

War Correspondent Describes Raid On Mindanao

GEORGE JONES (Formerly With Register-Guard) ADMIRAL MARGUERITE'S CARRIER FLAGSHIP MINDANAO, Sept. 10—The only street of a town among the jungled Mindanao brown-skinned children and children gath- possibly their last mass at a neat little church whose cross dominated the cluster of buildings. The humming sound grew to a roar. Filipinos looked up. Four United States navy fighter planes, led by Lt. Roger Boles, Santa Paula, Cal., streaked across the valley under early morning overcast. The Fili- pinos scattered.

The formation circled and re- turned. Ack-ack puffs dotted the sky. As the planes swept past again, the little people who had suffered nearly three years under Japanese despotism returned to the street. Fearlessly they stood in the open. Some waved as the planes passed overhead.

Thus the reborn American navy, which had been forced to stand by while the Philippines fell early in the course of the war, struck its first blow for the islands' free- dom.

Tonight we have completed our attack on Mindanao and are steam- ing away for a brief respite be- fore hitting the islands between Mindanao and Luzon.

For two days this mighty car- rier task force commanded by Vice Admr. Marc A. Mitscher struck at will against the island's many airfields, harbors and in- stallations, from Surigao in the north to Davao in the south. Finally we ran out of targets.

Hundreds of fighters, torpedo bombers and dive bombers fanned out over Mindanao's rugged ranges, rolling foothills and fertile valleys. The carriers themselves paced up and down Mindanao's eastern coastline with impunity.

One time we were so close I could see the island's high coast- line—a mass through the distant haze—as we patrolled over the famed "Mindanao deep," deepest point in any ocean.

Initial attacks yesterday caught the enemy off balance. By dusk navy planes sank or damaged 50 ships ranging from small mer- chantmen to one ship of 15,000 tons or more; destroyed scores of coastal sampans which Japan is now pressing into service to re- place shipping losses; shot down eight planes in the air and de- stroyed 60 on the ground.

Japanese reconnaissance bom- bers appeared near our task force only occasionally and never at- tacked. One was shot down by a Hellcat and the others stayed away.

Our biggest single attack virtu- ally cut to pieces a convoy of more than 50 ships, including 20 sam- pans off the east coast of Min- danao. Many of these light craft have been carrying supplies to Davao from Japan since May.

Hellcats sighted the convoy and started the carnage with a strafing attack that littered the sea with burning hulks and debris. Japa- nese sailors paddled desperately in the water as a small force of cruisers and destroyers detached themselves from the carrier force and completed the annihilation by leisurely arcing shells into the re- maining ships—one by one—until no worthwhile targets remained.

Fighter and bomber attacks on harbor Surigao netted a dozen or so additional sampans. For nearly a half hour the Hellcats, led by Lt. Cmdr. Franklin Cook Jr., swept back and forth over the harbor while bombs dropped from dive bombers and torpedo planes over- head.

Cmdr. Richard McGowan, Alex- andria, Va., led dive bombers in an attack against large cargo ship or transport in the harbor. When last seen the ship was burning.
