lected from a tax on alcoholic beverages.
During the second quarter of 1944, ending June 30, a sum of ors may tell from whom the books came.

The books stressed in the drive are the paper bound pocket-edition, costing usually 25 cents.
These are handy because they are easy to carry, can be put in a pocket or under a pillow readily, and if lost there is not much loss involved.
"We are hoping to collect as many as possible of these books for the men in the armed services, and are asking cooperation of all Lane county folk interested in the cause. All used books, that are in good condition and are of the type men in the armed services are interested in, are welcome," Willis said in speaking of the drive.
The Silva company will watch the receiving stands and deliver the books to the Red Cross.
