Winner of Nobel Prize to Speak

Dr. Peter Debye, scientist and lecturer, winner in 1936 of the Nobel prize in chemistry, will speak on the Oregon campus Friday evening, February 25, it was announced this week by Dr. Pierre Van Rysselberghe, president of the university Sigma Xi chapter.

Sponsored by Sigma Xi, national science honorary, and the university lecture committee, Dr. Debye will discuss "The Magnetic Approach to the Absolute Zero of Temperature," illustrating his lecture with slide pictures.

Now head of the chemistry department at Cornell University, the scientist, a native of Holland, has served on teaching staffs at several of the world's most famous schools of higher learning, including the universities at Zurich, Switzerland; Leipzig and Berlin, Germany; Liege, Belgium; Utrecht, Holland and the University of California and California Institute of Technology.

The lecture will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Chapman hall on the Oregon campus. Both discussion and slide pictures will be understandable to the public at large.

Railroads Aid Progress, Executive Retorts

CHICAGO—U.S.—A flat denial that the Western Association of Railroads entered into an agreement to suppress competition or retard technological progress was made here by Charles E. Johnston, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives.

Johnston's statement replied to charges made by the anti-trust division of the department of justice before a senate sub-committee.

"The charges are wholly unfounded," Johnston said. "Railroads have led the field in the development of air conditioned passenger equipment, streamlined trains and diesel locomotives."

Pomona Fund Launched

Local Pomona college alumni have launched their 1944 scholarship fund campaign, dedicated to tripling the financial assistance that can be given men and women now in military service when they return to classrooms after the war.

Last year 21,999 alumni contributed $20,947, making it possible for Pomona College to set aside $5,000 for post-war scholarships which will be available to service men and women whose education was interrupted by the call to arms. This year's goal for the service fund is $15,000. It was disclosed by Lawrence T. Cooper, general chairman of the fund campaign.

Miss Eleanor Jaqua, 1886 University street, is contacting other alumni in this district.
