Oregon Army Wins 6th 47-33

TILLAMOOK, Feb. 7—Coach John Warren's Oregon Army basketball team laid a heavier claim to the Oregon service basketball championship here Saturday night by defeating the Tillamook Naval Air Base, 47 to 33. It was the sixth straight triumph for the ASTU hoopsters who defeated the Sailors 39-30 in Eugene a week ago.

The Army quintet, despite the absence of Joe Kulesh and Bob Cuthbert completely outclassed the Tillamook quintet coached by Lt. Guy Wicks, former head coach at the University of Idaho.

Paced by Center Bob Nail, who led the scoring with 14 points, the Oregon aggregation took a commanding lead in the first period and held a 30-12 advantage at halftime.

Fred Brandiger, out of the lineup with a shoulder injury recently, and Bob Kramme, who collected 13 points, were important cogs in the second half of the game.

The Army hoopsters await the second meeting with the Camp Abbot team here March 4-5. The eastern Oregon soldiers are the only hoopsters who have defeated the local quintet. The next game for the high-flying G. I. Ducks will be against Camp Adair at McArthur court in Eugene next Sunday.

Coach Howard Hobson and his 10-man University of Oregon varsity basketball team returned to the campus Monday following a successful "suicide" swing through the Palouse hills of Washington and Idaho. The Webfoots surprised northwest hoop followers by defeating Idaho 50-41 in an overtime game Friday night and then amazed fans by walloping the high-flying Vandals 78-42 Saturday night.

Coupled with the split series against Washington State's Cougars earlier in the week, the inexperienced Oregons duplicated the feat of last year's second-place northern division quintet by winning three of four games on the tough tour.

The Oregons now will enjoy the advantage of five home contests among the six remaining games of the season—against Idaho, Oregon State and Washington State. The long home stand opens here next Monday and Tuesday against Coach Babe Brown's Idaho five.

Wally Borrevik, veteran 6-foot 8 3-4 center who failed to make an impressive showing in any of his previous engagements, found his shooting eye in the Inland Empire series, potting more than 60 points in the four games, including 22 against the Vandals in Saturday's tilt.

Hobson, however, was impressed more with the showing of two reserves, Forward Dick Humphreys and Guard Norm Henwood. The two courtmen are certain to see considerable action in the final six games of the season when the Oregons will endeavor to retain their second-place position in the division and possibly annex the mythical "civilian" championship of the Pacific northwest.

The Oregons will be given a rest until Wednesday when the squad returns to the court in preparation of next week's contests.

Two Webfoots topped individual scoring as the division moves into the second half of the season, with Guard Bob Hamilton maintaining his leadership with 105 points in 10 games. Borrevik's 22 points Saturday night gave him a total of 97 and second place in the scoring race. Others in the first 10: Allan Anderson of OSC, 86; Happy Lee of OSC, 79; Jack Nichols of Washington, 73; Leonard Pyne of Idaho, 72; Jay Gano of Idaho, 71; Mort Joslin of WSC, 68; Tom Collins of Idaho, 67, and Bob Rennick of WSC, 63.

Gonzaga Posts 57-47 Win Over Hellships

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—Gonzaga University's navy V-12 basketball team sank the Albina Hellships from Portland 57-47 in a Sunday game here.

High - scoring, All - American Slim Wintermute, center for the Hellships, was effectively bottled up during the first-half, scoring but one field goal. Late in the second half, however, the ex-Oregon star opened up with six field goals and two, freethrows.

Jim Baker and Earl Strader, Gonzaga forwards, tied with 17 each for high-score honors. Gonzaga mid-way in the second half held a 22-pound lead, 42 to 20. The game was the 18th win out of 19 games this season for Gonzaga, and the second defeat in 35 starts for the Portland team.

Unknown Bowlers Top Petersen Classic

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—John Farkas, a Detroit war worker who has a 189 average in an obscure house league and who had never won a major tournament prize, won bowling's biggest cash award today when he posted 1658 in the Petersen individual classic.

Farkas, rolling on the last squad of the tournament, was 26 points better than Harold Asplund of Denver, who scored 1633 Saturday night. The victory gave Farkas $5000, while Asplund took the second prize of $2500.

Russ Gersonde of Milwaukee was one pin behind Asplund and took third prize money of $1000. Leo Faetz, whose 1622 stood up through most of last week, wound up in fourth place with a $750 prize. Arthur Haderer of Buffalo took fifth and $500 with 1618.

The nation's top bowlers were among the 1290 keglers who competed in the tourney, which had a total prize value of $32,000. Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., national individual match champion, bowling yesterday's competition was typical of the big-name stars. He wound up with 1340 and finished out of the money.

