Vets to Get Medical

Care Near Own Homes

PORTLAND—(AP)—A new agreement between the Veterans Administration and the Oregon Physicians Service will permit veterans to get care for service-connected ailments in their own communities, Neil Morfitt, state American Legion commander, said today.

Under the plan, ex-servicemen can go to their own physicians in most cases, Morfitt stated. Nearly 800 physicians and surgeons are listed by the Oregon Physicians Service, which is under State Medical Society auspices.

It is believed that warm-blooded animals originated in the Permian period of geology.

Grandmother's Herbs Offer Cure for Many Human Ills

By DONALD C. WILLIAMS PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The revival of botanical medicine "points with certainty to a more widespread use of drug products obtained from nature's children—the chlorophyll plants and their lowest vegetable relatives, such as the molds—in the business of healing humanity's ills," says Dr. Ivor Griffith, president and di- rector of research of the Philadel- phia College of Pharmacy and Science.

Grandmother got marvelous healing results by placing a piece of moldy bread over an open sore. This principle, the use of mold constituents, has been modified and developed by science into possibly one of the greatest of modern drugs—penicillin.

In her day, however, grand- mother utilized many herbs in her crude, curative methods. She was a firm believer in the Biblical declaration that the green things that grow shall be a healing balm to ease humanity's aches and pains.

Science Neglects Herbs

"And too long have these 'things' been neglected," the head of America's oldest scientific college declares.

"So truly as the peruvia bark has furnished the specific to dread malaria—and the white poppy of India its sporifical juice—equally true is it that there are a myriad useful plant antidotes awaiting proper scientific appraisal," Dr. Griffith says.

"When will science tell us, for example, why equineum (horse's tail) apparently relieves the symp- toms of certain types of diabetic ailments? or why fresh impatiens juice seemingly alleviates suffering from the poison of oak or ivy?"

Bryonia, echinacea, lobelia, sen- ega, phytolacca, rhubarb, squill and drugs of similar nature are commanding the attention of re- searchers seeking the light with respect to electric plant principles, he adds. Ephedrin, the chaul- moogra esters, wormseed and gold- seed again are being widely in- administering to human ail- ments.

Penicillin Prize

The discovery of penicillin by Sir Alexander Fleming, the Eng- lish scientist, won for him a share of the 1945 Nobel prize in physi- ology and medicine. Many others had a hand in its final develop- ment and production, but Sir Alexander's findings were the most momentous, Dr. Griffith says, because "he refused to by-pass a challenge to his initiative and en- terprise" and thus initiated the practicalization of the drug that "simply had to find its way into the prescription departments of pharmacies, the dispensaries of hospitals and the handbags of doc- tors."

Sir Alexander's achievement, however, is only the preface to a great botanical renaissance, Dr. Griffith says, which heralds "a new day in preventive and cura- tive medicine."

VA Checks GI School Pay

In an effort to determine that every veteran receiving educa- tional benefits either under the GI Bill of Rights or through disabil- ity, is receiving his subsistence payments on time, representatives of the Portland Regional Office of the Veterans Administration are this week visiting all educational institutions in the area and meet- ing with student-veterans who have grievances about their sub- sistence payments.

A similar check of schools and colleges will be made during the first week of each month from now on, and all delayed payments will be reported daily to the regional office where immediate "over night" steps will be made to correct each individual situa- tion.

Training officers state that veter- ans may greatly expedite their initial subsistence payments by making early applications for cer- tificates of eligibility for the edu- cational benefits.

Any veteran even contemplating taking advantage of the edu- cational privileges is advised to apply for this certificate, thus if and when he enters an educational institution he can speed his ini- tial subsistence payment by as much as three or four weeks.

In practically all cases at present veterans are receiving their first payments within three weeks after they have filed their com- pleted certificate of eligibility with the institution of their choice and it has been forwarded by the institution to the regional office.

