Dr. W. S. Baldinger Joins U. O. Faculty

Dr. Wallace S. Baldinger, who will teach this fall at the University of Oregon as an associate professor of the school of architecture and allied arts, has as colorful a background as many a sea-faring man.

All of the summers during his early college life he spent traveling in Europe and in the Orient and following his graduation in 1930 he went to sea, not as a passenger, but as a merchant seaman doing duty as a mess boy and as an ordinary and able seaman. Later he was a chief quartermaster on the S. S. President Polk of the Dollar Line and twice he went around the world. In 1931 he returned to Oberlin college and in 1932 earned his master's degree. He returned then to Europe and studied art at the University of Paris. He received his Ph. D. in 1938 from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Baldinger, who is to take the place of Nolan B. Zane, associate professor of art who has retired, has been the recipient of a number of scholarships, honors and prizes, among which were the Jerome Davis fellowship prize and a Carnegie fellowship. He is the author of numerous published studies on art.

Coming with Dr. Baldinger to Eugene to make their home are Mrs. Baldinger and their two children. They have been making their home at Appleton, Wis., where Dr. Baldinger taught at Lawrence college.

Wednesday when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, GOP presidential candidate, spoke here, total membership in the club had reached 727, with many membership workers' reports still to come in. Fischer said 265 memberships were signed up Wednesday at headquarters, 713 Willamette street. A number of new workers have signed up also.

Fischer pointed out that a membership coupon appears on page 4 of the Register-Guard. This can be signed and mailed to headquarters with the one-dollar membership fee, he said, and a membership card will be mailed to the sender.

Fischer thanked workers who have assisted in the campaign and urged them to continue their efforts, pointing out that 1,000 to 1,200 memberships a week will be necessary to reach the quota by Oct. 12. He urged volunteers who wish to aid in the campaign to drop in at headquarters and get materials.
