LaBrucherie Puts Oregon Ducks In Fifth Spot

SPPOKANE — (AP) — Coach Bert LaBrucherie of the UCLA Bruins is picking the University of Southern California to take the Pacific Coast Conference grid title and sees the Northern Division entries fighting it out for second, third and fourth places.

One of several conference coaches willing to guess at the outcome of the fall campaign, LaBrucherie explains:

"I favor USC because it will have one of the heaviest and most experienced lines in its history, including two potential All-American tackles in big John Ferrare and Bob Hendron."

LaBrucherie, who disagrees with other coaches to prophesy his own team will finish way down in eighth place, adds that the 1946 Trojans will have an "army of fast, experienced backs."

The Bruin boss picks Montana to be "the surprise club of the circuit," and says it will "probably move up several notches on the dope sheet before the season is over."

Meanwhile, he sees coast schools finishing the season ranking in this order: USC, OSC, Washington, WSC, Oregon, California, Stanford, UCLA, Montana and Idaho.

Two Bevos On PCL All-Stars

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13—(AP)—Sacramento's third sacker, Steve Mesner, was the unanimous choice of 16 baseball writers in selecting an all-star Pacific Coast League team to battle San Francisco at the Seal's Stadium Aug. 19.

Next to Mesner came Los Angeles' slugging outfielder, Loyd Christopher, who got 15 of the 16 votes. He was followed in order by Billy Schuster, Angel shortstop; Joyner White and Earl Torgeson, manager and first baseman, respectively, of Seattle, each with 14 ballots.

The all-star team will be managed by Casey Stengel, pilot of the Oakland club, runner-up to the Seals. He will select two assistants.

Other players and their votes follow:

Pitchers—Cliff Chambers, Angels, 11; Frank Shea, Oakland, 11; Ed Erautt, Hollywood, 10; Al Olsen, San Diego, 10.
Catchers—Al Unser, Hollywood, 12; Bill Raimondi, Oakland, 11; Hal Sueme, Seattle, 4.
First base—Ylysses Lupien, Hollywood, 9; Herman Reich, Portland 7.
Second base—Alex Kampouris, Sacramento, 4; Glenn Stewart, Hollywood, 3. (Hugh Luby, San Francisco second sacker, received 8 votes, but is not eligible.)
Third base—Mesner, Sacramento, 16; Dick Gyselman, San Diego, 12.
Shortstop—Schuster, Angels, 14; Jack Lohrke, San Diego, 7.
Outfielders — Christopher, Angels, 15; White, Seattle, 14; Harvey Storey, Portland, 10; Brooks Holder, Oakland, 8, and Joe Marty, Sacramento, 7.

Junction City Reds Drop Springfield

The Junction City Reds virtually clinched the Linn-Lane League pennant at Junction City Sunday afternoon by squeezing past the Springfield Cardinals, 6-5. The Cards still have a mathematical chance for a tie with the Reds but chances are very slim that the Reds will lose two while the Cards win their remaining games.

With the flag all but nailed to the flagpole the Reds have opened negotiations for a game with the Yoncalla Townies, champions of the Valley-Timber League next Sunday.

Lefty Mortensen went to the mound for the Reds for the first time this season and scattered 10 Springfield hits. Mortensen has been suffering from a sore arm but went the distance Sunday. The Reds nicked Walt Peerson for 11 hits and five walks. Both teams were charged with five errors.

The Brownsville Browns scored an easy 17-2 victory over the Harrisburg nine in a game at Brownsville. The Browns played errorless ball while collecting 16 hits.

akland Negro Nine rops Billies 11-1

By RED Q. GATES

e ball club came to Eugene barnstorming Oakland Monday night and before ns they walked off the field long end of an 11-1 score ontest played with the Cas- league-leading Hills Creek lies. The West Coast Negro champs showed the fans bout everything in the way baseball and entertaining anship throughout the and as an added attraction in an amazing hitting, ng and running exhibition mmy Workman, who since e of two has been minus d arms.

Oakland Club wasted no n starting to work, scoring ns in the first canto. Sec- cker Russ Jenkins gave pitcher Terry Terranova salutation with a single to d moved to third on two balls by Catcher Dick r. After Mel Reid was fan- hortstop Johnny Allen drew ticket to first, and two scored on Jake Page's to center. Catcher Ted Gabe the second inning with a itting double to center, Bievens sacrificed him to Spec Roberts, the Larks rler then singled him home. Billies counted their only the fourth. The first man k Wright, got his last of two d went down to second when Homer Parks drew a walk. The next two men were out, but then Terranova singled to score Wright, before being picked off at second on a fielder's choice.