Ice Review Scheduled Monday For Polio Fund

Lane county's sports polio fund will benefit from a "popular demand" showing of the "Ice Review of 44" at the Eugene Ice Arena Monday night. The amateur ice show, after two successful performances, was scheduled to close Sunday night, but is being held over for an extra day for a two-fold purpose—to give local fans a chance to see the show, and to aid in the benefit campaign.

The show will start promptly at 8:15 p. m. and fans are urged to arrive early in order to secure one of the 450 available seats. Reservations can be made at the arena.

The review, staged by the Eugene Figure Skating club, is considered one of the finest amateur ice-skating performances ever staged in the Pacific northwest.

The listed world record, set by Yale university in 1941, is 3 minutes, 26.2 seconds.

Smith was clocked by official timers in 50 seconds flat for his 100-yard leg of the relay. Alan Ford of Yale recently cracked the listed world record with a mark of 50.1 seconds.

Phoenix Open Ends in Tie

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—Firing a sizzling six-under-par 65 in his final round, Byron Nelson, the "mechanical man" from Toledo, O., jumped into a first-place tie with Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia Sunday with a 72-hole total of 273 in the $5000 Phoenix Golf Open.

Trailing the dark-haired McSpaden by three strokes going into the final 18 holes in the afternoon, slow-drawling Nelson cracked out birdie after birdie with a red-hot putter to draw up even with McSpaden who himself smashed par by three strokes with a 68.

The two linksmen, pre-tourney favorites, were to meet Monday afternoon in an 18-hole playoff for the $1000 first-place money.

"Man, what a sweet putter," grinned Nelson as he fondled the club at the end of the final round. "I knew I had to really get that ball in the cup to catch McSpaden. He isn't the kind of a golfer to blow up so I knew it was my problem all the way—not his," he said.

He canned a seven-foot putt on the first hole, followed it by sinkign a 10-footer on the second, flicked in a 25-footer on No. 4 and put all the rest of them in the cup or right on the edge.

Tied behind the two leaders were Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Sammy Byrd, the ex-major league baseball star, with 280's. Wood fired rounds of 72-71 Sunday and Byrd carded a 69-70.

Behind them came Harry Cooper of Minneapolis with 287, Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, California, with 288, Johnny Revolta, New York, with 290, Les Kennedy, Rhode Island with 295, Amateur Harry Todd of Dallas Tex., with 297 and Ralph Robinson, Los Angeles with 300.

Both McSpaden and Nelson started off slowly. McSpaden, winner of the $10,000 Los Angeles Open, opened with a three-over-par 74 and Nelson carded even figures. From then on they turned tough with McSpaden following up with rounds of 67, 64 and 68. Nelson tied up his first round with a 66, 71 and 65.

Baseball Guarantees Wartime Contracts

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(U.P.)—Baseball players in military service today received full assurance from the major-minor league post-war planning committee that their rights and opportunities will be protected whenever they return to the game.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis said the committee had ruled that players now serving their country "will be regarded just the same as if they had remained in baseball. No player's rights shall be lost or lessened by reason of his serving in the armed services in this war," Landis said.

President Will Harridge of the American league said "I am sure that all clubs will be in accord with every one of the recommendations" and a spokesman for President Ford Frick, National league head, said he expected "quick assent" from club officials in that circuit.

Landis recessed the meeting "subject to call at any time for discussion of other problems," after two days.

Procedure for re-establishment of players returning from the national defense lists provides that they go to the team with which they were playing when they were drafted or enlisted. Such players will not be included in that team's player limit for 30 days if they return during the season and cannot be sold or traded in less than 15 days. If disposed of, the player cannot be sent back to a league more than one rank lower in classification.

The committee also recommended that no club be permitted to ask waivers on a military service player more than twice in one year. Standard waiver prices of $7500 for the majors, $3750 for class double A minors, $1750 for class A-, $1250 for class A, $500 for class B, $350 for class C and $100 for class D, also were set.

A sub-committee of President George Trautman of the American Association and General Managers Jack Zeller of Detroit and Warren Giles of Cincinnati was appointed to consult with scholastic authorities to develop competitive league baseball in the nation's high schools.

The first no-hit game on record was hurled by Joe McElroy Mann of Princeton against Yale at New Haven, Conn., May 29, 1875.

NEWS VIEWS

By H. F. "MAC" McDANIEL

Feb. 12th is the anniversary of Abe Lincoln's birthday. He freed the slaves—but that was before the days of income taxes. He also said, "The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty, and the American people, just now, are much in want of one." Apparently times don't change much because to most people today liberty is just a magazine or a foggy idea that you can't pin down any more than you can pin down a smoke ring. Abe Lincoln's words in 1860 are still good for today—"Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

A paratrooper in England leaped from a plane and landed on a horse that bucked him. I've heard of people turning on a dime, but this is the first that landed on a buck. Just a few bucks can go a long way toward putting your home in first class condition when you buy repair materials from McDaniel Lumber Co., 131 8th Ave. West. Early Prep Hoop Schedule Light

Lane county prep basketball fans find a light early-week schedule of games, but await a heavy competitive program over the week-end.

