At the Hellig:
BRIDE BY MISTAKE
When Norah Hunter, who is fabulously wealthy, has to launch a ship she lets her secretary (Marsha Hunt) do it. Consequently the public doesn't know what the real Miss Hunter looks like.

As a matter of fact, she looks like Laraine Day, who is having a hard time trying to find a man who doesn't want to marry her just for her millions.

She and her secretary hit upon the idea of carrying the make-believe which they use to fool the public into private life. Miss Day will play the secretary and the man who falls for her will not be expecting the pot of gold which he—the lucky character—will get anyway.

The secretary's husband (Allyn Joslyn) is not happy about this setup, especially when Alan Marshall, as an air corps captain, enters.

It's the old "poor little rich Cinderella" theme, but, fortunately the players carry it off with a commendable amount of tongue-in-cheek humor, and the whole thing turns out to be enjoyable light comedy.

Eugene Edgar "Buck" Buchanan shows up as Miss Day's guardian,
