."

Consensus Shown
The ensuing discussion indicated the following consensus:
(1)—The teen-age canteen is a "wonderful idea" which can mean much in curbing delinquencies, encouraging teen-agers' sense of democracy, and keeping them off the streets. Under assurance of proper supervision, it will receive community support.

(2)—Proposal is first indication that adults realize young people will behave better and be happier if given "a little leeway," and encouragement.

(3)—The curfew will continue to be enforced, and violation may cause council revocation of the week-end permission. Despite this permission, as Hawn pointed out, the resolution does not compel young people to stay out until these hours and parents still will have responsibilities to their children.

Broderick stated that further announcements on the canteen will be made within a few days.

On the subject of after-curfew permits for employed juveniles, the council decreed that no permits will be issued to youths under 17 unless they have a state labor permit. Permits will allow working only until midnight, and must be countersigned by the employer.

Springfield Council Gives Land For Nursery School

SPRINGFIELD—The city council Monday evening gave permission to school Superintendent E. H. Silke to use the south half of the city property located across from the Methodist church for the nursery school, for which plans are now being made. As yet it is not certain if the nursery school is enough in demand but providing sufficient applications are made, the school will be established.

Three ordinances were passed by the council Monday night, new ordinances regarding land assessments. At the same time, the council repealed an old black-out ordinance and requested the city recorder to remove it from the books.

Two pieces of city property was sold by the city to George F. Koepl of Springfield and W. J. Burden of Eugene, and the council renewed the beer license to Maybelle Cook of Springfield for use in the Town Tavern.

1943 Fire Report Given by Fire Chief

SPRINGFIELD—The yearly fire department report shows that the total number of alarms answered during 1943 was 18 less than the total of 1942. The complete report for 1943 as given by Chief Richard Richardson follows:

Total alarms answered, 50; total false alarms, 5; total value of property at risk, $218,630; total loss, $44,290.29; $4,290.29 only of this was city loss by fire. The remaining $40,000 was the loss of the Gurrier lumber mill during the past year.

FINES

SPRINGFIELD—A fine has been assessed in the recorder's court against H. E. Kubs, $2, for speeding; and R. D. Offley, $1, for parking in forbidden zone.

Backing up his request for continuation of contract renegotiation, the chief executive asserted it would prevent "exorbitant profits and assure fair prices to the government." He recalled that he had pleaded with congress for two years to take undue profits out of war.

Food Cost Law
A cost of food law, he said, should enable the government to put a reasonable floor under farm prices and a ceiling on the prices that consumers pay. It should apply only to necessities, he declared, and public funds would be required to effectuate it. He figured the cost would be about one per cent of the present annual cost of the war.

Dr. Olschki Gives Talk for Rotary

Some historical incidents connected with the first big contact between Europe and eastern Asia, when the Tartars spread out to set up an empire from Korea to the Mediterranean sea, were told for the Rotary club Tuesday noon in a paper given by Dr. Leonard Olschki, who is teaching in the area and languages courses in the ASTU on the University of Oregon campus.

That contact resulted in much misunderstanding and many terrible wars, it was pointed out. Most of his paper was given over to description of incidents during the time of Genghis Khan and his immediate successors.

Inside comment, the speaker brought out that the far eastern Asiatic people have had to depend on the western world for technology and engineering, this technology, more than anything else, separating the west from the east.

During his preliminary remarks to the club, Dr. Olschki praised the Murray Warner museum of Uman groups throughout the county, the Eugene talk being Mrs. Luce's only public appearance in Oregon.

The Luce program here will be at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, McArthur court, free of charge and open to all interested. Her appearance here is being sponsored by Pro America for republican women, assisted by other republicans.

One woman is missing IS IT YOU?

ALL OVER THE COUNTRY—In all 48 states—women are joining the WAC.

They're stenographers and housewives. They're artists and teachers, mechanics, and accountants.

They're learning new skills and improving old ones—becoming expert radio operators, laboratory technicians, record clerks.

They're seeing new places, making new friends, sharing an experience they'll never forget.

And every day, every hour, theirs is the deep satisfaction of helping to win this war in as direct a way as any woman can.

Why are YOU missing opportunity?

Right now—the WAC is women between 20 and 50 years of age, without children under 18 (Women in essential war industry must have release from U.S. Employment Service).