Scoring was not resumed until the seventh, when the Larks marked up three runs. Thirdbaseman Blevens was safe on Jack Fassett's error and went to second on a sacrifice. Jenkins filed out to left and the next man up Reid, doubled Blevens home. Allen, who major-league scouts have had their eyes on all year, showed the fans why by sending a terrifically hit ball over the left field fence for two more Oakland runs. That finished Terranova, and Del Koch came in to assume the fireman's role.

But Koch had little the Larks couldn't touch and was found for four runs in the eighth. With one away Jim West, the clowning Lark manager singled to right but was picked off at second when Parks threw in to Fassett. Gabe then hit for an extra base, and Blevens, the next man up, was safe on Fassett's second boot, with Gabe going to third. Roberts then singled the pair home. Jenkins advanced Roberts with his single to right and the two scored on Parks' error in right field.

The Negro team pushed their final tally across in the ninth. Page opened with a double and went to third on Lee Young's fly to center, scoring on Muton's single.

The Oakland Larks were dropped earlier in the season by the House of David nine which the Cascade League all-stars had handcuffed.

Roberts hurled a fine game, keeping the Billies pretty well on the cuff most of the night, with Charley Mickelson and Wright the only players to get more than one hit off of him. He whiffed six and gave up four walks, but few Billies were able to really tag the ball.

Brooklyn, St. Louis Post National Loop Wins

Red Sox Scout Dodger Fracas

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, who shrug off suggestions that they might squeeze through to the American League pennant, were taking more than casual interest today in the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League—and even they were impressed.

Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox refuses to admit that his runaway pace-setters are "in," but he is kidding practically no one with his conservatism. That was apparent Monday when he took the whole team to "scout" the Dodgers as they turned in a stirring 3-2 victory over the Giants at Ebbets Field.

They saw a game bunch of kids pull a game out of the fire when the pressure was on them. The Giants had taken a 2-0 lead on homers by Walker Cooper and Jack Graham. Moreover, when the Cardinals' 5-0 victory over the Cubs at Chicago was posted on the scoreboard in the seventh inning, the Dodgers realized they had to win in order to hold first place.

Whitman Scores

That put the issue squarely up to the Dodgers and they met it without flinching. PeeWee Reese bunted safely off Giant Pitcher Ken Trinkle and Dick Whitman singled to center. When ex-Dodger Goodwin Rosen bobbled the ball, Reese scored and Whitman made third. Augie Galan singled home the tying run and Peter Resier followed with a single that produced the winning run.

The Cardinals, who have won 11 out of 18 games on their extended seven city road trip, scored their fifth straight victory at Chicago behind the three-hit pitching of Alpha Brazle and the four-hit batting of Stan Musial.

Pirates Win Again

The Pirates, showing off for their new owners, won their third straight game since the club changed hands, defeating the Reds at Pittsburgh, 5-2.

Alton Benton of the Tigers, who has given up only three runs in his last 27 innings, gained his third straight victory, 3-2 over Cleveland in 10 innings after holding the Indians hitless for the first seven.

Keneston Gets Cazell Match

A battered and bruised Bob Keneston, pained both mentally and physically from last week's bloody defeat at the hands and feet of Indian Ike Cazell Saturday night at the armory, loudly demanded a rematch with the Indian villain and a chance to wreak vengeance.

Keneston, a twice-wounded veteran of World War II, called Cazell's tactics in last week's match the most vile and unsavory of any he has ever encountered and vowed that he would hand the Montana Crow Indian a much-deserved beating.

Keneston was nursing a cut over his eye and a badly bruised leg after the bout with Cazell which was one of the roughest ad wildest ever seen at the armory. Keneston almost lost the leg as a result of a war wound and it was saved only after an eight-month seige in the hospital. Cazell deliberately punished the ex-Marine sergeant's weak leg and may regret it when he climbs into the ring with the infuriated Keneston again Saturday night.

Matchmaker Don Owen stated that he would line up a semi-final and two 20-minute preliminaries to complete the show.

Los Angeles Drops Portland Legion 6-2

GREAT FALLS, Mont.— (AP) — Los Angeles defeated Portland, Ore., 6-2, to earn a leg on the Western Regional Junior American Legion baseball championship, while Bellingham, Wash., eliminated Las Vegas, Nevada 15-5, to keep its title chance alive.

Portland and Bellingham meet to determine a second finalist to oppose unbeaten Los Angeles.

Portland's Frank Luizzi and Bud Berg were unable to pitch to the California team's left-hand hitters, and hurt their own cause with eight walks and three hit batsmen.

RICH HAUL

SAN FRANCISCO—The state of California received $1,864,498 in taxes from racing at Bay Meadows race track.

Hills Creek To Face Giustina

The Hills Creek Billies have a grand opportunity Wednesday night to all but clinch the second-half Cascade Baseball League pennant and move into a championship post-season series against the Snellstrom Braves. But the Billies must beat the hottest club in the circuit at the present time—the Giustina Reds. The game is expected to draw more than 2000 cash customers at Civic Stadium, game time listed at 8:30 p.m.

