Capone Syndicate Said Aiding College Football Bet Rackets

CHICAGO—(AP)—Members of a gambling syndicate which got its start in the hey-day of Al Capone are pocketing fat profits from widespread gambling on college football games, a Chicago anti-crime leader reported Thursday.

Virgil Peterson, secretary of the Chicago Crime Commission, charged that betting on football "parlay cards," spreading among college and university students during the current season, was a "vicious racket" definitely in the hands of the old Capone syndicate.

Committee Mulls
As Peterson's charges were made, the University of Illinois Disciplinary Committee at Champaign was considering the answers given by three students to questioning on their part in distributing the cards on the campus.

Authorities here said it was known that students on some campuses act as agents for distributing the cards. They said that some could make as high as $100 or $150 a week on their 25 per cent of the "take" on the cards.

Big Business
Some students have built the business to the point where they employ other students as runners, some sources said.

Maurice J. Walsh, assistant U.S. district attorney in charge of the Criminal Division, said he found in an investigation of "parlay card" gambling that railroad conductors, students, clerks, newsboys, barbers, and many other persons in direct contact with the public at all times acted as agents.

BRIDAL BOUQUET of white bouvardia was Margaret Holmgren's choice for her double-ring ceremony at the Mission Covenant Church in San Francisco.

MOTHER GIVES ADVICE to the bride about baking. Says Mrs. Holmgren, "It's important to always measure ingredients accurately—and most important to use a fine-quality, all-purpose flour like Sperry Drifted Snow." I've used Drifted Snow Flour for 28 years now. My mother to daughter, thousands of Western families go along this tradition of fine baking. To put it as a slogan: "Women Who Know Use Drifted Snow."

Sift flour before measuring. Use level measurements for all ingredients.

Place in a large mixing bowl—

- 1/2 cup boiling hot milk
- 1/4 cup butter or shortening
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon powdered cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon powdered nutmeg

When mixture is lukewarm, add and beat until well mixed—

- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cake moist compressed yeast, softened in 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 1/2 cup sifted Sperry Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Enriched Flour
- 1/2 cup chopped seedless raisins or currants

Sperry Division of General Mills

Cover dough in bowl and let rise in a warm place until light and double in bulk, about 1 hour. With a spoon or spatula, divide dough evenly between 2 greased 8-inch round layer cake pans. Then with floured fingers, pat out dough to fit pans. Mark each cake into 8 pie-shaped pieces by cutting through dough with a sharp knife. Cover pans with a damp cloth and let rise in a warm place until dough is double in bulk, 30-35 minutes. Brush top surfaces with melted butter or shortening and bake in a hot oven, 400°, for 15-20 minutes. Remove from oven and while still warm spread each cake with a thin icing made by mixing together—

- 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1 tablespoon water

Amount: 2 Breakfast Cakes or 16 servings.

*Milk used in yeast doughs must always be brought to the boiling point before using.