Farm Lane Assn. Meeting Monday

The Lane County Farm Labor Association will meet Monday, March 11, at the 4th Club building at the County Fairgrounds for their annual business meeting. Ray Bower, secretary treasurer, announced Friday.

Officers of the association will be elected, Bower said, and the business of the association will be conducted during the morning ses- sion. The afternoon session will feature an address by J. R. Beck, state supervisor of the Emergency Farm Labor Project at Oregon State College, on labor problems for the coming season.

Charles Henry Withrow

Charles Henry Withrow, 81, died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Vivien Bailor, 125 Knoop Lane. He was born Feb. 6, 1865, at Marysville, Mo., and was married to Mary Ann Bond Oct. 8, 1890 at Eugene. She died July 10, 1900.

He was a resident of the com- munity for 75 years, and was a charter member of the Odd Fel- lows Lodge at Irving.

Children surviving include Mrs. Vivien Bailor, Eugene, Mrs. Mabel Cook, of Watsonville, Calif., Mrs. Ray Stewart, Eugene, Verne, of Junction City, Lowell, of King City, Calif., and Lt. Marlin With- row, of Grande Ronde, Ore., and Emmett Witrow, Eugene, 10 grandchildren, and 13 great grand- children.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at the Peole Larsen Mortuary, with the Rev. N. K. Tuilly officiating. Interment will be in the family plot at Oak- hill Cemetery.

Approximately 85,000 Nebras- kans were drafted for service in World War II, while some 60,000 enlisted.

River Road Market Purchased, Enlarged

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Daniel- son have announced their pur- chase of the River Road Market, 675 River Road, Eugene.

Remodelling of the building has been completed, doubling its for- mer size. A meat counter has been installed, and will be oper- ated by Jack Yearwood.

Danielson, a veteran of three years in the army as an infantry sergeant, was discharged in Janu- ary. He spent 21 months in the South Pacific, earning four battle stars. Before taking over the River Road store, he and Mrs. Danielson were in the grocery business at Alder St. and 22nd Ave.

The new market will feature Sunday service and daily deliver- ies.

RHEUMATISM and ARTHRITIS

I suffered for years and am so thankful that I found relief from this terrible affliction that I will gladly answer anyone writing me for information. Mrs. Anna Pautz, P.O. Box 825, Vancouver, Wash.

Coast guard officials at Seattle reported mother and daughter— and Bradbury—were doing fine.

Bradbury was the only person aboard the Puente Hills with suf- ficient medical knowledge to as- sist the woman passenger who re- tired to her bunk late yesterday afternoon suffering from pains at 10-minute intervals.

Help on Way

The cutter Haida was expected to rendezvous with the Puente Hills today, coast guard officials said, and the medical officer aboard would examine the wom- an.

The woman passenger was unidentified, but coast guard offi- cials said she may be a Russian stewardess rescued from the Rus- sian tanker Donbass, which broke in half in a north Pacific storm a few days ago. The Puente Hills is towing the after section of the Donbass into Seattle and has sev- eral surviving crew members aboard.

The coast guard radio station at Westport, Wash., picked up the tanker's first urgent radio request for instructions at 3:15 p. m. yes- terday. The tanker's skipper, Capt. Willard Campbell of San Francisco and Miami, Fla., used the distress frequency to transmit the message.

Feed Your Dog as Many Famous Breeders Do

"...best food we ever used"

Paul Evans, owner of Lane's End Cocker Spaniels, Minneapolis, Minn., writes: "I have been using Gro-Pup for some time. It's the best food we have ever used. My dogs eat better, maintain better con- dition and coat. In short, Gro-Pup has been wholly satisfactory."

Most breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a founda- tion diet of good dry dog food fed with fresh meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's Gro-Pup because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need for growth and vigor.

Kellogg's Gro-Pup is thrifty. And dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.

Get this scientifically formulated dog food in 3 forms: RIBBON, Meal, or Pel-lets—at your grocer's or pet shop. Made by KELLOGG of Battle Creek.
