Hillsboro Farm Woman Slain

HILLSBORO, Ore. — (AP)—The slashed body of an elderly La Center, Wash., farm wife was found in a truck here Monday, and shortly afterward her husband was arrested in a downtown hotel room.

A bizarre chain of events—an argument over cooking, a house burning down, and a funeral—were linked with the arrest.

Police Chief Melvin De Rock and two other officers said the husband admitted slaying his wife in their Washington farm house last night, and then driving her body to Hillsboro—the town where his mother is to be buried Monday afternoon.

Names Given
The victim is Ella Mae Spears, about 60, Route 1, La Center, Wash. The arrested husband is Clifford C. Spears, 46.

The woman's body, stabbed 17 times, was wrapped in a bedspread in the Spears' panel truck. The truck was found here in a regular parking lot.

The discovery was made after the Spears' farmhouse near La Center burned Sunday night. Clark County officers, called to the fire were told by farm neighbors that Spears had called them from Hillsboro.

They asked Hillsboro police to try to locate Spears there. Police-men Kenneth Bryd spotted the Spears' truck almost at once; discovered a body inside.

Spears Arrested
The chief of police, Washington County chief deputy H. M. Quarnberg then went to the Hillsboro Hotel where Spears was registered and arrested him.

The three officials said Spears told them this story:

He came in to his farmhouse after milking Sunday night and asked his wife if she had something to eat.

"You'll have to get it yourself," she replied.

He grabbed a hunting knife from the pantry and stabbed her as she sat beside a card table in

'Fires Only' Crew Asks

The Santa Clara Fire Department's siren has been blowing a lot lately, and volunteer members of the department have each time hastened to the station only to find that most of the alarms, although unintentionally so, have been false alarms.

In the interest of efficiency the fire station phone has been hooked up to the siren to sound automatically when an incoming call is received.

The rub has come when persons interested in the department's activities are called — not to report fires — but just to get information.

So now the department is asking that all information calls be directed to 6521-J-4 where Mrs. R. Overgaard will handle them. The station's number, 805, is to be called ONLY TO REPORT FIRES.

Lumber Firm Sues

SEATTLE — (AP) — Suit for $28,198.97 damages was on file in federal court Tuesday by the Blue Plover Lumber Co., of Eugene, against the Century Engraving Co., of Seattle.

The complaint alleged that a gang saw purchased from the Seattle firm proved defective, and that $15,000 in production was lost through refusal of the engraving company to remove the equipment. The Eugene concern listed the cost of the saw at $13,198.97.

their living room. Then he drove her here.

His reason for coming here was apparently, police said, that his mother, Mrs. Bertha Werner, 67, was to be buried here Monday afternoon.

Clark County police took Spears to Vancouver, Wash. Monday morning.

Bartholomew Files Candidacy

Phil Bartholomew, Lane County coroner for the past four years, Monday afternoon filed with the county clerk as a candidate for reelection.

To date at least, Bartholomew's name is the only one entered for the coroner's position.

A resident of the county since 1923, he has operated a mortuary in Springfield for the past 17 years. He is married and has a son and a daughter, both of whom served in the armed forces during the second world war.

Bartholomew, himself, served in the Navy medical corps during World War I. His past record of public service includes terms as a city councilman and a member of the school board in Springfield. He has also served as county chairman of the Red Cross campaign and as assistant county chairman for bond sales during the war.

Five deputies are now assisting Bartholomew with the work of the coroner's office. One is located at Oakridge to serve the eastern section of the county, another at Florence to facilitate investigations in western Lane, and three others work with him from the central Eugene-Springfield area.
