7 Bike Riders Die In Oregon Traffic

Bicycle traffic fatalities in Oregon during the first six months of 1944 totaled seven, an increase of four over the toll of three for the same period of 1943, according to Secretary of State Bob Farrell. The increase is 133 percent.

An analysis of the bicycle-motor vehicle accidents for the first half of the year show a total of 162 riders involved in accidents.

Fifty-three percent of these riders were involved in accidents as a result of unsafe riding practices, the analysis showed. These unsafe practices included inattention, attempting a turning or other maneuver under unsafe conditions, failure to give right of way, entering a street without stopping, making a sudden turn and riding two or more abreast.

The six month death toll of seven bicyclists is greater than the annual toll of six killed in 1942 and is near the toll of ten for the year 1943.

"The fact that so many of these bicycle fatalities were the result of unsafe traffic practices on the part of the riders is evidence that they need not have occurred," Farrell said. "Bicyclists should observe them in the interests of their own safety."

These rules of safe riding were suggested:

1. Keep well to the right on streets and highways. Never ride in the center of the thoroughfare.
2. When turning, get in the proper lane and give the proper hand and arm signal.
3. Never cut sharply across the path of vehicular traffic.
4. When riding in groups, ride single file so no riders will be forced into the path of heavier vehicles.
5. When riding into streets or highways, watch for approaching cars and do not ride out into their path.

Christian Science

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 20.

The Golden Text was, "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God" (II Cor. 3:5).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For who hath known the mind of the Lord, or who hath been his counsellor? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things; to whom be glory for ever. Amen." (Romans 11:34, 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man. . . Spirit is divine Principle, and divine Principle is Love, and Love is Mind, and Mind is not both good and bad, for God is Mind, therefore there is in reality one Mind only, because there is one God." (p. 330).

The new prices do not cover wholesalers and retailers, who establish their prices by fixed mark-ups. The pricing formula for processors is the same as that recently announced for canned spinach, asparagus, and red sour pitted cherries.

The regulation provides specified amounts for each producing area, which may be added to the 1941 base prices of each processor. In addition, OPA has set upper and lower limits on the ceilings. If a processor's price, arrived at by use of the formula, is higher than the upper range, it must be brought down to the lower range if lower than the lower range may be brought up to the upper range.
