Funeral Services Set For Lumber Veteran

Funeral services for a prominent retired Oregon timberman — 75-year-old Robert Lee Herren — will be conducted at Portland today. Herren — who died Thursday at Portland — attended public schools at Corvallis and graduated from the old Portland Business college in 1890. He was connected with the timber and logging industry for 48 years, starting in 1890 and retiring in 1938 after the sale of operations in Marion county. He was timber superintendent and logging manager of the Crown Willamette Paper company for 29 years, resigning in 1928 to form the Herren Logging company at Booth, Ore.

He is survived by his wife, Rose M. Herren, a nee York Herren, who is in the Pacific with the U. S. army.

When one of the girls tried to pull away, a sailor hit her in the face, kicking out several teeth and breaking her nose. Several men and a shore patrol offer to rescue the girls, Chief Ross asserted. He said that it is the second time this week that girls of young women have been seized by groups of sailors.

"When a man wears the uniform of the United States, he should be a gentleman and worthy of his rank and the uniform he wears," said Ross.

He is survived by his widow and son, Cpl. James H. Nicholson, Jr., army air corps, Millville, N. J.
