Reedsport Chamber Discusses Projects

REEDSPORT—The July meeting of the Reedsport chamber of commerce was held Tuesday evening. Guest speakers were C. H. Coe, E. E. Fitzwalter, Charles F. Robinson, and H. O. Chapman, all of Marshfield, who had been invited to attend the meeting with the idea of cultivating closer contacts between the Reedsport chamber and other chambers of commerce of southwestern Oregon. Coe spoke on general chamber of commerce activities and some of the problems of the Marshfield chamber, and how they had been met. Robinson outlined the possibility of a branch of the S. P. and S. railroad being constructed from Roseburg through the Coquille valley and thence into northern California, and the effect of such proposed construction on the development of southwestern Oregon. Mr. Chapman addressed the meeting on junior chamber of commerce activities and also concerning the recent survey by the United Air Lines for possible air borne traffic from this area after the war. Fitzwalter outlined the Marshfield chamber's attitude on post-war planning, explaining that the Marshfield chamber planning committee consisted of 11 members representing civic organizations, labor, industry, and the tax levying bodies; this committee being set up more as a fact finding body to co-ordinate the various post-war projects and breaking down these projects into man hours, costs, etc. He further explained that the Marshfield committee was not of its own accord initiating any post-war projects, but was serving as a clearing house for registering such projects and analyzing them for the benefit of the sponsors of such projects.

Frank Taylor, of the local chamber reported on the recent trip to Roseburg of a delegation from Reedsport and vicinity in regard to the creation of a county-wide recreational district and advised that matters were progressing favorably and that the first meeting would be held, the first having been called by County Judge Busenbark for July 20. Mr. A. V. Anderson, secretary of the local fisherman's union, spoke at length on the matter of necessity of a scientific approach to the question of preservation of fish life in the Umpqua and tributaries, with reference to both commercial and game fish, his theory being that the diminishing commercial and game fish has been largely caused by lack of natural food in the streams; further, that a survey should be made by competent biologists or ichthyologists, preferably employed by the federal government, to ascertain the reason for the decrease of commercial and game fish in the Umpqua. At the conclusion of Anderson's remarks, Mr. Elliott, president of the chamber, announced that the standing committee on commercial fishing would be reorganized and a new committee appointed, due to the fact that the chairman, George Radich, had moved from Reedsport.