The second-place Reds, trailing by only one full game, and the Braves, two full games behind the leaders, are still in the thick of the flag race, however. A Billy triumph Wednesday would assure Hills Creek of no worse than a deadlock for the second-half pennant.

Despite the Braves' third-place position, their slugging outfielder, George Walker, continues to lead the hit parade with a .407 average. Charley Mickelson, Hills Creek outfielder is second with .400 but has not played sufficient games for consideration as league batting champion. In second place is Catcher Eddie Adams of the lowly Miller Lumbermen, who are still seeking their first second-half victory and have been beaten in 13 of their 15 games to date. Adams trails Walker by 13 percentage points at .394.

Dick Wright, great Hills Creek centerfielder and erstwhile league batting king, is third with .379, followed by Johnny Dunn, Giustina thirdbaseman with .371, and Pitcher Red Miller of the Braves with .368. There are at least six others who have a chance to move ahead in the final two weeks of the regular season.

Wright and Gale Smith, Braves' firstbasemen, are tied for runs batted in with 14. Seven players have hit single home runs and three have hit two triples. Walker and teammate Pete Taylor are tied in doubles with six. Bud Fortier of the 1945 champion Lumbermen, leads with seven stolen bases, and Homer Parks of Hills Creek and Allie Cooper of Giustina are tied with five sacrifice bunts.

Weather permitting, the final scheduled league game will match Giustina against Snellstrom Sunday, August 25. Barring a second-half playoff, the annual post-season series with Snellstrom meeting either the second-half winner or an All-Star team, depending on the outcome of the current race, will be played August 28, 30 and September 1.

JUST FIGURED 'EM

NEW YORK — The late Sir George Alfred Julius, inventor of the totalizator used in computing pari-mutuel betting at race tracks, never bet, insisted he didn't know one horse from another.

HIGHCLIMBER

By DICK STRITE

Ardent local sports followers will be between the "devil and the deep blue" next Sunday when three attractive sports events will entice 'em here and in Portland—and it's possible to see only two of the three events.

The Snellstrom-Hills Creek skirmish, slated at Civic Stadium Sunday afternoon, may look like just another Cascade League game—but it isn't. The game may carry with it the league championship, regardless of what happens Wednesday night when the Billies meet the Giustina Reds. Should the Billies lose they'll be in a tie with Giustina. If they win, a victory over the tough Braves will be necessary to clinch the second-half pennant.

On the Portland side of Sunday's sports slate will be the "Texas Against the World" golf engagement in which Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan will play two open champions—Sammy Snead, recent British Open winner, and Lloyd Mangrum, National Open titlist. The match will be played over the Portland Golf Club layout, also the scene of the week-long National PGA opening Monday.

Possibly more attractive to the most fans will be the professional football exhibition at Multnomah Stadium at 8:30 p. m. Sunday when the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Rockets of the new All-American League clash.

Tickets can be purchased by writing Multnomah Stadium Ticket Office, P. O. Box 390, Portland (7), Ore. . . . Prices—Box, $3.60; reserved, $2.50; general admission, $1.80 . . . . and the crowd will probably be around 25,000.

Speaking of football, Vard Nelson of Junction City writes that Johnny Showalter, one of the finest backs in Junction City High history, has signed to play pro football with the Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Western Canadian League—the same circuit that picked Paul Rowe off the University of Oregon campus.

Showalter also played at Oregon, but after a couple of weeks of Frosh ball in 1938 he dropped from school—for reasons unknown. He later showed up at Oregon (Monmouth) College where he proved to be a stellar triple-threater. He later played at Gonzaga where a chipped ankle bone ended his career with the Bulldogs.

While serving with the 101st airborne division overseas, Johnny played some football. . . .

Hymie Harris, the great prewar Oregon end who returned to the university last spring after serving as a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, has definitely decided not to play this fall. . . . He is in a hurry to complete his education and football would retard his progress. . . . We understand, however, that another fine fullback prospect, Bill Davis, will be a member of the squad.

If you're planning to attend the National JUNIOR AAU boxing tourney in Portland next week, along with the PGA golf, you won't see Eugene's Denny Quinn in the 126-pound division. . . . Denny, who advanced to the semi-finals of the Nationals in Boston last spring, has definitely decided not to enter the tourney although his shoulder injury has come around nicely. . . . Denny, incidentally, plans to attend Washington State College next fall—where he will have a chnce at NCAA mitt honors. . . .

Weary of guessing whether or not Yankee-owned Bob Johnson will pitch for the Snellstrom Braves, we have asked Al Lightner to wire us whenever the talented righthander will definitely be on the mound for the Braves.