The only Monday night game will be at Marcola where Mohawk high meets University high from Eugene.

The Eugene high Axemen will entertain St. Mary's in an intra-city game on the westside court Tuesday night, with the larger school heavily favored over the B-league Saints.

Of considerable importance will be a District 6 meeting between Junction City and Cottage Grove at Junction City Tuesday night.

Eugene steps outside prep competition Wednesday night to take on Joe Gordon's Oregonians of the City AAU league in a benefit game on the Eugene court.

University high will meet Pleasant Hill in an inter-league game at McArthur court Wednesday night.

Junction City plays host to University high Friday night in the only other district league game of the week. The same night St. Mary's plays an important game against Crow involving the Western division leadership, the game scheduled for St. Mary's hall. Other "B" games are not expected to figure in any division changes, Oakrdige playing at Pleasant Hill, Creswell at McKenzie, Mohawk at Lowell, Lorane at Elmira and Triangle Lake at Coburg.

Of unusual interest Friday night will be a meeting between Springfield and Roseburg in the Indians' wigwam giving some idea of the comparative strength between teams in this district and those in the strong southern Oregon circuit.

The same thing will hold good when Eugene meets North Bend here in a Saturday night meeting.

Legs Bother Babe Ruth at 50

By JOE JAMES CUSTER

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. — (U.P.) — Babe Ruth feels his age only in his legs, he said today on his 50th birthday.

"They get weary," he complained. "If it wasn't for my legs, I feel likt I could go in there and aim for the fences tomorrow. The rest of me doesn't feel anywhere near 50."

The Bambino's ballet underpinnings are toting 240 pounds these days, with abrupt gains registered whenever he stays away from the bowling alleys: "I put on five, six pounds if I lay off for a couple of days," he explained.

A severe cold benched him last week, but he shook it in time to compete in the Friday night league, in which he holds a 150 average for 300 games. The cold likewise prevented Ruth from accepting speaking engagements at army camps, but he ... continue these trips as ... is invited.

"Golf," he says, "that's ... game. Down to a six-... now."

Achiu in Line for Match With Katonen

By ROLLA J. CRICK

More than the usual amount of rough and tumble grappling delighted wrestling fans Saturday night at the Pearl Street arena to help make up for the fact that Paavo Katonen, new coast light-heavyweight champion, was unable to appear on the card as formerly scheduled. Katonen left for Los Angeles late Saturday to report to his local draft board.

The chance to meet Katonen for a championship bout should he reappear in the northwest, was won by Walter Achiu as he took two of the three falls from Tex Porter in a bloodthirsty battle between the two experienced grapplers. Achiu's win may give Katonen regrets that the army rejected him should they meet here in the future with the belt at stake.

The preliminary match of the evening was a slam-bang affair between Ivan Jones of Portland and Buck Davidson, victim of last week's brawl at the arena.

Davidson tried another one of his airplane swings with Jones, but fell before he could toss him out of the ring to meet with the fate of Tex Hager last week. He won the first fall, however, in 25 minutes with a Boston crab.

The ex-marine was awarded the second fall as the bell rang, but his meanness finally got Referee Elton Owen's goat before the match ended. As a result, Owen jumped into the fray and it was impossible to see what was going on for the tangle of legs and arms of the three men.

An interesting sidelight was attached to the second match of the evening between Ernie Piluso and Bulldog Jackson inasmuch as in all the past eight years of wrestling around this part of the world, neither man had fought the other before Saturday night.

The first fall was awarded to Jackson with a hammerlock in short order, even though the bout did resemble two old maids in a hair pulling contest. Early in the second part of the match, both men seemed to get tired of the ring and after Piluso tossed Bulldog out, they fought all over the arena on the outside of the ring. Piluso won the fall with a Boston crab.

With only seven minutes left, Piluso came back into the ring just long enough to throw Bulldog out again and continue the fight on the floor. Although the match ended in a draw, they continued the fight almost to the dressing room.

The finale between Achiu and "Toothless" Tex of Seattle sent the fans wild with joy as Achiu used jiu-jitsu time and again.

The first fall went to Porter with a leg-stopper in 14 minutes that sent Achiu limping out of the ring. In the follow up, Porter lost the fall on a fall after throwing "Sneeze" out of the ring and then trying to break his back across the edge of the ring embankments. He didn't think he should have lost the fall on that account and took a poke at the referee. This made Owen so mad that he chased Porter all the way to the dressing room where Buck Davidson protected him.

"Sneeze," mad when he returned to the ring, applied a paralyzer on Porter's neck that caused the blood to spurt from his mouth and then took a fall in short order with a crucifix.
