

Eugene Entertains Corvallis 11 Friday

by Springfield, a team beaten 20-0 by Eugene. Bend had a tough time staying ahead of Salem last week. The final count was 26-18. The Bears may have trouble with the Bulldogs who flashed a very substantial attack against Eugene last week although they dropped an 18-0 decision.

A non-league tussle will find the Springfield Millers seeking their first win of the season against the Tri-County League University High team. The Uni High outfit also will be seeking its first win. The game will be an afternoon affair at Springfield.

The Axemen flashed a potent attack last week against Albany despite only limited service from Robin Lee, star right halfback. Lee was injured in the Medford game but will probably be in top shape again in time for Bend. The Axemen completed four out of five attempted passes against Albany and outgained the Bulldogs both on the ground and in the air.

Springfield will be favored over the University High eleven because of a substantial weight advantage. The Millers also showed a potent passing attack last week against Roseburg while taking a 13-7 licking. The Golden Tide will be expected to take another shellacking but not by too wide a margin. The Tigers have often been out-manned but never out-fought.

Leading Grid Teams Have Rough Time in Saturday Tilts

Texas, Cadets Stay Unbeaten

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 — (AP)—

Many a college football team discovered that not all was molasses and muscle on the gridiron Saturday—the 45th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America.

Illinois, the team that was to have been one of the Midwest's greatest, discovered a second tatter in Indiana and bowed, 14-7, behind the pitching of Ben Raimondi, the boy from Brooklyn.

Oklahoma discovered Texas wasn't near as tough as expected, the Longhorns winning by a single touchdown, 20-13, just two weeks after the Sooners had been setback by Army, 21-7.

And Army re-discovered Felix "Doc" Blanchard, its two-time All-America fullback just in time to chalk up its 22nd consecutive victory by spilling an ambitious Michigan outfit, 20-13.

Other discoveries of the day included the evidence that Columbia has a satisfactory line to supplement its horde of backs as the Lions dumped Yale, 28-20, and the fact that Oregon State's returned veterans of the 1942 Rose Bowl squad still can play football. They spilled Southern California, 6-0.

Gophers Lose Again

Indiana's victory over Illinois wasn't the only surprise of the Big Nine, Wisconsin unleashing a last half attack to down Ohio State, 20-7, and Northwestern continuing Minnesota's string of loop defeats that started a year ago, 14-7. Purdue was humiliated by Notre Dame, 49-6, but Iowa came up with a 21-7 decision over Nebraska.

Tennessee and Alabama, two of the Dixie powerhouses who collide next Saturday, prepped for the affair by bowling over minor opposition, the Vols conquering Chattanooga, 47-7, and Alabama keeping Harry Gilmer on the bench while downing Southwest Louisiana, 54-0.

Mississippi State invaded the north and scored a quick touchdown before freezing out a 6-0 verdict over Michigan State. Mississippi University also got a single marker but lost to Georgia Tech, 24-7, and Vanderbilt kept its record of not being scored on in disposing of Florida, 20-0. Auburn halted St. Louis, 27-7, in an intersectional affair.

Duke Sinks Navy

Duke, beaten in its first two starts, turned George Clark loose and the ex-GI sank the Navy, 21-8.

North Carolina downed Maryland, 33-0; Wake Forest took in Clemson, 19-7, and William & Mary drubbed VPI, 49-0.

The day's largest crowd, a throng of 90,803, watched the UCLA outfit batter Stanford, 28-6, in a game that may have determined the West Coast's Rose Bowl representative before the season heads into November.

Washington suddenly found its scoring punch in the final quarter and up-ended Washington State, 21-7, while another coast crowd watched St. Mary's Herman Wedemeyer stopped by California, 20-13.

In the East the ancient series between Harvard and Princeton was revived with the Maroon skidding to a 13-12 victory. Pennsylvania showed its expected power in downing previously unbeaten Dartmouth, 39-6. Cornell's ground attack functioned despite the rains in stopping Colgate, 13-6. Villanova upset favored Holy Cross, 14-13.

Missouri and Kansas, arch rivals of the Big Six, had easy victories, the Tigers blasting Kansas State 26-0, and Kansas outrunning Iowa State, 24-8. Iowa State is the school which turned to horse-steaks for its gridders this week.

Oregon May Get Ski Team This Winter

The University of Oregon may sponsor a ski team this winter, it was announced Saturday by Athletic Manager Anse Cornell.

The final decision must wait until December, when a meeting of the northern division, Pacific Coast Conference will be held. At this time a tournament schedule may be worked out.

Jim Popp, veteran of the Tenth Mountain Division and ski instructor during the war, will coach students interested in making up the proposed six-man team.

Twenty skiers met Friday for the first pre-season workout, and actual practices will begin at Hoodoo Bowl as soon as ski season opens, Popp said. He emphasized a need for jumpers and sized a need for men in order that Oregon will be equipped to enter four-way competition. Ski meets will probably not start until January.

All men interested in working out for the ski team may contact Popp at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Harris, Brecheen To Pitch In Sixth World Series Tiff

By LEO H. PETERSEN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12 — (AP)—

Mickey Harris, southpaw star of the Boston Red Sox, Saturday night appeared a certain starter against the St. Louis Cardinals in what may be the final game of this World Series.

With a 3-2 lead in games in the classic, all the advantage seemed on the side of the Boston belters, even though they are scheduled to face the twisting screwball and blazing speed of Harry "The Cat" Brecheen in today's sixth game.

