Public Invited to View Blooms

Large crowds have attended previous camellia shows, Lyons said. Last year there was a great variety of blooms entered in the show, Lyons said, and members of the camellia society are hoping for even more entries this year. The show is a display and no prizes are given. Among members of the society arranging the show are William Riddlesbarger, Merle Saunders, Dr. Royal Gick and Joe Hayward.

Camp White's Utility Viewed

SALEM — (AP) — A State Board of Control committee advised the legislature Friday that the hospital at Camp White could not be used as a state home for feeble-minded persons, but that it might be used for a home for senile persons from the state hospitals and for untrainable inmates from the Fairview Home, which is the state home for feeble-minded persons in Salem.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman told Congress Friday he considers it "important that the United States join the world health organization as soon as possible."

organization," the brief presidential message said. "I am sure that it will make a substantial contribution to the improvement of world health conditions through the years. In view of the significance and urgency of international health problems, I consider it important that the United States join the world health organization as soon as possible."

The world health organization is one of the separate agencies planned for work with the United Nations. It will develop information on health and standards for

Apartment Owners Protest Oil Price

PORTLAND — (AP) — Fuel oil price increases, put into effect this week, may lead the Oregon Apartment House Assn. to demand an investigation, Association Secretary Sam O. Plunkett said here. Plunkett declared that fuel oil has nearly doubled in price since 1942, and said his organization might ask the legislature to demand a probe of oil company price arrangements.

LOOK AHEAD
The KEY to Contour Farming

U.S. Soil Conservation reports indicate a national average yield of 11 per cent for contour-cultivated corn. Significant increases reported for other crops.
Allis-Chalmers FRONT-MOUNTED implements with DEPTH CONTROL make contouring a real possibility for the farm. A planter and cultivator mounted ahead of the driver's seat is easy to follow a curved row.
Seed and fertilizer can be placed at precise depth, in contour that catch and hold moisture on the slope. Rotary hoe cultivators roll directly over the row, lifting out weeds.
These are methods recognized as setting a major new trend in culture. Allis-Chalmers "looks ahead" to better living for every farmer.
