Record Rail Traffic Seen In Northwest

SPOKANE, (AP) — The Pacific northwest will become, in the next few months, the theater for the heaviest freight and passenger movements in the history of American railroading, president H. A. Scandrett of the Milwaukee railroad said here.

The big movement now is developing in lend-lease and war freight, he told a reporter, adding plans to expedite it with every resource of the railroads are ready.

Commenting on U. S. Atty. Gen. Biddle's visit here, the chief of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific route said the department of justice "is the only department of government the railroads have not been able to work with in a highly cooperative way during this war."

Biddle said the department contemplated action against western railroads to halt "violations" of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Scandrett said he believed the situation would be "cleared up" when all the facts are explored.
