

Cities' Problems On Agenda For Pre-Legislature Meeting

A pre-legislative regional meeting, sponsored jointly by the city of Eugene and the League of Oregon Cities will be held at the Eugene Hotel on December 13. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., to be followed by a discussion of current city problems and the League's legislative program. City Manager Deane Seeger, who is chairman of the League's committee on finance and revenue, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting. A number of other League officials and staff members, including League President George P. Stahman, mayor of The Dalles; Fred C. Inkster, Oswego councilman and a League director; Herman Kohrli, executive secretary of the League; and Virgil H. Langtry, League legal and field consultant, will be present to participate in the discussion.

All Cities Invited

City officials, civil leaders of Eugene and neighboring cities, and legislators from Lane, Linn, and Benton counties have been invited to attend the meeting to discuss municipal problems and programs. Many of the cities' problems, particularly that of securing adequate revenue to carry on services which must be revived and expanded as reconversion becomes a reality, can only be completely solved by a combination of local and state legislative action, according to League officials.

The official legislative program of the League with regard to revenues, adopted at the League convention several weeks ago, calls for first increasing the allocation of highway revenues to the cities from 5 per cent to 15 per cent; second, providing an allocation of 10 per cent of all liquor revenues to the cities; and third, improvement in the property assessment procedure to remove present inequalities and resulting restrictions on financing local improvements.

Cities' Problems Many

The League points out that cities are being called on to bear the brunt of Oregon's war and post-war development. "The first street-lighting program in twenty years," "the first sewer improvement program since 1907," and similar phrases are becoming routine in the conduct of city business. The League's program is based on the realization that if Oregon is to provide for increased population and new industries, cities must have adequate revenues and procedural legislation. The regional meetings, which are being held in eight cities throughout the state in addition to Eugene, are planned to allow a full string of the problems and proposed solutions before the 1947 legislature convenes in January.

Vocational School Schedules Classes in Related Training

Related training classes for many apprentice trades and occupations are in operation at the Eugene Vocational School every night of the week except Friday. The classes are organized for the primary purpose of supplying all of the job trainees with the required 144 hours a year of related class instruction, and are being well attended by the apprentices of this territory.

An invitation is given anyone desiring to visit any of the classes at anytime and suggestions, particularly from employers, as to subject matter to be considered in such classes will be welcomed by all instructors.

It is emphasized that these classes are separate from the adult education classes organized each year at the school. To be eligible for related classes, one must be actively engaged in a related trade, although he need not necessarily be an apprentice. Many classes are already filled to capacity; others still have room for anyone desiring to attend. Anyone wishing to register for any of the classes may do so by calling at the school office or by attending the class of his choice.

Following is a schedule of classes in operation thus far:

Machine Shop—Monday & Wednesday—7 to 10 p.m.

Body & Fender & Auto Painting—Tuesday and Thursday—7 to 9 p.m.

Auto Mechanics—Tuesday & Thursday—7 to 9 p.m.

Carpentry—Monday Wednesday—7 to 10 p.m.

Pumbers & Steamfitters—Tuesday & Thursday—7 to 10 p.m.

Retail Selling—Monday & Wednesday—7 to 9 p.m.

Cleaners & Dyers—Tuesday and Thursday—7 to 9 p.m.

Veterans May Be Reinstated.

L. L. Erdmann, Eugene Vocational School Director, points out that any veteran who has dropped the G. I. backing of his apprenticeship but who is still engaged in the trade in which he was signed up may continue his job training agreement and be eligible for these classes by paying the tuition fee.

There are many benefits derived from completing an apprentice program, one of which is the receiving of the certificate of completion from the state. This certificate is recognized for a journeyman status in any state of the Union and Canada.

Poultrymen's Appeal Denied by Tax Body

Willamette valley poultrymen's objections to an appraisal valuation of one dollar per head on chickens were overruled this week by the Oregon State Tax Commission. It was announced Saturday by George Stock, Lane County assessor.

Stock said that he expects the poultrymen to appeal the commission's decision to the state supreme court.

The one dollar valuation was agreed upon at the annual meeting of the Assessor's Assn. of the Willamette Valley last January, Stock said, and was upheld by the Lane County Board of Equalization when local chicken raisers filed a complaint.

Stock said that poultrymen contended that the appraisal valuation should be the same as the market price and presented figures to show that the sale value of chickens recently had been as low as 62 cents.

However, the assessor explained, appraisers hold that the tax value of chickens or other personal property should be based on market price plus earning power and usefulness.

He said that chickens sold for 62 cents were actually poor layers and that the one dollar valuation is low because a good producer is worth $1.25 or more.
