ster at OES visited Eugene Wednesday to accompany County Agent O. S. Fletcher on a field trip to Goodpasture island. They are advising farmers there or the planting of shrubs and trees to prevent future flood damages.

Two cars stolen from Eugene have been recovered through efforts of the state police. A machine belonging to Ben Stafney, Springfield, was reclaimed Tuesday night by the Roseburg police, who had warned the car had been seen heading south from Cottage Grove. Two juveniles from Springfield are being held in the southern city. Another car, owned by Edward Mart, Green Gables auto court, was recovered Tuesday south of Junction City. It had been stolen.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gangstad of Maid, Mont., and the latter's sister, Mrs. Nellie Anonson of Maid, Minn., were Sunday guests of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley H. Halversen. Mrs. Anonson is sister of Mr. Halversen. The entire party visited the Peter Fladstad family Monday. The visitors left Tuesday for their home.

held at the public market on Saturday, Feb. 2, will be conducted by the alumni of Zeta Tau Alpha, sister of Beta Tau Alpha as previously announced.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Lamb and daughter, Vera Mae, will leave Friday morning on a trip to New Zealand. They plan to be gone from Eugene until the first of April.

Dr. Carl F. Kossack, assistant professor of mathematics in the University of Oregon, is expected to return Thursday night from Berkeley, Cal., where he presented a paper at the University of California symposium on mathematical statistics and probability.
A 1946 Oregon automobile license plate, No. 91,367, has been found in at the office of County Sheriff Tom Swartz at the courthouse. The owner may claim it any time.

W. J. Cloyes, city-county sanitarian, has warned owners of all buildings in Eugene they must register with him in the courthouse.
He estimates 10 per cent of the people concerned have failed to comply with the new ordinance, exposing themselves to a $200 fine.

Cats and dogs are excepted, he said.

Request that the short piece of road between Highway 99 and Roosevelt boulevard be named Mc-Kinley avenue has been made of the county court. The thoroughfare is the short piece of the old Elmira road, built in 1940.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole of College Crest hope that some friendly street store proprietor, whose name is unknown to them, will some day receive a good turn in return for aid rendered their nine-year-old son, George, Wednesday afternoon when he was struck by a bicyclist as he returned home from school. The storekeeper patched up George's injuries and then sent him home to his parents fit as ever.

til coming to Oregon in 1932. Mr.
Flatters died in 1939. Mrs. Flatters made her home with her son, limited constitutionally to $100,- 000.

City cops found they had track-ed down the man who had carried a certain license plate number in 1942, instead of the 1946 owner, the man they are really after. So Sgt. W. G. Crase returned the check to Bell, and he, himself contributed a dollar for the west side in an intra-city March of Dimes contest.

Thursday the Stayton man sent another check to the police department. It was for $1. "Place

Ticket Mixup Solved

Edward J. Bell, Stayton, hadn't been in Eugene with his car since Oct. 28, 1945, but when he was billed for a buck by city police he sent it.

Bell disclaimed his guilt, however, holding it was "a long time to owe the city of Eugene a dollar." He suggested the money be turned over to the March of Dimes when he was excused from something he was sure he hadn't done.