Cronin, even though he bracketed the names of Harris and Dave Ferris in discussing his pitching plans, always named the portside first—a sure indication of his intention.

As far as Dyer is concerned, there is no choice available. With all the odds-makers regarding the Sunday game as a "sudden death" affair for the Birds, the stout-hearted little southpaw is his last hope.

Greeted at Union Station by a crowd of about 1000 die-hard Cardinals rooters, the Redbird pilot was grim and determined.

"You know as much as I do about who'll pitch the seventh game," he told a reporter. "But you can count on this—there's going to be a seventh."

The normally boisterous Birds were silent as they trooped off the train. Soft-spoken Marty Marion, baseball's "Mr. Shortstop," spoke confidently, however. "The Cat'll claw us right back into the picture," he said. And his infield neighbor, Third-baseman Whitey Kurowski, agreed with him.

In sharp contrast to the mute Cardinals, a wise-cracking, swaggering crew of Sox stormed off the train and cockily predicted a speedy end to the Series.

"We've got 'em on the run now," gloated Little Don Gutteridge, "and we won't let up on 'em."

"Let 'em pitch Brecheen, they haven't got a guy who can stop us now," crowed Hal Wagner.

They all seemed to be in the same mood as the "first section" of the team—the air minded bunch who flew in Friday night and said they were all ready to start back to Boston Sunday night.

Should the Soxer prophets be wrong and a seventh game be necessary, it will be played in St. Louis, site of the first games, on Tuesday, with Monday being held open for ticket sales.

If the fanatically partisan fans who line up this early should get their dearest wish—a Cardinal victory—it will probably be Murray Dickson for the Cards in the seventh, and either Ferris or Tex Hughson for the Sox.

The Cards, underdogs in the betting in St. Louis throughout the Series, looked like they deserved the role Friday.

They were almost completely helpless against the hurling wizardry of Joe Dobson, who gave up three runs mainly because of bad luck. His 6-3 win proved that he's back in the line form he displayed in the early days of the season.

He stopped the Cardinals short with a meekly four blows after their potent bats had rattled the Fenway walls with a 20-hit barrage the day before.

Huskies Drub Cougars, 21-7

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 12 — (AP)—

Underdog University of Washington Huskies poured on the power in the final quarter to score two touchdowns and win its first Pacific Coast Conference victory, 21-7 over Washington State College before 25,000 fans at Rogers Field here Saturday.

Center Bill McGovern intercepted Dean Eggers' pass on the Washington 38-yard line to set up the tying touchdown. Marshall Dallas, a substitute fullback who played a sensational game, broke through left tackle for 27 yards and a long first down. Larry Hatch left his tacklers behind and scampered to the Cougars' 23-yard line on the next play, and then broke through right tackle with incredible speed and hit paydirt. Bob Mikalson converted.

Completely outplayed in the first half and minus their star fullback Arnie Weimelster, the Huskies came back after intermission to tie up the game in the third quarter and then outclass a lighter Cougar eleven, which became visibly tired in the final stanza.

Huskies Score Clincher

Washington's winning score resulted from an 18-yard sustained drive. Brooks Bliddle found a hole in the Cougar line and ran 28 yards to the Huskies' 45. Fred Piruvo passed to Whitley King for a first down on the WSC 43, and then himself took a flat pass from Alf Hemstad on the 35 and raced to the Cougar 16-yard line. Provo added eight yards and Sam Robinson made a first down on the five. Provo then skirted right end for a touchdown. Mikalson's accurate foot again added the extra point.

Completely demoralized, Washington State resorted to desperation ploys. One by Gordie Brunsack as he was being smothered by the Washington line fell into the hands of Dick Ottele on the WSC 38 and returned to the 23. Robinson and Provo alternated carrying the ball to the eight-yard line and King went around right end for the score.

Mikalson added his third successful conversion.

Coach Phil Sorboe gave his team the signal to take the wraps off some wide-open plays developing during secret practice at the beginning of the second quarter and the strategy paid off with a touchdown that gave the Cougars a temporary 7 to 0 halftime lead.

Wilson Blues, Roosevelt Win Touch Tackle League Championships

The final round of regular games in the city junior high school touch football league was completed Saturday morning with the Wilson Blues winning the title in the 8th grade league and Roosevelt capturing first place honors in the 8th grade circuit.

Saturday games saw the Wilson Blues defeat Roosevelt 7-0, and Kelly trim the Wilson Golds, 13-0, in the 9th grade league. Roosevelt defeated the Wilson Blues 20-6 and the Wilson Golds beat Kelly, 7-6, in 8th grade play.

Marquette Drubs Idaho, 46-6

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 12 — (AP)—

Marquette's hot and cold Hilltoppers turned torrid Saturday night to trim the University of Idaho, 46-6 in an intersectional game before 12,000 fans.

The Hilltoppers turned loose their passing twins, Billy Polczynski and Rudy Royten, to count four times through the air in the first half and once in the second. Polczynski pitched for three of the markers and Royten for two.

In the second period, Polczynski whipped a 20-yard pass in the flat to Kuffell for a touchdown and Boo O'Hagan tallied twice, once by taking an 18-yard pass from Polczynski and the other on a 23-yard pitch from Royten.

Idaho's only tally came in the fourth period when Jim Hammond plunged from the one yard stripe.
