

Scout Project To Gain By Gleemen Concert

In keeping with their tradition to sing for worthy causes, the Eugene Gleemen home concert Feb. 16 will be for the benefit of the Boy Scouts summer camp, Camp Lucky Boy, the proceeds to go to a project of a health center at the camp. In this center for the Gleemen project would be two beds, as well as other facilities, and headquarters for the camp doctor. In past years, the Gleemen concerts several times have gone to aid the Boy Scout program, as well as contributing to other causes from time to time.

George H. Miller and A. C. Stockstad, co-chairman for the associate membership drive, are busy at work on building up this phase for the chorus, and persons having letters inviting them to become associate members are asked to return them as soon as possible; while others interested are invited to contact either Miller or Stockstad, or any member of the chorus, the associate membership being open to all of the community interested. The associate membership is the only financial aid received by the Gleemen to carry on their activities, all proceeds from their concerts going to some civic or philanthropic program each time. Each associate membership provides two tickets to each of the home concerts of the singers.

The Feb. 16 program is featured by several "firsts" — the first appearance of Dean Theodore Kraft as conductor of the singers; the first appearance of Donald Allain as accompanist for the chorus; the first concert for 20 new members of the Gleemen, and another "first" or two being held for announcement later.

Miss Marie Rogndahl, University of Oregon soprano, will be guest soloist on the program.

Post-War Boom In Home Building Seen By Lumber Official

By EDITH MADDRON
War-time housing must of necessity be restricted and must be under government control, but an early revival of home-building when war shortages ease off is one of the greatest potentials for creation of postwar jobs, commented W. C. Bell, Seattle, managing director of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association, who was in Eugene Saturday.

Accelerated building will be of particular importance in this area, he pointed out, since the lumber industry is the backbone of the local economic structure. Bell observed that the intensified war effort has brought about an increased need for lumber, with the result that the supply has been restricted by the new control order, L-335, diverting more lumber into military and less into civilian channels. Principal purpose of his Eugene visit is to confer with local association members with regard to changes and operating details which the new order is necessitating.

"It is becoming more and more imperative," he said, "that strict compliance be observed on all war-time regulations governing building. Apparently there are people who do not realize that all construction is under strict regulation. To attempt to build without proper authorization is to lay oneself liable to a great deal of annoyance and delay."

Bell suggested that anyone contemplating building get in touch with a local retail lumber dealer, who is adequately informed on all building regulations. If absolutely essential, he pointed out, priorities can be obtained. If it is not absolutely essential, the building should be put off until the war is over.

Since there is less and less lumber for civilian uses, it is more important that it be channelled the right way to take care of essential needs, he said, rather than having no restrictions and using the limited supply for non-essential purposes. That is the reason government control is indispensable now, he observed. Certainly, he stated, the Eugene-Springfield area has a great need for help in its housing shortage, and retailers here are doing everything in their power to help supply the needs and to cut through red tape to assist in bringing in necessary building. Carl O. Hendrickson, local representative of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association, has been helping applicants fill out necessary forms for priorities and dealers have been supplying information and advice, he said. In addition to helping with housing problems during the present emergency, the association is very interested and active in developing plans for reconversion and the post-war period, the managing director reported. In his opinion, potential builders can feel quite sure of getting necessary building lumber once their priorities have been approved.

WCTU Opposes Draft Of Women, Until All Liquor Jobs Emptied

Central Eugene unit, Women's Christian Temperance union, has placed itself on record as opposing the drafting of women for defense work or any war duty, as long as one employee remains engaged in the alcoholic beverage industry.

The union also took action opposing the peacetime conscription of men, women and youths.

WAC Recruiting Personnel Shifted

A change in personnel at the WAC recruiting office in Eugene was announced Saturday by Lt. Elsie Nendrew, recruiting officer. Sgt. Dorothy Howard, WAC, who came to Eugene from Walla Walla, Wash. in June, 1944, has been assigned to the recruiting office in Portland, and a Cpl. Quentin Geyer has gone to Salem. Corporal Geyer was last assigned to Portland army air base before coming to Eugene in March, 1944.

The new recruiters, who will begin their duties here Monday, are S-Sgt. Alice Cline, WAC assigned from Portland, who has been recruiting in Oregon for some 20 months, and Sgt. Leonard Cohn, from the recruiting office in Salem. Sgt. Cohn was formerly a member of the University of Pittsburg faculty in the psychology department.

Tsiquon Executive Committee To Meet

Executive committee of the Tsiquon lodge, Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of Boy Scout honor campers, meets at 9 a.m. Sunday (today), Dean McCorkle, lodge chief, announced yesterday. This will be the first official meeting of the executive committee since the lodge's annual meeting in December, and the group will discuss special service activities by the local lodge, the 1945 Camp Lucky Boy season which opens June 24, and future meetings of the lodge. The Order of the Arrow is made up of outstanding scouts elected by their fellow campers at Camp Lucky Boy. Not more than 10 per cent of the campers can be elected, according to the rules of the camp honor society. In addition to McCorkle, members of the executive committee are Kermit Chapman, troop 88, Glenwood, secretary; Deles Young of troop 1, Corvallis, treasurer; since amounts have been allocated to fill the priorities. Bell left Saturday night for Portland and Seattle, but will return to Eugene Jan. 31, for the annual meeting of the Eugene section, West Coast Lumbermen's association. He announced that a meeting of the Retail Dealers association will be held in Eugene early in March for dealers in the Willamette valley. In place of a large annual convention, with resultant strain on transportation and housing accommodations, the association is holding a series of smaller conventions this year, he said.

Church Women To Sew For Filipinos

The Eugene Council of Churchwomen acting on suggestion of the national council, will undertake the project of making clothing for women and children of the Philippine Islands, making use of materials which will be furnished by the United States government.

Two hundred bundles of garments, each of which will contain lightweight material for 10 dresses, have been ordered by the women of the council. This is a total of 2000 garments which will be cut and sewn here. Their arrival from New York is expected in the coming week.

The work of cutting the garments has been promised as a voluntary service by members of the local cutters' union.

Local churches which will cooperate with the council in this plan, as reported by Mrs. Quirinus Breen, council secretary, are: First Christian, Central Presbyterian, First Congregational, First Baptist, Fairmount Presbyterian, United Lutheran, Church of the Nazarene, First Evangelical, Lighthouse Temple, St. Mary's Episcopal, First Methodist, and Unitarian.

The completed garments will be distributed, and collected when done, by the Bundles for America group.

Edgar DeCou of the sea scout ship Enterprise, Eugene; and Jess Scott of troop 101, Eugene. McCorkle is a member of troop 6, Eugene.
