SPRINGFIELD Kindly Jinx Aids Firemen

SPRINGFIELD — The city fire department has a benevolent jinx, Fire Chief Harry Melson reported Wednesday.

It seems, Melson said, that every time this city has a fire of possible major proportion it comes on the same night the department is having fire drill and there is a complete crew on hand.

Tuesday night they had drill—and two fires.

A shorted electric motor at Madgen Feed and Seed Store in Glenwood burned a hole in the roof and destroyed the motor, used in the elevator system. John Madgen, owner, estimates damage at about $500. He credits the promptness of the department with saving his building and the $15,000 supply of grain stored there.

Almost before returning firemen got cleaned up, a flue fire was spotted at the Arcade Building, Fifth and Main Streets. An oil burner there had exploded, filling second-floor apartments with smoke and igniting soot in the chimney. Except for the smoke damage was negligible.

A few weeks ago the fire crew was on hand after drill to fight the burning warehouse used by Wright's Hardware at Sixth and Main. This fire threatened the downtown business district and damaged $1500 worth of supplies stored in the warehouse.

Forest Fire Record Good

Oregon has an excellent opportunity to make a top flight record in forest fire prevention this summer, it was declared here Tuesday by Charles Ogle of Salem, executive secretary of Keep Oregon Green. Pointing to the fact that so far this summer there have been few serious fires in the state, Ogle said this fact should encourage the general public and the industry to be even more alert to keep the record clear for the rest of the season.

"The most dangerous weeks are ahead," he pointed out, "but we have done so well so far that we now have a chance to make this one of the best seasons in years from the standpoint of low fire loss."

The Keep Oregon Green organization has used education as a means of curbing fires and has enlisted support of school children throughout the state in effective work.

In the decade from 1930 to 1940, before Keep Oregon Green was organized, Ogle recalled, there were 1300 forest fires annually in the state. Since organization of Keep Oregon Green in 1940, the number has been reduced to 400 fires a year, he said, and the acreage involved has been cut down sharply.

Crater Lake 'Burps' No Longer Interest Geological Experts

CRATER LAKE—(AP)—If the waters of this scenic volcanic lake "burp" again, the disturbance will be ignored officially.

Park officials reported that the hydrophone, lost in the lake when a snow slide snapped the cable rigged by U.S. geologists to listen for underwater noises, had been recovered, but will not be installed again.

Forest fire watchers last fall reported sighting mysterious vapor-like formations rising from the surface of the lake.
